Virtue Ethics for the Real World Howard J. Curzer, 2023-02-10 In Virtue Ethics for the Real World Improving Character without Idealization Howard J Curzer argues that character ideals seduce virtue ethicists into counterintuitive claims mislead and psychologically harm people seeking to improve their characters and sometimes become tools for exploitation Curzer offers a theory of Aristotelian virtue ethics that eschews idealization and that harmonizes with common sense To explain the many dilemmas of ordinary life he allows that different virtues sometimes enjoin incompatible actions and even enjoin actions that conflict with duty Curzer defends the doctrine of the mean arguing that idealized traits such as unilateral forgiveness universal civility unconditional commitments and unlimited generosity are not virtues He shows that the reciprocity of virtues doctrine depends upon idealization and rejects it When undergirding his theory Curzer wears several hats He is a eudaimonist when grounding virtue a constructivist when grounding value and a perspectivist à la Nietzsche when grounding virtuous action How can people improve without aiming at an ideal Curzer offers an individualized approach to character improvement modeled on contemporary medicine First diagnose each person's character flaws Then tailor treatment plans to each flaw An important tool is a fine grained table of the components of character their failure modes and corresponding therapies Curzer provides the beginnings of such a table
