in China Mary Ann Maslak, 2014-10-17 This book examines the ways in which formal and non formal education can contribute to women's successful design development and operation of small businesses in rural settings. Calling on varied pertinent social theories, the book examines profitable businesses operated by Dongxiang Muslim women in the southern Gansu province of northwestern China. The author explains the multifaceted formula for women's challenges and successes in their business endeavours and goal for financial security. It argues that informal learning is the most important type of education to employ knowledge and skills to earn a living in general and design and operate small businesses by women in rural areas in particular. The book concludes with an original, timely and necessary model for education that could be utilized by the women in this work, one that positions informal education as the primary conduit for successful entrepreneurial work and combines elements of both formal and non formal educational principles and practices, thus offering support for the successful operation of women's businesses.

Racists Beware George J. Sefa Dei, 2008-01-01 With admirable clarity and directness, George Dei exposes the tendency towards the racial re-feudalization of the contemporary public sphere in Canada and by association other post industrial societies. He points to the enormous opportunity costs imposed on racial minorities in the new millennium as a consequence. In RACISTS BEWARE UNCOVERING RACIAL POLITICS IN THE POSTMODERN SOCIETY, Dei identifies and subjects to close scrutiny the new race bending logics of what he calls postmodern societies in which the dwellers of the suburbs and members of the itinerant white professional middle class, the great beneficiaries of late capitalism and neoliberalization of the economy, now have become the new social plaintiff, turning the complaint of racial inequality and discrimination on the heads of those most oppressed. If Gayatri Spivak asks 'Can the subaltern speak?' then Dei brilliantly poses the question 'When will Anglo dominant groups, even critical ones, ever listen?' This book is likely to provoke and influence discussion on racial antagonism for a long long time to come.

Intersections of Displacement Priya N. Kissoon, 2015-09-18 Refugees are forced to gamble with their lives to flee conflicts and if they arrive at their intended destination unscathed, they may face the turbulent prospect of asylum, defined by a meagre existence, social exclusion, poverty and even homelessness. Operating at different scales and imagined places, homelessness and asylum seeking are issues of fundamental social justice, typically viewed as a problem of cities and crises of national and international concern respectively. However, over the past two decades, in particular, the increasing and volatile numbers of asylum seekers arriving in the West have created a new form of homelessness, mainly hidden, often vulnerable and located in the interstices of international and local displacement. Considering refugee settlement in London, England and Toronto, Canada, this book argues that this new form of homelessness also requires a new perspective in order to be properly understood and this perspective should come from refugees themselves. Two main questions are considered: How do refugees conceive, locate and reconstruct home in the asylum and settlement process? and How do national and residential dynamics affect refugees' sense of home or homelessness? Drawing on structuration theory amongst other ideas, the book examines the relationship between refugeehood and homelessness and how each is shaped in the countries of asylum Managed migration strategies in Canada and deterrent migration strategies in the UK have a profound effect on refugees perceptions of belonging and acceptance equality and the desire and ability to make a home for themselves In addition to shaping notions of belonging national support and services or the lack thereof structure the pathways to homelessness revealing distinct trajectories amongst refugees in London and Toronto The author s proceeds from the sale of this book will be contributed to the Canadian Council for Refugees

Equality Deferred Dominique Clément,2014-05-06 In Equality Deferred Dominique Clément traces the history of sex discrimination in Canadian law and the origins of human rights legislation demonstrating how governments inhibit the application of their own laws and how it falls to social movements to create promote and enforce these laws Focusing on British Columbia the first jurisdiction to prohibit discrimination on the basis of sex Clément documents a variety of absurd almost unbelievable acts of discrimination The province was at the forefront of the women s movement which produced the country s first rape crisis centres first feminist newspaper and first battered women s shelters And yet nowhere else in the country was human rights law more contested For an entire generation the province s two dominant political parties fought to impose their respective vision of the human rights state This history of human rights law based on previously undisclosed records of British Columbia s human rights commission begins with the province s first equal pay legislation in 1953 and ends with the collapse of the country s most progressive human rights legal regime in 1984 This book is not only a testament to the revolutionary impact of human rights on Canadian law but also a reminder that it takes more than laws to effect transformative social change
