Is Lighter Better? Joanne L. Rondilla, Paul R. Spickard, 2007 Colorism is defined as discriminatory treatment of individuals falling within the same racial group on the basis of skin color In other words some people particularly women are treated better or worse on account of the color of their skin relative to other people who share their same racial category Colorism affects Asian Americans from many different backgrounds and who live in different parts of the United States Is Lighter Better discusses this often overlooked topic Joanne L Rondilla and Paul Spickard ask important questions such as What are the colorism issues that operate in Asian American communities Are they the same issues for all Asian Americans for women and for men for immigrants and the American born for Chinese Filipinos Koreans Vietnamese and other Asian Americans Do they reflect a desire to look like White people or is some other motive at work Including numerous stories about and by people who have faced discrimination in their own lives this book is an invaluable resource for people interested in colorism among Asian Americans

The Politics of Skin Tone Nicole D. Yadon, 2025-05-05 A nuanced examination of the salience of skin tone within African American politics Research shows that skin tone is associated with significant differences in life experiences On average African Americans with darker skin earn lower wages suffer worse health outcomes and endure more negative criminal justice experiences than lighter skinned African Americans Nicole D Yadon conceptualizes skin tone as one facet of the multidimensional construct of race that powerfully influences racialized experiences which in turn can influence political identities and attitudes Drawing on evidence from one hundred in depth interviews multiple surveys and a survey experiment The Politics of Skin Tone investigates the political associations of skin tone Yadon finds that skin tone correlates with political attitudes particularly on issues where color based disparities are especially pronounced such as criminal justice Moreover a sizable number of African Americans adopt a skin tone based identity In an era of shifting racial boundaries and growing color based discrimination The Politics of Skin Tone examines the implications for both scholars and policymakers

Skin Color, Power, and Politics in America Mara Cecilia Ostfeld, Nicole Yadon, 2022-04-30 A person's skin color affects their life experiences including income educational attainment health outcomes exposure to discrimination interactions with the criminal justice system and one's sense of ethnoracial group belonging But do these disparate experiences affect the relationship between skin color and political views In Skin Color Power and Politics in America political scientists Mara Ostfeld and Nicole Yadon explore the relationship between skin color and political views in the U S among Latino Black and White Americans They examine how skin color influences an individual's politics and whether a person's political views influence how they assess their own skin color Ostfeld and Yadon surveyed over 1 300 people about their political views including party affiliation their opinions on welfare and the importance of speaking English in the U S The authors created a matrix grounded in their Roots of Race framework which predicts the relationship between skin color and political attitudes for each ethnoracial group based on the blurriness of the group's boundaries and historical levels of privilege They draw upon three distinct measures of skin color to conceptualize the relationship between skin color and political views Machine Rated Skin Color measured with a light reflectance meter Self Assessed Skin Color using the Yadon Ostfeld Skin Color Scale and Skin Color Discrepancy the difference between one's Machine Rated and Self Assessed Skin Color Ostfeld and Yadon examine patterns that emerge among these measures and their relationships with life experiences and political stances Among Latinos a group with relatively blurry group boundaries and low levels of historical privilege the authors find a robust relationship between political views and Self Assessed Skin Color Latinos who overestimate the lightness of their skin color are more likely to hold conservative views on current racialized political issues such as policing Latinos who overestimate the darkness of their skin color on the other hand are more likely to hold liberal political views As America s major political parties remain divided on issues of race this suggests that for Latinos self reported skin color is used as a means of aligning oneself with valued political coalitions African Americans another group with low levels of historical privilege but with more clearly defined group boundaries demonstrated no significant relationship between skin color and political attitudes Thus the lived experiences associated with being African American appeared to supersede the differences in life experiences due to skin color Whites a group with more historical privilege and increasingly blurry group boundaries showed a clear relationship between machine assessed skin color and attitudes on political issues Those with darker Machine Rated Skin Color are more likely to hold conservative views suggesting that they are responding to the threat of losing their privilege in a multicultural society At a time when the U S is both more diverse and politically divided Skin Color Power and Politics in America is a timely account of the ways in which skin color and politics are intertwined Black Women and Popular Culture VaNatta S. Ford,Adria Y. Goldman,Alexa A. Harris,Natasha R.

Colour Politics Nina Kullrich,2022-02-14 The global practice of skin bleaching is predominantly understood as an internalized legacy of colonialism and an embodiment of Western ideals of beauty This book offers a new perspective on fair skin preference in India it challenges the assumption that desires for light skin are always a desire of whiteness Rather than talking back to the colonial centre skin colour politics reorganise and reinforce social distinctions in Indian societies which are neither exclusively local nor global Based on primary research conducted in Delhi this multi dimensional study shows how skin colour intersects with and reproduces other categories of social distinction primarily gender class caste race region and religion It historically embeds fairness as an Indian precolonial yet transnational ideal of beauty The bleached body emerges as an active and thus potentially resistant part of negotiating social status within multiple power relations and complex beauty regimes By mapping a whole geography of skin colours in India this book shows how fair skin as a locally embedded beauty norm and whiteness as a global cultural imperative interrelate The Routledge Companion to Beauty Politics Maxine Leeds Craig, 2021-07-22 The growth of the service economy widespread acceptance of cosmetic technologies expansion of global media and the intensification of scrutiny of appearance brought about by the internet have heightened the power of beauty ideals in everyday life A range of interdisciplinary contributions by an international roster of established and emerging scholars will introduce students to the emergence of debates about beauty including work in history sociology communications anthropology gender studies disability studies ethnic studies cultural studies philosophy and psychology The Routledge Companion to Beauty Politics is an essential reference work for students and researchers interested in the politics of appearance Comprising over 30 chapters by a team of international contributors the Handbook is divided into six parts Theorizing Beauty Politics Competing Definitions of Beauty Beauty Activism and Social Change Body Work Beauty and Labor Beauty and the Lifecourse The Routledge Companion to Beauty Politics is essential reading for students in Women and Gender Studies Sociology Media Studies Communications Philosophy and Psychology Color Stories JeffriAnne Wilder, 2015-10-26 This book offers an in depth sociological exploration of present day colorism in the lives of black women investigating the lived experiences of a phenomenon that continues to affect women of African descent Race still matters And for black women the related issues of skin tone are just as important today as in decades past Part cultural commentary part empirical analysis this book offers a compelling study and discussion of colorism a widely discussed but understudied issue in post racial America that demonstrates how powerful a factor skin color remains in the everyday lives of young black women Author JeffriAnne Wilder conducted interviews with dozens of young black women about the role of colorism in their everyday lives Collectively these findings offer a compelling empirical and theoretical analysis of colorism in key areas of 21st century life including within family and school settings in the media and in intimate relationships The culmination of nearly two decades of the author's deep entrenchment in colorism studies Color Stories Black Women and Colorism in the 21st Century provides a new perspective on a controversial issue that has been a part of black culture and academic study for generations by exploring how the contemporary nature of colorism from Facebook to the First Lady to Beyonc impacts the ideas and experiences of black women This work serves as essential reading for anyone interested in learning more about the historical and contemporary significance of colorism in modern day America regardless of the reader's race sex or age
