Racist violence in schools is on the documented increase worldwide. This paper will make the argument that the nature of and motivations for such attacks are changing as a function of the new electronic communication technologies available to students. The prevalence in school communities is thought to be under-represented due to the under-reporting of incidents to authorities. Victims may belong to visible minorities, new migrants, or refugees. Precursors to incidents of racist violence include physical appearance, languages spoken, and learned discriminatory attitudes from within the family and community at large. Combining these variables with the multimedia inter-personal and inter-group communication technologies available to young people, the scene is set for the prevalence of racial vilification to escalate within our school settings.

Despite the many personal, social, cultural, intellectual and political levels on which the battle to defeat racism has occurred, it remains a destructive element of human behaviour present in cultures and countries around the globe. Although racism may be enacted on macro-social levels, a particularly destructive and personally distressing manifestation of new racism is in more specialised niches, such as schools, as indicated in this Daily Mail report:

Race Relations In The Primary Schools:

Race Relations in the Primary School Cecile Wright, 2018-09-05 Originally published in 1992 This book presents research carried out by the author in four inner city primary schools It documents the experiences of black and Asian children particularly in interaction with their white peers and with their teachers from both observation and interviews with parents teachers and the children It presents cases both inside and outside the classroom The children s academic progress is also examined and the book considers the link between home and school The concluding chapter is concerned with measures for promoting good practice in the primary school context Race Relations and Urban Education Peter David

Pumfrey, Gajendra K. Verma, 1990 A presentation of a radical but systematic approach to the study of some of the educational problems and issues which ethnic minority children and adolescents face within the context of urban schooling as we move into the 1990s Ethnic Relations and Schooling Sally Tomlinson, Maurice Craft, 1995-01-01 A sound knowledgeable and balanced account of the issues affecting ethnic relations in primary and secondary schools in the 1990s Addressed to teachers governors parents local and central government this book reflects the tensions and pressures felt in schools today and points to the policies and practices working for improvement This book is greatly needed since much of the earlier literature in this field is now outdated A Survey of Race Relations in South Africa South African Institute of Race Relations, 1972 Race Relations in Britain Tessa Blackstone, Bhikhu Parekh, Peter Sanders, 2005-06-27 Bringing together distinguished experts in the field of race relations this book addresses questions which are increasingly relevant in the current socio political context of Great Britain The kind of visions of multicultural Britain which are currently being canvassed and the problems which ethnic minorities continue to face are addressed together with an examination of the new policy initiatives which are needed to tackle these problems Race Relations in Britain falls into three parts which analyse contemporary trends articulating a vision of multicultural Britain and exploring important theoretical controversies identify the obstacles that stand in the way of a racism free Britain looking at current policy in areas such as immigration employment education the criminal justice system as well as the role of the media offer a vision of a multi cultural Britain advancing new policies based on current research Race, Equality and Schools Richard Willey, 2018-10-03 Originally published in 1984 How to respond to ethnic diversity is a question of major importance for teachers The multi ethnic school is only one aspect of a multi ethnic society and the problems and complexities teachers face have far reaching implications Attention has turned from fitting minority ethnic groups into existing education systems to achieving equality in a multi ethnic society with consequent questions about and changes in the practice of teaching This book guides the reader through the complexities of changes in the field of race and education examining developments in both policy and practice It looks at the radical answers which were developing within a number of national education systems in Britain Australia Canada the US and elsewhere and at the teachers practical responses to the pressing problems Race, Identity, and Representation in

Education Cameron McCarthy,1993 Despite differing orientations the contributors here all share a common concern for stressing the importance of social context nuance and language in understanding the dynamics of race relations Race and Race Relations Robert Elliott Speer,1924 Racism in Children's Lives Barry Troyna,Richard Hatcher,2018-10-03 Originally published in 1992 Both teachers and the general public have traditionally been unwilling to acknowledge that concepts of race might play a part in the lives of primary school children For this book the authors spent a term in each of three mainly white primary schools They talked to black and white pupils individually and in small groups about issues not necessarily of race which the children themselves saw as important From these conversations they present a fascinating study of how race emerges for young children as a plausible explanatory framework for incidents in their everyday lives The final picture is both disturbing in its demonstration of how significant racism is and hopeful in showing how frequently anti racist attitudes exist even in the thinking of children who engage in racist behaviour A final chapter looks at how school policy can combat racism and build on these positive elements The Ethnic Crucible Gajendra K. Verma,Paul Zec,George Skinner,1994 The authors hope that the schools find a basis for a more systematic and proactive approach to fostering good relationships in the various actual contexts in school life The book is intended to be accessible and useful to teachers teacher educators educational decision makers parents and others interested in and responsible for education in plural societies in the UK and elsewhere The Ethnic Crucible (RLE Edu J) Gajendra Verma,Paul Zec,George Skinner,2012-04-27 Many schools in developed countries have children and adolescents from a variety of ethnic linguistic religious and cultural backgrounds They relate to each other in various degrees of encounter that range from harmony to hostility The issue of how a school can foster inter ethnic relationships and challenge the manifestations of bad relationships cannot of course be divorced from tensions and inequalities in the wider society This book focuses on ways in which schools might make a difference to the quality of such relationships within their walls It has sought to do this by studying nine secondary schools in some depth their organisation structures and interactive processes and the experiences attitudes and behaviour of students and their teachers The research on which the book is based has also yielded data on the influence of policy and procedure in schools on relationships Routledge Library Editions: Education and Race Various Authors,2021-03-04 Reissuing three works originally published in 1984 and 1992 this collection brings together books across the issues of education and race This small set will be of benefit to teachers and education researchers in these areas as well as those interested in education history

Diaspora and Nation in the Indian Ocean Ned Bertz,2015-09-30 The vibrant Swahili coast port city of Dar es Salaam literally the Haven of Peace hosts a population reflecting a legacy of long relations with the Arabian Peninsula and a diaspora emanating in waves from the Indian subcontinent By the 1960s after decades of European imperial intrusions Tanzanian nationalist forces had peacefully dismantled the last British colonial structures of racial segregation and put in place an official philosophy of nonracial nationalism Yet today more than five decades after independence race is still a prominent and publicly contested subject in Dar es Salaam What makes this issue so dizzyingly elusive for government bureaucrats and ordinary people alike is East Africa's location on the Indian Ocean a historic crossroads of diverse peoples possessing varied ideas about how to reconcile human difference social belonging and place of origin Based on a range of archival oral and newspaper sources from Tanzania and India this book explores the history of cross cultural encounters that shaped regional ideas of diaspora and nationhood from the earliest days of colonial Tanganyika when Indian settlement began to expand dramatically to present day Tanzania a nation always under construction The book focuses primarily on two prominent city spaces schools and cinemas the one a site of education the other a site of leisure one typically a programmatic entity of government the other usually a bastion of commercial enterprise Nonetheless the forces shaping schools and cinemas as they developed into busy centers of urban social interaction were surprisingly similar the state community organizations nationalist movements economic change and the transnational winds of Indian Ocean culture and capital Whether in the form of institutional apparatuses like networks of Indian teacher importation and curricula adoption or through the market predominance of the Indian film industry schools and cinemas in East Africa historically were influenced by actions and ideas from around the Indian Ocean Diaspora and Nation in the Indian Ocean argues that an Indian Ocean wide perspective enables an examination of the transnational production of ideas about race against a backdrop of changing relationships and claims of belonging as new notions of nationhood and diaspora emerged It bridges an academic divide because historians often either focus on the Indian diaspora in isolation or write it out of the story of African nation building Further in contrast to the swell of publications on global Indian or South Asian diasporas that highlight longings for and contacts with the homeland the book also demonstrates that much of the creative production of diasporic Indian identities formed in East Africa was a result of local albeit cosmopolitan encounters across cities like Dar es Salaam

Constructing Race Nadine E. Dolby, 2001-08-30 For modern urban South African youth the concept of race persists and falters

Cross Curricular Contexts, Themes And Dimensions In Primary Schools Gajendra K. Verma, 2005-06-21 The final volume of four the authors all specialists in the areas of the curriculum consider how the concerns of ethnic groups may be addressed within the framework of the National Curriculum Despite the indecision surrounding the structure content pedagogy and assessment of many components of the primary school curriculum it remains that the multicultural nature of the population and of schools will develop These developments and their educational implications must be considered if the educational system is to respond adequately

University's undergraduate course EU208 Exploring Educational Issues A major theme of the book is the controversy around early years education and it looks at inequality issues The Annual Report of Her Majesty's Chief Inspector of Schools 2005/06 Great Britain: Office for Standards in Education, 2006-11-22 The remit of the Office for Standards in Education OFSTED is to improve standards and quality of childcare and education for learners up to 19 years of age through regular inspection some of which is carried out jointly with other inspectorates This annual report covers the year 2005 06 and includes sections on the quality of education and care covering such areas as childcare and early learning maintained schools independent schools further education colleges initial teacher training The second section looks at issues in education and care as they apply to primary and secondary schools as well as post 16 settings including local children's services healthy eating physical health drug education in schools sexual health behaviour and anti bullying strategies
