Putz, 1991

Biosphere 2000 Donald G. Kaufman, Cecilia M. Franz, 2000 Ambio a Journal of the Human Enviroment , Natural Connections David Western, Michael Wright, 2013-03-19 Both realism and justice demand that efforts to conserve biological diversity address human needs as well The most promising hope of accomplishing such a goal lies in locally based conservation efforts an approach that seeks ways to make local communities the beneficiaries and custodians of conservation efforts Natural Connections focuses on rural societies and the conservation of biodiversity in rural areas It represents the first systematic analysis of locally based efforts and includes a comprehensive examination of cases from around the world where the community based approach is used The book provides an overview of community based conservation in the context of the debate over sustainable development poverty and environmental decline case studies from the developed and developing worlds Indonesia Peru Australia Zimbabwe Costa Rica the United Kingdom that present detailed examples of the locally based approach to conservation a review of the principal issues arising from community based programs an agenda for future action Mixed and Pure Tree Pantations with Native Species at La Selva Biological Statio, Costa Rica: ,

Changes in Land Use and Land Cover William B. Meyer, Billie Lee Turner, University Corporation for Atmospheric Research. Office for Interdisciplinary Earth Studies, 1994-09-15 This book analyses the impact of human activities on the Earth s surface and environment The Making of International Environmental Treaties Gerry Nagtzaam, 2009 Gerry Nagtzaam contends that in recent decades neoliberal institutionalist scholarship on global environmental regimes has burgeoned as has constructivist scholarship on the key role played by norms in international politics In this innovative volume the author sets these interest and norm based approaches against each other in order to test their ability to illustrate why and how different environmental norms take hold in some regimes and not others The book explores why some global environmental treaties seek to preserve and protect some parts of nature from human utilization some seek to conserve certain parts of nature for human development whilst others allow the reckless exploitation of nature without accounting for the consequences It tracks the fate of these three underlying environmental norms preservation conservation and exploitation using case studies on whaling mining in Antarctica and tropical timber The book illustrates how international political battles to shape environmental regimes inevitably result in clashes between these competing environmental norms This unique study will prove a fascinating read for both academics and practitioners in the fields of international environmental politics and international environmental law

Logging the Globe Patricia Marchak,1995-09-18 Patricia Marchak examines issues particular to the northern and southern regions and the global effects of trends in each region using British Columbia Brazil Chile Indonesia and Thailand as full case studies and Malaysia Myanmar and other south east Asian regions as shorter case studies She also examines Japanese forestry and the Japanese paper industry Logging the Globe provides in depth analyses of the restructuring of the global division of labour the effect of Japanese demand for pulp changes in employment production land policies and markets in northern countries deforestation plantation forestry and the influence of European North American and Japanese companies on tropical forests and peoples Marchak considers whether industrial forestry is sustainable and suggests ways in which global demand for forest products can be met in more efficient and more nearly sustainable ways Logging the Globe presents a global picture of a critically important environmental and social issue It will be of great interest to professionals in the industry policy makers and environmental activists and those concerned with environmental and social issues

Redefining Nature Roy Ellen,Katsuyoshi Fukui,2021-01-07 How can anthropology improve our understanding of the interrelationship between nature and culture What can anthropology contribute to practical debates which depend on particular definitions of nature such as that concerning sustainable development Humankind has evolved over several million years by living in and utilizing nature and by assimilating it into culture Indeed the technological and cultural advancement of the species has been widely acknowledged to rest upon human domination and control of nature Yet by the 1960s the idea of culture in confrontation with nature was being challenged by science philosophy and the environmental movement Anthropology is increasingly concerned with such issues as they become more urgent for humankind as a whole This important book reviews the current state of the concepts of nature we use both as scientific devices and ideological constructs and is organised around three themes nature as a cultural construction the cultural management of the environment and relations between plants animals and humans

Sustainable Harvest and Marketing of Rain Forest Products Mark Plotkin,Lisa Famolare,1992-07 Topics covered include the use and conservation of ethnobotanical information the potential uses of nontimber forest products from various regions of the Neotropics the development and use of plants as medicines and the international marketplace for nontimber forest products and how it can best be created and reached Because of their special significance a separate section is devoted to uses and potential uses of palm products Among the contributors are Al Gentry Missouri Botanical Garden Steven R King Shaman

Pharmaceuticals Gary Paul Nabhan Native Seed SEARCH Richard Evans Schultes Botanical Museum of Harvard University and others from around the globe Mark Plotkin is vice president for the program in plant conservation and Lisa Famolare is a program associate at Conservation International an organization dedicated to the conservation of ecosystems and biological diversity worldwide
