Race Class On Campus:

Race and Class Matters at an Elite College Elizabeth Aries, 2008-09-28 How race and class collide at a prestigious liberal arts college

Geographies of Campus Inequality Janel E. Benson, Elizabeth M. Lee, 2020-07-31 In efforts to improve equity selective college campuses are increasingly focused on recruiting and retaining first generation students those whose parents have not graduated from college In Geographies of Campus Inequality sociologists Benson and Lee argue that these approaches may fall short if they fail to consider the complex ways first generation status intersects with race ethnicity and gender Drawing on interview and survey data from selective campuses the authors show that first generation students do not share a universal experience Rather first generation students occupy one of four disparate geographies on campus within which they negotiate academic responsibilities build relationships engage in campus life and develop post college aspirations Importantly the authors demonstrate how geographies are shaped by organizational practices and campus constructions of class race and gender Geographies of Campus Inequality expands the understanding of first generation students campus lives and opportunities for mobility by showing there is more than one way to be first generation

Clearing the Path for First-Generation College Students Bedelia Nicola Richards, Ashley C. Rondini, Nicolas P. Simon, 2018-06-07 Clearing the Path for First Generation College Students comprises a wide range of studies that explore the multidimensional social processes and meanings germane to the experiences of first generation college students before and during their matriculation into institutions of higher education The chapters offer timely empirical examinations of the ways that these students negotiate experiences shaped by structural inequities in higher education institutions and the pathways that lead to them This volume provides insight into the dilemmas that arise from the transformation of students class identities in pursuit of upward mobility as well as their quest for community and a sense of belonging on college campuses that have not been historically designed for them While centering first generation status this collection also critically engages the ways in which other dimensions of social identity intersect to inform students educational experiences in relation to dynamics of race ethnicity socioeconomic class gender and immigration Additionally this book takes a holistic approach by exploring the ways in which first generation college students are influenced by and engage with their families and communities of origin as they undertake their educational careers

Plantation Politics and Campus Rebellions Bianca C. Williams, Dian D. Squire, Frank A. Tuitt, 2021-03-01 Plantation Politics and Campus Rebellions provides a multidisciplinary exploration of the contemporary university's entanglement with the history of slavery and settler colonialism in the United States Inspired by more than a hundred student led protests during the Movement for Black Lives contributors examine how campus rebellions and university responses to them expose the racialized inequities at the core of higher education Plantation politics are embedded in the everyday workings of universities in not only the physical structures and spaces of academic institutions but in its recruitment and attainment strategies hiring practices curriculum and notions of sociality safety and community The book is comprised of three sections that highlight how white supremacy shapes campus communities and classrooms how current diversity and inclusion initiatives perpetuate inequality and how students staff and faculty practice resistance in the face of institutional and legislative repression Each chapter interrogates a connection between the academy and the plantation exploring how Black people and their labor are viewed as simultaneously essential and disruptive to university cultures and economies The volume is an indispensable read for students faculty student affairs professionals and administrators invested in learning more about how power operates within education and imagining emancipatory futures

Why Students Resist Learning Anton O. Tolman, Janine Kremling, 2023-07-03 However personally committed faculty may be to helping students learn their students are not always as eager to participate in this endeavor and may react with both active and passive resistant behaviors including poor faculty evaluations The purpose of this book is to help faculty develop a coherent and integrated understanding of the various causes of student resistance to learning providing them with a rationale for responding constructively and enabling them to create conditions conducive to implementing effective learning strategies In this book readers will discover an innovative integrated model that accounts for student behaviors and creates a foundation for intentional and informed discussion evaluation and the development of effective counter strategies The model takes into account institutional context environmental forces students prior negative classroom experiences their cognitive development readiness to change and metacognition The various chapters take the reader through the model's elements exploring their practical implications for teaching whether relating to course design assessments assignments or interactions with students The book includes a chapter written entirely by students offering their insights into the causes of resistance and their reflections on how participating on this project has affected them While of great value for faculty this book is also useful to faculty developers advising future and current faculty as well as to administrators offering insight into how institutional values impact teaching practice and student attitudes

Feeling White Cheryl E. Matias, 2016-03-22 Discussing race and racism often conjures up emotions of guilt shame anger defensiveness denial sadness dissonance and discomfort Instead of suppressing those feelings coined emotionalities of whiteness they are nonetheless important to identify understand and deconstruct if one ever hopes to fully commit to racial equity Feeling White Whiteness Emotionality and Education delves deeper into these white emotionalities and other latent ones by providing theoretical and psychoanalytic analyses to determine where these emotions so stem how they operate and how they perpetuate racial inequities in education and society The author beautifully weaves in creative writing with theoretical work to artistically illustrate how these emotions operate while also engaging the reader in an emotional experience in and of itself claiming one must feel to understand This book does not rehash former race concepts rather it applies them in novel ways that get at the heart of humanity thus revealing how feeling white ultimately impacts race relations Without a proper investigation on these underlying emotions that can both stifle or enhance one's commitment to racial justice in education and society the field of education denies itself a proper emotional preparation so needed to engage in prolonged educative projects of racial and social justice By digging deep to what impacts humanity most our hearts this book dares to expose one's daily experiences with race thus individually challenging us all to self investigate our own racialized emotionalities Drawing on her deep wisdom about how race works Cheryl Matias directly interrogates the emotional arsenal White people use as shields from the pain of confronting racism peeling back its layers to unearth a core of love that can open us up In Feeling White Whiteness Emotionality and Education Matias deftly names and deconstructs distancing emotions prodding us to stay in the conversation in order to become teachers who can reach children marginalized by racism Christine Sleeter Ph D Professor Emeritus California State University Monterey Bay In Feeling White Cheryl E Matias blends astute observations analyses and insights about the emotions embedded in white identity and their impact on the racialized politics of affect in teacher education Drawing deftly on her own classroom experiences as well as her mastery of the methodologies and theories of critical whiteness studies Matias challenges us to develop what Dr King called the strength to love by confronting and conquering the affective structures that promote white innocence and preclude white accountability George Lipsitz Ph D Professor University of California Santa Barbara and author of The Possessive Investment in Whiteness Cheryl E Matias Ph D is an assistant professor in the School of Education and Human Development at the University of Colorado Denver She is a motherscholar of three children including boy girl twins

Is Affirmative Action Fair? Natasha Warikoo, 2022-09-23 Affirmative action in college admissions considering whether an applicant is part of an underrepresented group when making selection decisions has long been a topic of heated public debate Some argue that it undermines racial equity Others advocate for its ability to promote equal opportunity in a racially unequal society Who is right Natasha Warikoo dives into the arguments for and against a policy that has made it to the US Supreme Court many times She digs into the purposes of higher education and the selection process itself to argue that it is a mistake to equate college admissions with personal merit and reward College admissions should be based on furthering the mission of higher education contributing to our shared democracy and to the human condition Ultimately Warikoo concludes that a focus on individual fairness conceals much more important questions about justice No matter what their perspective readers will find themselves thinking anew and asking the deeper questions that underlie this emotive debate
