Race Housing And Social Excellence:

'Race', Housing and Social Exclusion Peter Somerville, Andy Steele, 2002 The contributors analyse the implications of social exclusion offering suggestions for good practice in the allocation of housing for black and other ethnic minority groups This book shows how racism and the shortage of housing workers from black and other ethnic minorities constrain the choices available to these groups

Race Ethnicity And Difference: Imagining The Inclusive Society Ratcliffe, Peter, 2004-06-01 This book addresses many of the key problems facing contemporary societies The social significance attached to various forms of difference most notably race and ethnicity has been seen as resulting in the exclusion of some groups from their full rights as citizens This in turn is viewed as presenting a series of barriers to the creation of more inclusive societies

Crossing the Class and Color Lines Leonard S. Rubinowitz, James E. Rosenbaum, 2002-04-15 Thousands of low income African Americans mostly women and children began in 1976 to move out of Chicago's notorious public housing developments to its mostly white middle class suburbs They were part of the Gautreaux program one of the largest court ordered desegregation efforts in the country's history Named for the Chicago activist Dorothy Gautreaux the program formally ended in 1998 but is destined to play a vital role in national housing policy in years to come In this book Leonard Rubinowitz and James Rosenbaum tell the story of this unique experiment in racial social and economic integration and examine the factors involved in implementing and sustaining mobility based programs Today with vouchers replacing public housing the Gautreaux success story with its strong legacy is the most valuable record of the possibilities for poor people to enhance their life chances by relocating to places where opportunities are greater Book Jacket

Understanding 'race' and ethnicity Craig, Gary, Atkin, Karl, 2012-02-22 Many welfare states are now struggling to deal with the issues and tensions raised by the growth of minority ethnic populations and increasing ethnic diversity The fact that most societies in the developed world are now multicultural raises many challenges for policy and for the delivery of welfare services which most states have yet to address retreating into forms of institutional racism to deny minorities the services they need Using the UK as an exemplary case study this much needed book combines historical and theoretical approaches to the issue of race and ethnicity within welfare provision including an examination of how minorities experience welfare in a range of service settings The book inspires new ways of approaching welfare and social policy in anticipation of a society that is equal inclusive fair and just for all and will make essential reading for students researchers practitioners and policy makers
