Ethics of Terrorism & Counter-Terrorism Georg Meggle, Andreas Kemmerling, Mark Textor, 2013-05-02 We are supposed to wage war against Terrorism but exactly what we are fighting against in this war there is nearly no consensus about And much worse nearly nobody cares about this conceptual disaster the main thing being whether or not you are taking sides with the good guys This volume is an analytical attempt to end this disaster What is Terrorism Are terrorist acts to be defined exclusively on the basis of the characteristics of the respective actions Or should we restrict such actions to acts performed by non state organisations And most important is terrorism already by its very nature to be morally condemned But having a clear idea of what Terrorism is would be only the beginning Rational moral assessment still needs two further components The relevant facts and the relevant values and norms Now in a field where systematic disinformation has been even proclaimed to be the official policy facts are obviously very hard to get at This volume is mainly interested in Ethics What's wrong with Terrorism And what is morally right or morally wrong respectively with all the different means of Counter Terrorism What are the moral boundaries for waging war against terrorism What are the right ways of dealing with terrorists And what about the alleged anti terrorism wars on Afghanistan and Iraq With contributions from Marcelo Dascal Tomis Kapitan Daniel Messelken Seumas Miller Olaf L Mueller Igor Primoratz Charles P Webel Per Bauhn Rüdiger Bittner C A J Tony Coady Haig Khatchadourian Georg Meggle Peter Simpson Carolin Emcke Ralf Groetker Laurence Lustgarten Thomas Mertens Aleksandar Pavkovic Filimon Peonidis Janna Thompson Veronique Zanetti

Who's Afraid of Human Cloning? Gregory E. Pence, 1998-11-05 Human cloning raises the most profound questions about human nature our faith in ourselves and our ability to make decisions that could significantly alter the character of humanity In this exciting and accessible book Gregory Pence offers a candid and sometimes humorous look at the arguments for and against human cloning Originating a human being by cloning Pence boldly argues should not strike fear in our hearts but should be examined as a reasonable reproductive option for couples Pence considers how popular culture has influenced the way we think about cloning and he presents a lucid and non technical examination of the scientific research and relevant moral issues in the cloning debate This book is a must read for anyone who is concerned about the impact of technology on human life and for those with interests in medical ethics sociology and public policy The Oxford Handbook of Distributive Justice Serena Olsaretti, 2018-06-11 Distributive justice has come to the fore in political philosophy in recent decades how should we arrange our social and economic institutions so as to distribute fairly the benefits and burdens of social cooperation Thirty two leading figures from philosophy and political theory present specially written critical assessments of the state of research on a broad range of questions about distributive justice The first seventeen chapters examine different views of distributive justice and its role in political philosophy and consider some key methodological questions facing theorists of justice The remaining fifteen chapters investigate questions about the implementation of distributive justice with regard to a range of aspects of society including gender race the family education work health language migration and climate change This Oxford Handbook will be a rich and authoritative resource for anyone working on theories of justice

Ultimate Reality and Meaning ,1995 Jeremiah and Lamentations (ESV Edition) Philip Graham Ryken, 2016-05-13 The prophet Jeremiah is a supreme example of how believers can live well in a society that has turned against God While the book of Jeremiah chronicles the last desperate days of Jerusalem before it is conquered by an invading army Lamentations expresses the cries of Jeremiah's heart for the fallen city Together the two books reflect on the meaning of human suffering and illustrate the eternal principle that a man will reap what he sows In this commentary Philip Graham Ryken helps pastors church leaders and Bible teachers understand and teach these spiritually relevant books inspiring readers to respond to God's personal call to live for him in these troubled times Part of the Preaching the Word series Equality and Liberty Kai Nielsen, 1985 Probably no issue is more confounding in the social policy arena or more closely argued among political philosophers than the question of the relationship between equality and liberty are they compatible in a just society In a systematic discussion that expands our understanding of what constitutes liberty equality and especially justice Professor Nielsen puts forth a vigorous defense of an uncompromising egalitarianism based on a commitment to the belief that the interests of everyone matter and matter equally Marshalling the most persistent arguments against egalitarianism the author presents accounts of Nietzschean elitism meritocracy and conservative libertarianism as well as various shades of egalitarianism and systematically responds to each opposing view Followers of contemporary debates will especially welcome Nielsen's searching critiques of the liberal egalitarianism of John Rawls and Ronald Dworkin and of the conservative libertarianism of Milton Friedman Frederick Hayek and particularly Robert Nozick Speech Acts in Literature Joseph Hillis Miller, 2001 This book demonstrates the presence of literature within speech act theory and the utility of speech act theory in reading literary works Though the founding text of speech act theory J L Austin's How to Do Things with Words repeatedly expels literature from the domain of felicitous speech acts literature is an indispensable presence within Austin's book It contains many literary references but also uses as essential tools literary devices of its own imaginary stories that serve as examples and imaginary dialogues that forestall potential objections How to Do Things with Words is not the triumphant establishment of a fully elaborated theory of speech acts but the story of a failure to do that the story of what Austin calls a bogging down After an introductory chapter that explores Austin's book in detail the two following chapters show how Jacques Derrida and Paul de Man in different ways challenge Austin's speech act theory generally and his expulsion of literature specifically Derrida shows that literature cannot be expelled from speech acts rather that what he calls iterability means that any speech act may be literature De Man asserts that speech act theory involves a radical dissociation between the cognitive and positing dimensions of language what Austin calls language's constative and performative aspects Both Derrida and de Man elaborate new speech act theories that form the basis of new notions of responsible and effective politico ethical decision and action The fourth chapter explores the role of strong emotion in effective speech acts through a discussion of passages in Derrida Wittgenstein and Austin The final chapter demonstrates through close readings of three passages in Proust the way speech act theory can be employed in an illuminating way in the accurate reading of literary works

The Martyrs of Columbine Justin Watson, 2002-11-09 On April 20 1999 Eric Harris and Dylan Klebold killed 12 fellow students and one teacher at Columbine High School in Littleton Colorado Two of the victims of the Columbine massacre Cassie Bernall and Rachel Scott reportedly were asked by the gunmen if they believed in God Both allegedly answered Yes and were killed Within days of their death Cassie and Rachel were hailed as modern day Christian martyrs and became useful symbols for those seeking to advance a conservative political agenda According to police investigators however Cassie and Rachel may never have been asked by their killers about God they simply may have been victims of a senseless crime rather than martyrs to a cause As the religious and political use of Cassie and Rachel continues The Martyrs of Columbine provides a careful examination of the available evidence and attempts to discover what really occurred

Web of Life Galit Hasan-Rokem, 2000 Web of Life weaves its suggestive interpretation of Jewish culture in the Palestine of late antiquity on the warp of a singular breathtakingly tragic and sublime rabbinic text Lamentations Rabbah The textual analyses that form the core of the book are informed by a range of theoretical paradigms rarely brought to bear on rabbinic literature structural analysis of mythologies and folktales performative approaches to textual production feminist theory psychoanalytical analysis of culture cultural criticism and folk narrative genre analysis The concept of context as the hermeneutic basis for literary interpretation reactivates the written text and subverts the hierarchical structures with which it has been traditionally identified This book reinterprets rabbinic culture as an arena of multiple dialogues that traverse traditional concepts of identity regarding gender nation religion and territory The author's approach is permeated by the idea that scholarly writing about ancient texts is invigorated by an existential hermeneutic rooted in the universality of human experience She thus resorts to personal experience as an idiom of communication between author and reader and between human beings of our time and of the past This research acknowledges the overlap of poetic and analytical language as well as the language of analysis and everyday life In eliciting folk narrative discourses inside the rabbinic text the book challenges traditional views about the social basis that engendered these texts It suggests the subversive potential of the constitutive texts of Jewish culture from late antiquity to the present by pointing out the inherent multi vocality of the text adding to the conventionally acknowledged synagogue and academy the home the marketplace and other private and public socializing institutions
