Spade, 2008 Presents the most recent theories research terms concepts ideas and histories on educational leadership and school administration as taught in preparation programs and practiced in schools and colleges today      The Desegregation Literature National Institute of Education (U.S.). Desegregation Studies Staff, 1976      Promoting Racial Literacy in Schools Howard Stevenson, 2014-12-04 Based on extensive research this provocative volume explores how schools are places where racial conflicts often remain hidden at the expense of a healthy school climate and the well being of students of color Most schools fail to act on racial microaggressions because the stress of negotiating such conflicts is extremely high due to fears of incompetence public exposure and accusation Instead of facing these conflicts head on schools perpetuate a set of avoidance or coping strategies The author of this much needed book uncovers how racial stress undermines student achievement Students educators and social service support staff will find workable strategies to improve their racial literacy skills to read recast and resolve racially stressful encounters when they happen Book Features A model that applies culturally relevant behavioral stress management strategies to problem solve racial stress in schools Examples demonstrating workable solutions relevant within predominantly White schools for students parents teachers and administrators Measurable outcomes and strategies for developing racial literacy skills that can be integrated into the K 12 curriculum and teacher professional development Teaching and leadership skills that will create a more tolerant and supportive school environment for all students Once more Howard Stevenson has provided a blueprint of critical importance to policymakers practitioners teachers and parents Margaret Beale Spencer Marshall Field IV Professor of Urban Education and professor of Life Course Human Development University of Chicago Howard C Stevenson is a clinical and consulting psychologist and professor of Education and Africana Studies and former chair of the Applied Psychology and Human Development Division in the Graduate School of Education at the University of Pennsylvania      Race, Ethnicity, and Socioeconomic Status Charles Vert Willie, 1983 Providing an adequate conceptual apparatus for the explanation and interpretation of behavior associated with race ethnicity and socioeconomic status is the goal of this book Empirical research findings and their theoretical analysis are linked E Franklin Frazier recognized minorities as mirrors of their society He hypothesized that study of their adaptations would provide a clearer understanding of the relation of human motivation to culture Race Ethnicity and Socioeconomic Status confirms the Frazier hypothesis and extracts from studies of blacks and other racial and ethnic minority populations propositions applicable to majority as well as minority groups Theses studies of intergroup relations were conducted during the past 25 years and provide a perspective on changing patterns of contact between cultural groups in the United States Adaptations associated with race ethnicity and socioeconomic status are analyzed from the perspective of sociology as a science of humanity Historical trends as well as contemporary situations are considered social psychological and geographical factors are researched as contextual variables in intergroup relations By analyzing demographic data pertaining to mortality disease delinquency and poverty the varying contributions to the human condition of individual attributes group customs and institutional regulations are ascertained Institutional and community studies illuminate the prides fears and prejudices of dominant and subdominant groups particularly with reference to racial and ethnic relations in education Also identified in these studies are the rights and responsibilities of such groups toward each other in social interaction

Minority Students Meyer Weinberg,1977 Reimagining School Integration Jennifer B. Ayscue,2024-08-01 Since the peak of school desegregation in the late 1980s schools across the nation have been resegregating such that schools are now as segregated as they were during the late 1960s Segregation is systematically linked to unequal educational opportunities and outcomes while integration when well structured is associated with numerous short term and long term academic and social benefits for individuals and society In a time when public education is under attack and our nation is deeply divided along the lines of race class and politics the potential of integration to create more equitable educational opportunities and outcomes for individual students as well as greater social cohesion for our democratic pluralistic society is more important than ever Seventy years after the Supreme Court s landmark Brown v Board of Education decision ruled that segregated schools are inherently unequal this book reimagines what integration is and could be in our nation s current context of racial and political polarization the expansion of unregulated choice in public education and an increasingly diverse multiracial public school enrollment Through an exploration of research and policy this book develops a new conceptualization of integration by describing the contemporary drivers of segregation and recommending strategies to create a more equitable meaningful equal status form of educational integration for the future This book is a valuable resource for policymakers scholars educators and concerned citizens who are invested in learning about one way to help create a more equitable and just education system
