Racism Culture Markets:

Racism, Culture, Markets John Gabriel, 2012-11-12 Racism Culture Markets explores the connections between cultural representations of race and their historical institutional and global forms of expression and impact John Gabriel examines the current fixation with market place philosophies in terms of the crisis in anti racist politics and concern over questions of cultural identity He explores issues such as the continuing relevance of terms like black as a basis for self definition the need to think about identities in more fluid and complex ways and the need to develop a much more explicit discussion of the construction of whiteness and white identities Racism Culture Markets brings together a range of historical and contemporary case studies including the Rushdie affair the Gulf War debates around fostering adoption and domestic violence separate schooling the service economy and its employment practices tourism in the Third World the Bhopal chemical disaster and racism in the new Europe His case studies also consider the role played by contemporary media and popular culture in these debates including film television music and the press Racism, Culture, Markets John Gabriel, 1994 The Economics of Structural Racism Patrick L. Mason, 2023-04-13 A historical economic analysis of US racial disparity across the alternative regimes of structural racism and economic development Race and Planning Huw Thomas, 2004-08-02 Examines the place of race in land use planning drawing on policy making literature as well as race and ethnic studies to provide students with a well balanced introduction Clones, Fakes and Posthumans, 2015-06-24 Clones Fakes and Posthumans Cultures of Replication explores cloning and related phenomena that inform each other like twins fakes replica or homogeneities through a cultural prism What could it mean to think of a cloning mentality Could it be that a cloning culture has made biotechnological cloning desirable in the first place and vice versa that biotechnological cloning then enforces technologies of social and cultural cloning What does it mean to say that a culture replicates If biotechnological cloning has to do with choice and repetitive reproduction of selected characteristics how are those kinds of desires expressed socially politically and culturally Lifting the issue of cloning above the biotechnological domain we problematize the cultural context including modernity's readiness to imitate and manipulate nature and the skewed privileging of desirable socialities as a basis for exclusive replication We also explore possible relations between a cloning mentality and a consumer society that fosters a brand name mentality The construction and coercive implementation of copy prone technological and symbolic items are at the very heart of the consumer society and its modes of mass production as they have emerged from and seek to articulate define and refine modernity and modernization Whitewash John Gabriel, 2002-01-04 By putting the language used in television the radio the internet and press as well as that spoken by key leaders under the spotlight what is ultimately revealed is the existence of a white language both coded and overt Taking specific examples and presenting new factual evidence John Gabriel studies the racial politics that lie behind much of the communication in the public arena Case studies draw on contemporary political controversies and are used to explore the
