Sex, Race, and Class—The Perspective of Winning Selma James, 2012-05-01 In 1972 Selma James set out a new political perspective Her starting point was the millions of unwaged women who working in the home and on the land were not seen as workers and their struggles viewed as outside of the class struggle Based on her political training in the Johnson Forest Tendency founded by her late husband C L R James on movement experience South and North and on a respectful study of Marx she redefined the working class to include sectors previously dismissed as marginal For James the class struggle presents itself as the conflict between the reproduction and survival of the human race and the domination of the market with its exploitation wars and ecological devastation She sums up her strategy for change as Invest in Caring not Killing This selection spanning six decades traces the development of this perspective in the course of building an international campaigning network It includes excerpts from the classic The Power of Women and the Subversion of the Community which launched the domestic labor debate the exciting Hookers in the House of the Lord which describes a church occupation by sex workers an incisive review of the C L R James masterpiece The Black Jacobins a reappraisal of the novels of Jean Rhys and of the leadership of Julius Nyerere the groundbreaking Marx and Feminism and more The writing is lucid and without jargon The ideas never abstract spring from the experience of organising from trying to make sense of the successes and the setbacks and from the need to find a way forward

Handbook of the Sociology of Gender Janet Saltzman Chafetz, 2006-11-22 During the past three decades feminist scholars have successfully demonstrated the ubiquity and omnirelevance of gender as a sociocultural construction in virtually all human collectivities past and present Intrapsychic interactional and collective social processes are gendered as are micro meso and macro social structures Gender shapes and is shaped in all arenas of social life from the most mundane practices of everyday life to those of the most powerful corporate actors Contemporary understandings of gender emanate from a large community of primarily feminist scholars that spans the gamut of learned disciplines and also includes non academic activist thinkers However while in incorporating some cross disciplinary material this volume focuses specifically on socio logical theories and research concerning gender which are discussed across the full array of social processes structures and institutions As editor I have explicitly tried to shape the contributions to this volume along several lines that reflect my long standing views about sociology in general and gender sociology in particular First I asked authors to include cross national and historical material as much as possible This request reflects my belief that understanding and evaluating the here and now and working realistically for a better future can only be accomplished from a comparative perspective Too often American sociology has been both tempero and ethnocentric Second I have asked authors to be sensitive to within gender differences along class racial ethnic sexual preference and age cohort lines

Doing Business With Beauty Adia Harvey Wingfield,2009-07-15 Black women comprise one of the fastest growing groups of business owners in the United States In Doing Business with Beauty sociologist Adia Harvey Wingfield examines this often overlooked group and one of the most popular businesses run by these entrepreneurs hair salons Using in depth interviews with hair salon owners Doing Business with Beauty explores several facets of the business of owning a hair salon including the process of becoming an owner the dynamics of the owner employee relationship and the factors that steer black women to work in the hair industry Through Harvey Wingfield s research we can understand the black female business owner s struggle for autonomy and her success in entrepreneurship

Rethinking Racial Capitalism Gargi Bhattacharyya,2018-07-27 How has capitalism created or enhanced racism In what ways do the violent histories of slavery and empire continue to influence the allocation of global resources Rethinking Racial Capitalism Questions of Reproduction and Survival proposes a return to analyses of racial capitalism the capitalism that is inextricably linked with histories of racist expropriation and argues that it is only by tracking the interconnections between changing modes of capitalism and racism that we can hope to address the most urgent challenges of social injustice It considers the continuing impact of global histories of racist expropriation on more recent articulations of capitalism with a particular focus on the practices of racial capitalism the continuing impact of uneven development territory and border marking the place of reproductive labour in sustaining racial capitalism the marketing of diversity as a consumer pleasure and the creation of supposedly surplus populations

Planning for Diversity Dory Reeves,2005 The practical importance of diversity and equality for spatial planning and sustainable development is still not widely understood Using international examples this book shows planners and educationalists the benefits of building in a consideration of diversity and equality at each stage and level of planning Despite being one of the most diverse and gender balanced of the built environment professions complacency has been widespread in planning This book shows why a diverse profession is important and drawing on a wide range of good practice shows how those involved in planning can develop their sensitivity to and expertise in diversity and equality
