Really Ground Zero 11 September Und Folgendes:

9/11 in European Literature Svenja Frank, 2017-11-28 This volume looks at the representation of 9 11 and the resulting wars in European literature In the face of inner European divisions the texts under consideration take the terror attacks as a starting point to negotiate European as well as national identity While the volume shows that these identity formations are frequently based on the construction of two Others the US nation and a cultural ethnic idea of Muslim communities it also analyses examples which undermine such constructions This much more self critical strand in European literature unveils the Eurocentrism of a supposedly general humanistic value system through the use of complex aesthetic strategies These strategies are in itself characteristic of the European reception as the Anglo Irish British Dutch Flemish French German Italian and Polish perspectives collected in this volume perceive of the terror attacks through the lens of continental media and semiotic theory

Crime and Madness in Modern Austria Rebecca S. Thomas, 2021-02-03 This collection of essays explores the changing history rhetoric politics and representation of crime and madness in modern Austria From the emergence of Viennese modernism to the post modern moment the myths metaphors and realities of crime and madness have unfolded in the shadow of larger cultural questions regarding cultural norms gender war and national identity Historically based contributions illuminate such diverse cultural realities as the evolution of psychiatry as medical practice asylum practices in the early twentieth century and Austrian participation in and responses to terror and war crimes From these investigations proceeds the clear insight that cultural responses to crime and madness are often steeped in mythmaking as much as objective policy and practice Conversely literary and metaphorical representations of crime and madness reveal attitudes and cultural realities about the Austrian society that produced them and which they reflect Specialists from the fields of Austrian history literature and culture studies have collaborated to produce this truly interdisciplinary volume which responses to crime and madness are often steeped in mythmaking as much as objective policy and practice Conversely literary and metaphorical representations of crime and madness reveal attitudes and cultural realities about the Austrian society that produced them and which they reflect

The Transcultural Turn Lucy Bond, Jessica Rapson, 2014-04-01 This edited collection makes a progressive intervention into the interdisciplinary field of memory studies with a series of essays drawn from diverse theoretical practical and cultural backgrounds The most seminal critical development within memory studies in recent years has arguably been the turn towards transculturalism This movement engenders a series of methodologies that posit remembrance as a fluid process in which commemorative tropes work to inform the representation of diverse events and traumas beyond national or cultural boundaries transcending but not negating spatial temporal and ideational differences Examining a wide range of historical and cultural contexts the essays in this collection focus on the dialogues that shape processes of remembrance between and beyond borders critiquing the problems and possibilities inherent in current discourses in memorial practice and theory as they approach the challenge of

Literature and Terrorism ,2012-01-01

The years following the attacks of September 11 2001 have seen the publication of a wide range of scientific analyses of terrorism Literary studies seem to lag curiously behind this general shift of academic interest The present volume sets out to fill this gap It does so in the conviction that the study of literature has much to offer to the transdisciplinary investigation of terror not only with respect to the present post 9 11 situation but also with respect to earlier historical contexts Literary texts are media of cultural self reflection and as such they have always played a crucial role in the discursive response to terror both contributing to and resisting dominant conceptions of the causes motivations dynamics and aftermath of terrorist violence By bringing together experts from various fields and by combining case studies of works from diverse periods and national literatures the volume Literature and Terrorism chooses a diachronic and comparative perspective It is interested in the specific cultural work performed by narrative and dramatic literature in the face of terrorism focusing on literature s ambivalent relationship to other competing modes of discourse

Transnationalism and German-Language Literature in the Twenty-First Century Stuart Taberner, 2017-03-01 This book examines how German language authors have intervened in contemporary debates on the obligation to extend hospitality to asylum seekers refugees and migrants the terrorist threat post 9 11 globalisation and neo liberalism the opportunities and anxieties of intensified mobility across borders and whether transnationalism necessarily implies the end of the nation state and the dawn of a new cosmopolitanism The book proceeds through a series of close readings of key texts of the last twenty years with an emphasis on the most recent works Authors include Ter zia Mora Richard Wagner Olga Grjasnowa Marlene Streeruwitz Vladimir Vertlib Navid Kermani Felicitas Hoppe Daniel Kehlmann Ilija Trojanow Christian Kracht and Christa Wolf representing the diversity of contemporary German language writing Through a careful process of juxtaposition and differentiation the individual chapters demonstrate that writers of both minority and nonminority backgrounds address transnationalism in ways that certainly vary but which also often overlap in surprising ways

Literary Representations of Precarious Work, 1840 to the Present

Michiel Rys, Bart Philipsen, 2022-01-03 Literary Representations of Precarious Work 1840 to the Present sheds new light on literary representations of precarious labor from 1840 until the present With contributions by experts in American British French German and Swedish culture this book examines how literature has shaped the understanding of socio economic precarity a concept that is mostly used to describe living and working conditions in our contemporary neoliberal and platform economy This volume shows that authors tried to develop new poetic tools and literary techniques to translate the experience of social regression and insecurity to readers While some authors critically engage with normative models of work by zooming in on the physical and affective backlash of being a precarious worker others even find inspiration in their own situations as writers trying to survive Furthermore this volume shows that precarity is not an exclusively contemporary phenomenon and that literature has always been a central medium to critically register forms of social insecurity By retrieving parts of that archive this volume paves the way to a historically nuanced view on contemporary regimes of precarious work
