Reasons We Speak Cognition And Discourse In The Second Language Classroom:

The Reasons We Speak Miguel Mantero, 2002-10-30 The role of cognition in a literature based foreign language classroom is investigated and explained here By implementing a sociocultural approach cognition is understood as the basic building block for all human learning and language development This study incorporates various understandings and views from reader response theory literary theory and discourse analysis in order to support the conclusions reached through authentic classroom discourse analysis Along with clarifying current trends in second language acquisition theory this text also offers the classroom teacher practical suggestions on how to approach and evaluate classroom talk that is based on literature or authentic readings The book also contains new approaches and views on the roles of reader response theory in the language classroom that are also reflected in a contemporary literary theory that has been developed especially with second language readers and learners in mind The author challenges the current view of scaffolding as demonstrated in the data analysis and offers a more realistic interpretation of what may actually be taking place in the language classrooms under the guise of scaffolding The role of opportunities to enter into discourse becomes central to the main argument and is exemplified through actual classroom transcripts

Identity and Second Language Learning Miguel

Mantero, 2006-12-01 This collection of research has attempted to capture the essence and promise embodied in the concept of identity and built a bridge to the realm of second language studies However the reader will notice that we did not build just one link This volume brings to light the diversity of research in identity and second language studies that are grounded the notions of community instructors and students language immersion and study abroad pop culture and music religion code switching and media The chapters reflect the efforts of contributors from Canada Japan Norway New Zealand the United Arab Emirates and the United States who performed their research in the countries just mentioned and in other regions around the world Because of this this volume truly offers an international perspective

Wright, 2010-04-01 The goal of this fourth volume of RISE was to provide a research foundation that demonstrates an agenda to strengthen the preparation and enhancement of teachers of science for regions and states experiencing extensive initial growth of Hispanic ELLs in schools The goal was carried out through a series of events that led to the planning and subsequent dissemination of research being conducted by various stakeholders throughout the United States Researchers were first invited from regions of the country that have had a long history of with Hispanic ELLs in classrooms as well as those regions where initial and now extensive growth has occurred only in the past few years A national conference Science Teacher Education for Hispanic English Language Learners in the Southeast SHELLS funded through the National Science Foundation was used as one of the dissemination methods to establish and secure commitments from researchers to a conduct and report research to strengthen teacher preparation for science The national call for manuscripts requested the inclusion of major priorities and critical research areas methodological concerns and concerns and results of implementation of teacher preparation and development programs

Language, Education, and Ideology Timothy Reagan, 2002-11-30 Language educators in general and foreign language educators in particular need to be aware of and sensitive to issues related to the interface and nexus of language education and ideology This work places foreign language education in its social context as well as applying critical pedagogy to the foreign language classroom to help educators become more aware of the social political historical and economic contexts in which they work and which effect the classroom setting Research and scholarship in critical pedagogy is impressive extensive and powerful and has had significant impact on nearly every aspect of contemporary educational scholarship One area in which critical theory and critical pedagogy have been slow to have a noticeable effect however is that of language education especially foreign language education Further while a number of important works address issues of critical literacy there are no general works presenting critical perspectives on language and language issues targeting classroom teachers and other educators This work offers a broad and comprehensive overview of language and linguistic issues that emerge in the classroom context from a critical philosophical perspective The central focus is on the nexus of issues of language education and ideology as the title suggests and specific topics covered will include language and power linguistic purism the marginalization of second language education in the United States the phenomenon of ideological monolingualism in the United States the hierarchy of the less commonly taught languages both in terms of its etiology and the ideological and hegemonic functions this hierarchy serves nonmainstream language varieties in school settings issues of linguistic legitimacy in the classroom context the politics and ideological context of bilingual education in the United States language policy both as a tool for oppression and as a means of empowerment and finally the need for critical language awareness on the part of all educators

On Teaching Foreign Languages Marcela Ruiz-Funes, 2002-10-30 The author reports on a qualitative action research project on theories and practices in foreign language education The goal of the study was to relate the knowledge of foreign language teaching learning and acquisition gained through research to the beliefs and experiences of expert foreign language teachers The four participating teachers represent real teachers who distinguish themselves from their peers for their excellence in teaching foreign languages and their success in serving as clinical teachers Four theoretical issues are discussed in detail the proficiency movement the role of input teaching language in context and class participation motivation and discipline These aspects were selected because 1 they pose major challenges to foreign language interns and 2 they play an essential role in the learning acquisition process of second language students The major contribution of this study is the integration of the theoretical and practical dimensions The practical aspect is presented by the expert foreign language teachers who describe in their own words how and explain why they implement a given foreign language theory in their classrooms This integration provides foreign language teachers with a realistic view of foreign language education and establishes a dialogue between the university and the school communities A significant number of excerpts from discussion interview sessions conducted with the teachers are included

Handbook of Cognitive Linguistics and Second Language Acquisition Peter Robinson, Nick C. Ellis, 2008-03-29 This cutting edge volume describes the implications of Cognitive Linguistics for the study of second language acquisition SLA The first two sections identify theoretical and empirical strands of Cognitive Linguistics presenting them as a coherent whole The third section discusses the relevance of Cognitive Linguistics to SLA and defines a research agenda linking these fields with implications for language instruction Its comprehensive range and tutorial style chapters make this handbook a valuable resource for students and researchers alike American Book Publishing Record ,2003 Choice ,2003 TALK in Multilingual Classrooms Erwin Maria Gierlinger, Marion Döll, Gudrun Isolde Keplinger, 2023 This volume presents a variety of concepts practices and experiences in the field of content learning through the additional language s of learners in a migration society It contains reflections on the complex interplay between the unifying characteristics of monolingual and multilingual programmes and their often diverging local and contextual interpretations and implementations In addition it describes how migration pedagogy has become a catalyst for discussing the ideological and power aspects of language learning and how a hegemony critical attitude needs to become an integral part of classroom language learning and communicating In this context the deliberate development of Teachers Awareness of Language Knowledge TALK through a variety of supportive measures is considered to be of central pedagogical importance Principles and practical applications of TALK for the classroom are discussed and evaluated Forum ,1995 Resources in Education ,2001-10 A Transdisciplinary Approach to International Teaching Assistants Stephen Daniel Looney, Shereen Bhalla, 2019-09-26 North American universities depend on international teaching assistants ITAs as a substantial part of the teaching labor force which has led to the idea of an ITA problem a deficiency model which is framed as a divergence between ITAs linguistic competence and undergraduates and their parents expectations This outdated positioning of ITAs as deficient diminishes the invaluable role they play within the academy This book argues instead for an approach to ITA which recognizes them as multilingual skilled migrant professionals who participate in and are discursively constructed through various participant frameworks modalities and activities The chapters in this volume offer state of the art research into ITA using a variety of methods and approaches and as such constitute a transdisciplinary perspective which argues for the importance of dialogue between research and practice The Routledge Encyclopedia of Second Language Acquisition Peter Robinson, 2012-08-21 The Routledge Encyclopedia of Second Language Acquisition offers a user friendly authoritative survey of terms and constructs that are important to understanding research in second language acquisition SLA and its applications The Encyclopedia is designed for use as a reference tool by students researchers teachers and professionals with an interest in SLA The Encyclopedia has the following features 252 alphabetized entries written in an accessible style including cross references to other related entries in the Encyclopedia and suggestions for further reading Among these 9 survey entries that cover the foundational areas of SLA in detail Development in SLA Discourse and Pragmatics in SLA Individual Differences in SLA Instructed SLA Language and the Lexicon in SLA Measuring and Researching SLA Psycholinguistics of SLA Social and Sociocultural Approaches to SLA Theoretical Constructs in SLA The rest of the entries cover all the major subdisciplines methodologies and concepts of SLA from Accommodation to the ZISA project Written by an international team of specialists the Routledge

Studying Speaking to Inform Second Language Learning Diana Boxer, Andrew D. Cohen, 2004-01-01 In a series of studies specially written for this volume Studying Speaking to Inform Second Language Learning offers the applied linguist research on spoken interaction in second and foreign languages and provides insights as to how findings from each of these studies may inform language pedagogy. The volume offers an interweaving of discourse perspectives, speech acts, speech events, interactional analysis, pragmatics, and conversational analysis.

Investigating Content and Language Integrated Learning Liss Kerstin Sylvén, 2019-01-18

This book provides a rich and unique longitudinal account of content and language integrated learning (CLIL). The chapters report on the findings from a large scale three year research project undertaken at senior high school level in Sweden. The ecological perspective with quantitative and qualitative methods gives voice to both learners and teachers as well as being an excellent critical example of how such longitudinal research might be carried out. Through emic and etic approaches the book provides insights into language learning outcomes both with regard to the target language English and the majority language Swedish, learner motivation among CLIL and non CLIL students, effects of extramural exposure to English, issues in relation to assessment in CLIL and much more. As a whole the book offers an unprecedented overview of learner outcomes and detailed insights into the comparison of CLIL and non CLIL education. While it is embedded in the Swedish context the nature of this study means that it has strong implications on an international basis.

Research Among Learners of Chinese as a Foreign Language Michael Erwin Everson, Helen H. Shen, National Foreign Language Resource Center (University of Hawaii at Manoa), 2010

Cutting edge in its approach and international in its authorship, this fourth monograph in a series sponsored by the Chinese Language Teachers Association features eight research studies that explore a variety of themes, topics and perspectives important to a variety of stakeholders in the Chinese language learning community. Employing a wide range of research methodologies, the volume provides data from actual Chinese language learners and will be of value to both theoreticians and practitioners alike in English Chinese.
