Policies Compelled New Delhi To Look East Cold Wars Lorenz M. Lüthi, 2020-03-19 A new interpretation of the Cold War from the perspective of the smaller and middle powers in Asia the Middle East and Europe Economic and Political Weekly ,2006 The Tibetans: Two Perspectives on Tibetan-Chinese Relations Chris Mullin, Phuntsog Wangyal, 1983-08-02 This report provides information on the historical and current situation in Tibet with the aim of contributing to public understanding of the problems It consists of two parts The author of part one compares the theoretical basis for relations between the Chinese Government and minority groups with actual practice in the largest autonomous region Tibet His account outlines life in Tibet before during and after the 1950 1959 uprising and describes the situation today regarding education religion language and administration He points out that the professed desire of the government to preserve minority cultures has not worked in practice and that Tibet is the least successful example of relations between the government and a minority group While health and welfare of minority groups may have improved official policy has led to the suppression of Tibetan religion and culture with the aim of integrating the Tibetan people in Chinese culture He contends that political oppression and human rights violations are continuing The author of part 2 describes the history of Tibet and of the Dalai Lamas and of the Chinese invasion and its aftermath including the situation of Tibetans in exile He concludes that racial discrimination is becoming increasingly part of the Tibetan problem and warns that the longer the delay in reaching a settlement the more likely that any traces of Tibetan culture remaining will be destroyed Please note that the terminology in the fields of minority rights and indigenous peoples rights has changed over time MRG strives to reflect these changes as well as respect the right to self identification on the part of minorities and indigenous peoples At the same time after over 50 years work we know that our archive is of considerable interest to activists and researchers Therefore we make available as much of our back catalogue as possible while being aware that the language used may not reflect current thinking on these issues Selected Works of Jawaharlal Nehru: pt. 1. 1 March 1951 Jawaharlal Nehru, 1984 Selected Works of Jawaharlal Nehru Jawaharlal Nehru, 1994 Dictionary Catalog of the Research Libraries of the New York Public Library, 1911-1971 New York Public Library.
