life emerges in these luminous daily letters to family friends editors and lovers a remarkable outpouring over six decades from his earliest consciousness as a writer to his final days As James Schiff writes in the introduction to this volume of the writer who would eventually express himself in written form as copiously and as elegantly as any American writer before him Updike needed to write the way the rest of us need to breathe or eat With his stunning rhetorical gifts enabling him to thrive in both short fiction and the novel criticism as well as poetry Updike was also a consummate letter writer When barely a teenager he began submitting poems and cartoons to national magazines and soliciting famous cartoonists with flattering requests for a drawing His letter writing only increased when he left the family farm in Pennsylvania for Harvard where he composed more than 150 witty substantive letters to his parents The summer after he graduated The New Yorker began accepting his work and his exchanges with editors publishers and writers would stretch into a correspondence that Schiff notes figures not as an adjunct to but rather an integral part of his astonishing literary output The intimacy and lucidity of these letters brings to the fore all manner of subjects and situations notably the ardent feelings for his first love and wife Mary and later the heartbreaking but honestly accounted breakup of their marriage the uncensored passion for other women including his Ipswich neighbor Martha who became his second wife the concern for his children's path to adulthood and the conversations with many literary peers from Joyce Carol Oates to Philip Roth as well as his Knopf and New Yorker editors critics translators and others in the lit business Filled with comic observations opinions and personal news told in the fluid first person voice of the writer himself these missives taken together create a page turning life in letters like no other

Jack Lewis and His American Cousin, Nat Hawthorne D. G. Kehl, 2013-03-29 When he was a student at Oxford University C S Lewis wrote to a friend expressing his great admiration of and enthusiasm for the novels of Nathaniel Hawthorne particularly The House of the Seven Gables and Transformation British title of The Marble Faun This study examines the parallels between these two kindred spirits and their works focusing on their similar worldviews their personal backgrounds and lifestyles and the Ultimates they both pondered It discusses common themes in their works such as myth scientism and the great power of blackness Their respective attitudes toward these issues and others such as faith repentance heaven and hell confession church attendance the clergy and Puritanism are strikingly similar Considerable attention is given to companion pieces of the two writers with discussion of the so called Fortunate Fall in The Marble Faun and Perelandra veil imagery in The Minister's Black Veil The Blithedale Romance and Till We Have Faces influence of Bunyan's allegory on The Pilgrim's Regress and The Celestial Railroad and multiform love in The Four Loves and The House of the Seven Gables Examination of such affinities between these two writers and their works provides mutual illumination and enhanced appreciation of each

The Melville-Hawthorne Connection Erik Hage, 2013-11-05 This book offers the first in depth examination of the friendship between the authors Hawthorne's influence upon Moby Dick is weighed as is the probability of Melville's influence upon Hawthorne This was a friendship whose true basis beyond an almost instantaneous mutual affinity and admiration for each other was intellectual ideas and literary pursuits and the conversations between the two hewed mostly to philosophical and spiritual rumination as well as to those matters that concern writers most craft and publishing

The Collected Letters of Robinson Jeffers, with Selected Letters of Una Jeffers James Karman, 2011-10-12 The 1930s marked a turning point for the world Scientific and technological revolutions economic and social upheavals and the outbreak of war changed the course of history The 1930s also marked a turning point for Robinson Jeffers both in his career as a poet and in his private life The letters collected in this second volume of annotated correspondence document Jeffers rising fame as a poet his controversial response to the turmoil of his time his struggles as a writer the growth and maturation of his twin sons and the network of friends and acquaintances that surrounded him The letters also provide an intimate portrait of Jeffers relationship to his wife Una including a full account of the 1938 crisis at Mabel Dodge Luhan's home in Taos New Mexico that nearly destroyed their marriage

Hawthorne's Wilderness: Nature and Puritanism in Hawthorne's The Scarlet Letter and "Young Goodman Brown" Marina Boonyaprasop, 2013-06-01

Nathaniel Hawthorne is one of America's most noted and highly praised writers and a key figure in US literature Although he struggled to become an acknowledged author for most parts of his life his work stands in the limelight of the American literary consciousness Graham 5 For he is a direct descendant of Massachusetts Bay colonists in the Puritan era of the 17th and 18th century New England served as a lifelong preoccupation for Hawthorne and inspired many of his best known stories Hence in order to understand the author and his work it is crucial to apprehend the historical background from which his stories arose The awareness of the Puritan legacy in Hawthorne s time and their Calvinist beliefs which contributed to the establishment of American identity serve as a basis for fathoming the intention behind Hawthorne s writings His forefathers concept of wilderness became an important part of their religious life and in many of Hawthorne s tales nature can be perceived as an active agent for the plot and the moral message Therefore it is indispensable to consider the development behind the Puritan perception as well as the prevailing opinion on nature during the writer s lifetime After the historical background has been depicted the author himself is focused His ambiguous character and non persistent lifestyle are the source of many themes which can be retrieved from his works Thus understanding the man behind the stories is necessary in order to analyze the tales themselves Seclusion nature and Puritanism are constantly recurring topics in the author s life and work To become familiar with Hawthorne s relation to nature his ancestors and religion it is essential to understand the vast amount of symbols his stories His stories will be brought into focus and will be analyzed on the basis of the historical and biographical facts and further his particular style and purpose will be taken into consideration The second part of this book analyzes two of the author s most eminent and esteemed works namely Young Goodman Brown and The Scarlet Letter in terms of nature symbolism and the underlying moral intention Further it is examined to which extent the images correspond to the formerly explained historical facts and Hawthorne s emphasized characteristic features The comparison of the two works focuses on the didactic purpose for in all of his works Hawthorne s aim was to give a lesson Thus it will

Reclaiming Authorship Susan S. Williams, 2013-06-15 There was in the nineteenth century a distinction made between writers and authors Susan S Williams notes the former defined as those who composed primarily from mere experience or observation rather than from the unique genius or imagination of the latter If women were more often cast as writers than authors by the literary establishment there also emerged in magazines advice books fictional accounts and letters a specific model of female authorship one that valorized natural feminine traits such as observation and emphasis on detail while also representing the distance between amateur writing and professional authorship Attending to biographical and cultural contexts and offering fresh readings of literary works Reclaiming Authorship focuses on the complex ways writers such as Maria S Cummins Louisa May Alcott Elizabeth Keckley Mary Abigail Dodge Elizabeth Stuart Phelps and Constance Fenimore Woolson put this model of female authorship into practice Williams shows how it sometimes intersected with prevailing notions of male authorship and sometimes diverged from them and how it is often precisely those moments of divergence when authorship was reclaimed by women The current trend to examine women writers rather than authors marks a full rotation of the circle and writers can indeed be the more capacious term embracing producers of everything from letters and diaries to published books Yet certain nineteenth century women made particular efforts to claim the title author Williams demonstrates and we miss something of significance by ignoring their efforts

The Collected Letters of Harriet Martineau Deborah Logan, 2024-07-31 This five volume set brings together the surviving letters penned by Harriet Martineau the nineteenth century writer and women's rights advocate Throughout her fifty year career Harriet Martineau's prolific literary output was matched only by her exchanges with a range of high profile British American and European correspondents This set focuses on the letters written by Martineau contextualising the correspondence through annotation of the highest standard This book is a unique and highly valuable resource for students of and others interested in the history of feminism
