The Double Screen Wu Hung, 1996-11-22 This book contemplates a large problem what is a traditional Chinese painting Wu Hung answers this question through a comprehensive analysis of the screen a major format and a popular pictorial motif in traditional China With a broad array of examples ranging from the early centuries C E to the 1800s he explores the screen's position in art as an important site for artistic imagination as an illusionary representation on a flat surface and as an architectural device defining cultural conventions A screen occupies a space and divides it supplies an ideal surface for painting and has been a favourite pictorial image in Chinese art since antiquity With its diverse roles the screen has provided Chinese painters with endless opportunities to reinvent their art The author argues that any understanding of Chinese painting must include discussion of its material forms as well as its intimate connection with cultural context and convention Thus The Double Screen offers a powerful non western perspective on diverse artistic and cultural genres from portraiture and pictorial narrative to voyeurism and masquerade and will be invaluable to anyone interested in the history of art and Asian studies as well as to students and specialists in the field Sung and Yuan Paintings Metropolitan Museum of Art

(New York, N.Y.), Wen Fong, Marilyn Fu, 1973 Acquisition of 25 paintings from the collection of C C Wang The Song-Yuan-Ming Transition in Chinese History Paul Jakov Smith, Richard von Glahn, 2020-03-23 This volume seeks to study the connections between two well studied epochs in Chinese history the mid imperial era of the Tang and Song ca 800 1270 and the late imperial era of the late Ming and Qing 1550 1900 Both eras are seen as periods of explosive change particularly in economic activity characterized by the emergence of new forms of social organization and a dramatic expansion in knowledge and culture The task of establishing links between these two periods has been impeded by a lack of knowledge of the intervening Mongol Yuan dynasty 1271 1368 This historiographical black hole has artificially interrupted the narrative of Chinese history and bifurcated it into two distinct epochs This book aims to restore continuity to that historical narrative by filling the gap between mid imperial and late imperial China The contributors argue that the Song Yuan Ming transition early twelfth through the late fifteenth century constitutes a distinct historical period of transition and not one of interruption and devolution They trace this transition by investigating such subjects as contemporary impressions of the period the role of the Mongols in intellectual life the economy of Jiangnan urban growth neo Confucianism and local society commercial publishing

A Paradise Lost Young-tsu Wong, 2000-12-01 Noted for its magnificent architecture and extraordinary history the Yuanming Yuan is China's most famous imperial garden The complex was begun in the early eighteenth century and construction continued over the next 150 years While Chinese historians and many Chinese in general view the garden as the paramount achievement of Chinese architecture and landscape design almost nothing is known about the Yuanming Yuan in the West A Paradise Lost is the first comprehensive study of the palatial garden complex in a Western language Written in a broad and engaging style Young tsu Wong brings the garden of perfect brightness to life as he leads readers on a grand tour of its architecture and history Wong begins by inspecting the garden s physical appearance and its architectural elements He discusses the origin and evolution of these structures and the aesthetics of their design and arrangement Throughout he refers to maps and original models of individual buildings and other existing gardens of the Ming Qing period including the well preserved Yihe Yuan and the Chengde Summer Mountain Retreat in Rehe A special feature of the book is its exploration of the activities and daily life of the royal household

The People's West Lake Qiliang He, 2023-07-31 The People s West Lake examines the Chinese Communist Party s CCP efforts to reconfigure Hangzhou s urban space alter the natural environment in West Lake Xihu and refashion the city s culture in post 1949 China It pieces together five initiatives between the 1950s and the 1970s the dredging of the lake the construction of the public park of Watching Fish at the Flower Harbor Huagang guanyu the afforestation movement the development of collectivized pig farming around West Lake and the two campaigns to remove lakeside tombs These projects were intended to generate visible and tangible results a lake with a good depth a scenic public garden greener hills surrounding the lake a growing swine population and rising productivity of fertilizer and a tourist site cleansed of burial grounds while also being readily subject to the Party s propaganda These initiatives were designed both to achieve economic cultural and ecological utilities and to forge and popularize a sense of socialist nationhood The CCP s endeavor to fundamentally transform the West Lake area also opened up possibilities for both human and nonhuman actors to variously benefit from get along with and undermine the political authorities planning This book thus emphatically foregrounds and unifies the agency of both humans and nonhuman entities that are not necessarily tied to intentionality bringing into question the legitimacy of the human nonhuman binary Author Qiliang He explores the agency of both humans and nonhumans including water microbes aquatic plants the park pigs trees pests and tombs to affect deflect and undercut the CCP s sociopolitical programs thereby diminishing the efficacy of state propaganda Highlighting the nonpurposive agency of both actors problematizes the long held resistance accommodation paradigm which presumes the resisters a priori subjectivities independent of the socialist system in studying the state society relationship in the People s Republic of China Using a project based approach The People s West Lake gives the nature human relationship in Mao s China best known as Mao s war against nature historical and cultural specificities to reexamine the PRC regime s central planning and the issues related to it

Critical Perspectives on Classicism in Japanese Painting Elizabeth Lillehoj, 2004-01-01 In the West classical art inextricably linked to concerns of a ruling or dominant class commonly refers to art with traditional themes and styles that resurrect a past golden era Although art of the early Edo period 1600 1868 encompasses a spectrum of themes and styles references to the past are so common that many Japanese art historians have variously described this period as a classical revival era of classicism or a renaissance How did seventeenth century artists and patrons imagine the past Why did they so often select styles and themes from the court culture of the Heian period 794-1185. Were references to the past something new or were artists and patrons in previous periods equally interested in manners that came to be seen as classical? How did classical manners relate to other styles and themes found in Edo art? In considering such questions, the contributors to this volume hold that classicism has been an amorphous, changing concept in Japan just as in the West. Troublesome in its ambiguity and implications, it cannot be separated from the political and ideological interests of those who have employed it over the years. The modern writers who first
