Selected Vietnamese Poetry:

Selected Vietnamese Poetry, 2001 One hundred best known Vietnamese poems spanning over ten centuries of history

Beyond the Court Gate Trãi Nguyễn, 2010 Poetry Southeast Asia Studies Translated from the Vietnamese by Nguyen Do and Paul Hoover While Li Po and other classic Chinese poets mostly found expression through landscape Vietnamese poet Nguyen Trai 1380 1422 wrote about his own life The literary symbols of Tang Dynasty poetry are relatively general traditional and polite but Nguyen Trai developed a colloquial and personal style As a result his poems have the intimacy and immediacy of the everyday Over six hundred years old they appear in this translation by contemporary Vietnamese poet Nguyen Do and American poet Paul Hoover to have been written only yesterday by someone whose feelings we are able to share despite their distance from us in time and culture This is the first collection of Nguyen Trai's poetry to be published in English

The Deluge Linh Dinh, Hai-Dang Phan, 2013 Poetry Asian American Studies Edited and translated from the Vietnamese by Linh Dinh Carefully selected for their literary significance as well as their antagonism towards state power cultural orthodoxy and conventional wisdom the hundred and sixty Vietnamese language poems annotated contextualized and expertly translated into English in THE DELUGE provide a stunningly original counter history in fragments of Vietnamese society from the 1960s up till today While Linh Dinh is typically known for his extraordinary poetry fiction and journalism THE DELUGE showcases his remarkable talents as a translator anthologist and cultural historian I love everything about this book the sneaky smart selections the illuminating yet ruthlessly efficient author bios the fascinating addendum and of course the absurdly brilliant translations Peter Zinoman In still cratered Vietnam apparently things are even more screwed up for avant garde poets than they were in the US back in the 50s Howl had its trial but in Hanoi and Ho Chi Minh City non conforming poets are just plain denied venues of publication In fact a whole generation of poets active in the South before 1975 has pretty much been erased from memory via State controls At long last some of them are brought forward here along with many younger ones absolute revelations in some cases all of them examples of cultural courage Not a little of poetry's history is about singular strange and moving works getting written under conditions of proscription censure samizdat and exile And there is plenty here of this kind Ron Silliman is on to something when he keeps insisting the indomitable Linh Dinh should be our next Poet Laureate Now Dinh's edited what is surely one of the major startling anthologies to appear in the United States in this new century Long live the insurgent poets of Vietnam Kent Johnson

The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a brilliant and suspenseful novel that will keep you wondering until the very end. The novel is a cautionary tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
