A Wild Justice: The Death and Resurrection of Capital Punishment in America Evan J. Mandery, 2013-08-19 New York Times Book Review Editor's Choice Drawing on never before published original source detail the epic story of two of the most consequential and largely forgotten moments in Supreme Court history For two hundred years the constitutionality of capital punishment had been axiomatic But in 1962 Justice Arthur Goldberg and his clerk Alan Dershowitz dared to suggest otherwise launching an underfunded band of civil rights attorneys on a quixotic crusade In 1972 in a most unlikely victory the Supreme Court struck down Georgia's death penalty law in Furman v Georgia Though the decision had sharply divided the justices nearly everyone including the justices themselves believed Furman would mean the end of executions in America Instead states responded with a swift and decisive showing of support for capital punishment As anxiety about crime rose and public approval of the Supreme Court declined the stage was set in 1976 for Gregg v Georgia in which the Court dramatically reversed direction A Wild Justice is an extraordinary behind the scenes look at the Court the justices and the political complexities of one of the most racially charged and morally vexing issues of our time
