Smart Funny Fearless It's pretty safe to say that Spy was the most influential magazine of the 1980s. It might have remade New York's cultural landscape; it definitely changed the whole tone of magazine journalism. It was cruel, brilliant, beautifully written, and perfectly designed and feared by all. There's no magazine I know of that's so continually referenced, held up as a benchmark, and whose demise is so lamented. Dave Eggers: It's a piece of garbage. Donald Trump Giant Robot Eric Nakamura, 2024-10-22 Celebrating the pop culture phenomenon that redefined what it meant to be Asian American with tributes from Margaret Cho, Randall Park, Jia Tolentino, and more. Los Angeles 1994 Two Asian American punk rockers staple together the zine of their dreams featuring Sumo, Hong Kong Cinema, and Osamu Tezuka. From the very margins of the DIY press and alternative culture, Giant Robot burst into the mainstream with over 60,000 copies in circulation annually at its peak. Giant Robot even popped right off the page, setting up a restaurant, gallery, and storefronts in LA, as well as galleries and stores in New York and San Francisco. As their influence grew in the 90s and 00s, Giant Robot was eventually invited to the White House by Barack Obama to speak at Harvard University's Graduate School of Design and to curate the GR Biennale at the Japanese American National Museum. Home to a host of unapologetically authentic perspectives bridging the bicultural gap between Asian and Asian American pop culture, GR had the audacity to print such topics side by side and become a touchstone for generations of artists, musicians, creators, and collectors of all kinds in a pre-social media era. Nowhere else were pieces on civil rights activists running next to articles on skateboarding and Sriracha. Toy collectors, cartoonists, and street style pioneers got as many column inches as Michelle Yeoh, Karen O, James Jean, and Haruki Murakami. Giant Robot: Thirty Years of Defining Asian American Pop Culture features the best of the magazine's sixty-eight issue run alongside never-before-seen photographs, supplementary writing by long-term contributing journalist Claudine Ko, and tributes from now-famous fans who've been around since day one: Margaret Cho, Daniel Wu, and Randall Park celebrate Giant Robot's enduring legacy alongside pioneering pro skateboarder Peggy Oki, contemporary art giant Takashi Murakami, culinary darling Natasha Pickowicz, and critically acclaimed essayist Jia Tolentino. In a Barbie World Anna Gotlib, Claire Elise Katz, 2025-02-28 In a Barbie World, Barbie as Narrative Symbol and Cipher brings together a group of global scholars representing different disciplines and identities to examine the myriad themes that emerge from the Greta Gerwig film Barbie. In 2023, Barbie unexpectedly became the highest-grossing film of the year and surprised audiences with its perceptive exploration of feminism and feminist philosophies. Taking an inclusive interdisciplinary approach, this collection is the first book to undertake a philosophical and academic consideration of Barbie. This collection of essays approaches the film from different disciplinary perspectives, considering it simultaneously as a cultural phenomenon and as an academic text. Chapters cover a range of topics including patriarchy, consumerism, capitalism, colonialism, sexual identity, race, recognition, relationships, mothers and daughters, queerness, girl power, feminism, and of course, its theatre rival Oppenheimer. In a Barbie World, Barbie as Narrative Symbol and Cipher offers an accessible yet scholarly contribution to the fields of gender studies, political theory, philosophy film studies bioethics and education among others It will be of value to students of these subjects at both undergraduate and graduate level as well as to broader audiences who are interested in Barbie and its themes The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license On the Road (Vagabonds #2) Jade C.
