Blanchot Romantique Hannes Opelz, 2011 The work of French writer and essayist Maurice Blanchot (1907-2003) is without doubt among the most challenging of the twentieth century. Contemporary debate in literature, philosophy, and politics has yet to fully acknowledge its discreet but enduring impact. Arising from a conference that took place in Oxford in 2009, this book sets itself a simple if daunting task: that of measuring the impact and responding to the challenge of Blanchot's work by addressing its engagement with the Romantic legacy in particular, but not only that of the Jena Romantics. Drawing upon a wide range of philosophers and poets associated directly or indirectly with German Romanticism—Kant, Fichte, Goethe, Jean Paul, Novalis, the Schlegels, Hölderlin—the authors of this volume explore how Blanchot's fictional, critical, and fragmentary texts rewrite and rethink the Romantic demand in relation to questions of criticism and reflexivity, irony and subjectivity, narrative and genre, the sublime and the neutre, the Work and the fragment, quotation and translation. Reading Blanchot with or against key twentieth-century thinkers—Benjamin, Foucault, de Man—they also examine Romantic and post-Romantic notions of history, imagination, literary theory, melancholy, affect, love, revolution, community, and other central themes that Blanchot's writings deploy across the century, from Jean Paul Sartre to Jean-Luc Nancy. This book contains contributions in both English and French.
