Patterns and Processes in the History of Life D. Jablonski,D.M. Raup,2012-12-06 Hypothesis testing is not a straightforward matter in the fossil record and here too interactions with biology can be extremely profitable Quite simply predictions regarding long term consequences of processes observed in liv ing organisms can be tested directly using paleontological data if those liv ing organisms have an adequate fossil record thus avoiding the pitfalls of extrapolative approaches We hope to see a burgeoning of this interactive effort in the coming years Framing and testing of hypotheses in paleon tological subjects inevitably raises the problem of inferring process from pattern and the consideration and elimination of a broad range of rival hy is an essential procedure here In a historical science such as

potheses paleontology the problem often arises that the events that are of most interest are unique in the history of life For example replication of the metazoan radiation at the beginning of the Cambrian is not feasible However decomposition of such problems into component hypotheses may at least in part alleviate this difficulty For example hypotheses built upon the role of species packing might be tested by comparing evolutionary dynamics both morphological and taxonomic during another global diversification such as the biotic rebound from the end Permian extinction which removed perhaps 95% of the marine species see Valentine this volume The subject of extinction and mass extinction in particular has become important in both paleobiology and biology

A New History of Life Peter Ward, Joe

Kirschvink, 2015-01-01 Charles Darwin's theories first published more than 150 years ago still set the paradigm of how we understand the evolution of life but scientific advances of recent decades have radically altered that Now two pioneering scientists draw on their years of experience in paleontology biology chemistry and astrobiology to deliver an eye opening narrative using a generation's worth of insights culled from new research Writing with zest humor and clarity Ward and Kirschvink show that many of our long held beliefs about the history of life are wrong Three central themes emerge First Ward and Kirschvink argue that catastrophe shaped life's history more than all other forces combined from notorious events like the sudden extinction of dinosaurs to the recently discovered Snowball Earth and the Great Oxygenation Event Second life consists of carbon but oxygen carbon dioxide and hydrogen sulfide determined how it evolved Third ever since Darwin we have thought of evolution in terms of species Yet it is the evolution of ecosystems from deep ocean vents to rainforests that has formed the living world as we know it Ward and Kirschvink tell a story of life on Earth that is at once fabulous and familiar And in a provocative coda they assemble discoveries from the latest cutting edge research to imagine how the history of life might unfold deep into the future
