Reconciling All Things Emmanuel Katongole, Chris Rice, 2009-12-09 Conflict resolution and peacemaking are not enough What makes real reconciliation possible Emmanuel Katongole and Chris Rice work from their experiences in Uganda and Mississippi to recover distinctively Christian practices that will help the church be both a sign and an agent of God's reconciling love in the fragmented world of the twenty first century The Baxters Devotional Karen Kingsbury, 2024-11-19 The Baxters Devotional In this book not only will you find the list of Bible verses that start each TV episode but through those verses you will also go deeper into the trials and triumphs that face the Baxters This devotional can be shared with a group but it will also be powerful in a personal setting Because it is in quiet moments that we find some of our greatest growth These thirty devotions include questions writing prompts and numerous Scriptures for a deeper biblical exploration Karen has also added stories from her own life and faith as a part of each reading Even if you have not read the Baxter books or watched The Baxters on Amazon you will gain much from this devotional Amazon.com American Book Publishing Record, 2006 Victim Healing and Truth Commissions Holly L. Guthrey, 2015-02-23 This book intends to contribute to the growing body of transitional justice literature by providing insight into how truth commissions may be beneficial to victims of mass violence based on data collected in Timor Leste and on the Solomon Islands Drawing on literature in the fields of victim psychology procedural justice and transitional justice this study is guided by the puzzle of why truth telling in post conflict settings has been found to be both helpful and harmful to victims of mass violence Existing studies have identified a range of positive benefits and negative consequences of truth telling for victims however the reasons why some victims experience a sense of healing while others do not after participating in post conflict truth commission processes continues to remain unclear Hence to address one piece of this complex puzzle this book seeks to begin clarifying how truth telling may be beneficial for victims by investigating the question What pathways lead from truth telling to victim healing in post conflict settings Building on the proposition that having voice a key component of procedural justice can help individuals to overcome the disempowerment and marginalisation of victimisation this book investigates voice as a causal mechanism that can create pathways toward healing within truth commission public hearings Comparative empirical studies that investigate how truth telling contributes to victim healing in post conflict settings are scarce in the field of transitional justice

This book begins to fill an important gap in the existing body of literature. From a practical standpoint by enhancing understanding of how truth commissions can promote healing the findings and arguments in this volume provide insight into how the design of transitional justice processes may be improved in the future to better respond to the needs of victims of mass violence.

Reading the Bible After Christendom Lloyd Pieterse, 2011-04-01 Pieterse argues that for too long the Old Testament has been the primary source for Christian ethics and the letters of Paul for Christian discipleship. Without disparaging these sources the author suggests that the church in a postmodern post-Christian society needs to look at Scripture with a different focus. This book seeks to examine what reading the Bible might look like in the current period when the church is no longer central and the Christian story is not well known. This is a provocative and refreshing exploration of the possibilities inherent in reading Scripture from the margins rather than from within the compromised and rapidly receding structures of Christendom. A worthy addition to the challenging After Christendom series. Lloyd Pieterse's thoughtful work moves the discussion forward in ways that are at times controversial at other times stretching but at all times constructive. Highly recommended. Brian Harris, Principal, Vose Seminary, Perth, Australia.
