Critical Toponymies Jani Vuolteenaho, 2017-03-02 While place names have long been studied by a few devoted specialists approaches to them have been traditionally empiricist and uncritical in character This book brings together recent works that conceptualize the hegemonic and contested practices of geographical naming The contributors guide the reader into struggles over toponymy in a multitude of national and local contexts across Europe North America New Zealand Asia and Africa In a ground breaking and multidisciplinary fashion this volume illuminates the key role of naming in the colonial silencing of indigenous cultures canonization of nationalistic ideals into nomenclature of cities and topographic maps as well as the formation of more or less fluid forms of postcolonial and urban identities The Making of New Zealand G. R.

Hawke, 1985-08-01 This book provides a comprehensive study of the economic history of New Zealand It is for use as a textbook and will be of interest to economic historians for its comprehensive coverage of the subject It provides a clear and readable account that will be accessible to those without a background in economics The book covers the period since European settlement with particular emphasis on the postwar economy It deals with the economic problems encountered in establishing a trading economy in New Zealand and in maintaining it and adapting it to the evolving international economy It looks closely at the development and performance of different sectors of the economy the influence of the government and the response to international economic conditions It also considers the way in which New Zealand society has been shaped by the problems encountered and by the solutions to those problems A Controversial Churchman Allan K.

Davidson, 2021-05-03 New Zealand's first Anglican bishop George Selwyn was a towering figure in the young colony Denounced as a turbulent priest for speaking out against Crown practices that dispossessed M ori he brought a vigorous approach to Episcopal leadership His wife Sarah Selwyn supported all her husband's activities in a life characterised as one of hardship and anxiety She expressed independently her sense of outrage over the Waitara dispute Selwyn promoted participatory church government founded the innovative Melanesian Mission and developed a distinctive style of colonial church architecture More controversially he battled with the Church Missionary Society and was caught up in the bitter maelstrom of settler and M ori politics His personal links with colonial and ecclesiastical networks gave him access to the heart of empire These essays offer new insights into Selwyn's role in developing pan Anglicanism strengthening links between the Church of England and the Episcopal and Anglican Churches in North America and his time as Bishop of Lichfield 1868-78 His place in Treaty history as a political commentator and a valuable source of historical information is recognised George Selwyn left a large imprint on New Zealand church and society This collection both honours and critiques a controversial bishop Contributors include Ken Booth Judith Bright Terry M Brown Janet E Crawford Bruce Kaye Warren E Limbrick Jonathan Mane Wheoki Grant Phillipson John Stenhouse and Rowan Strong From Empire's Servant to Global Citizen Michael Belgrave, 2016-12-01 The vision of two young scientists Massey University was established in 1928 to bring science to New Zealand's role as Britain's farm Massey has since become New Zealand's national and a global university with almost 140 000 alumni spread across 140 different nations This candid history looks at the university as it weathered war funding crises risk taking expansion and conflict with the government's plans for New Zealand's tertiary sector Written by distinguished historian Professor Michael Belgrave this is a lively look at how an agricultural college grew up to become a leading intellectual centre of excellence

The Making of the New Zealand Press Patrick Day, 1990 Who owned the first newspapers in New Zealand and how did they get started What were the logistics of such an enterprise What sort of readership did they attract What exactly was the role of the newspaper in colonial society Patrick Day gives a comprehensive account of the evolving forms and functions of newspapers in this crucial period He describes those changes which saw newspapers shift from being political discussion forums for higher status politicians to profit oriented businesses concerned with advertising and newsgiving Offering a revealing picture of how power was organised through a nascent press this book is a significant contribution to our understanding of the forces that shaped journalism Back cover

The Shaping of History Judith Binney, 2021-05-07 The writing of history will only flourish if there is a vehicle for its publication such as Sir Keith Sinclair's vision when he founded The New Zealand Journal of History in 1967 Since then the journal has been the conduit for a flow of remarkable history writing The Shaping of History brings together a selection of essays from its first 30 years by some of the nation's best known historians including Judith Binney Tipene O'Regan Claudia Orange Barbara Brookes Alan Ward Jock Phillips and Jamie Belich Their sharp analysis and great storytelling make the collection an essential resource for understanding how New Zealand history is shaped

The Making of New Zealand Cricket Greg Ryan, 2004-08-02 It is generally forgotten that cricket rather than rugby union was the national game in New Zealand until the early years of the twentieth century This book shows why and how cricket developed in New Zealand and how its character changed across time Greg Ryan examines the emergence and growth of cricket in relation to diverse patterns of European settlement in New Zealand such as the systematic colonization schemes of Edward Gibbon Wakefield and the gold discoveries of the 1860s He then considers issues such as cricket and social class in the emerging cities cricket and the elite school system the function of the game in shaping relations between the New Zealand provinces cricket encounters with the Australian colonies in the context of an Australasian world A central theme is cricketing relations with England at a time when New Zealand society was becoming acutely conscious of both its own identity and its place within the British Empire This imperial relationship reveals structures ideals and objectives unique to New Zealand Articulate engaging and entertaining Ryan demonstrates convincingly how the cricketing experience of New Zealand was quite different from that of other colonies
