Making History Textuality And The Forms Of Eighteenth Century Culture

Devoney Looser

Making History Textuality And The Forms Of Eighteenth Century Culture:

Making History Greg Clingham,1998 By identifying a dialogical rather than monological relation between postmodern and Enlightenment discourses and texts Making History offers a theoretically and historically nuanced account of eighteenth century cultures and makes a timely and original contribution to the study of the eighteenth century and its dialogue with postmodernism

A Clubbable Man Anthony W Lee,2022-06-17 Gathering essays by some of the most distinguished scholars in eighteenth century studies A Clubbable Man takes as its theme textual and social group formations while simultaneously honoring the achievements of Greg Clingham Rounding out the collection are tributes from former students and colleagues including original poetry

Johnson, Writing, and Memory Greg Clingham,2002-09-05 This study demonstrates the importance of memory in Samuel Johnson s work Greg Clingham argues that this concept of memory is derived from the process of historical and creative writing it is embodied in works of literature and other cultural forms He examines Johnson s writing including his biographical writing as it intersects with eighteenth century thought on literature history fiction and law and its subsequent compatibility with and resistance to modern theory

British Women Writers and the Writing of History, 1670-1820 Devoney Looser,2000 Chosen by Choice Magazine as an Outstanding Academic Title Until recently history writing has been understood as a male enclave from which women were restricted particularly prior to the nineteenth century The first book to look at British women writers and their contributions to historiography during the long eighteenth century British Women Writers and the Writing of History 1670 1820 asks why rather than writing history that included their own sex some women of this period chose to write the same kind of history as men one that marginalized or excluded women altogether But as Devoney Looser demonstrates although British women s historically informed writings were not necessarily feminist or even female focused they were intimately involved in debates over and conversations about the genre of history Looser investigates the careers of Lucy Hutchinson Lady Mary Wortley Montagu Charlotte Lennox Catharine Macaulay Hester Lynch Piozzi and Jane Austen and shows how each of their contributions to historical discourse differed greatly as a result of political historical religious class and generic affiliations Adding their contributions to accounts of early modern writing refutes the assumption that historiography was an exclusive men s club and that fiction was the only prose genre open to women

History and Memory Harold Schweizer,1998 These essays examine the relationship between history and suffering and ask what forms of narrative could articulate such a relationship They refer to writers from Sophocles to Celan from Wordsworth to Thomas Bernhard and from Proust to Benjamin Fondane

The Discourse of Sensibility Henry Martyn Lloyd,2013-12-12 This volume reconstructs the body of sensibility and the discourse which constructed it The discourse of sensibility was deployed very widely throughout the mid to late eighteenth century particularly in France and Britain To inquire into the body of sensibility is then necessarily to enter into an interdisciplinary space and so to invite the plurality of methodological approaches which this collection exemplifies The chapters collected

here draw together the histories of literature and aesthetics metaphysics and epistemology moral theory medicine and cultural history Together they contribute to four major themes First the collection reconstructs various modes by which the sympathetic subject was construed or scripted including through the theatre poetry literature and medical and philosophical treatises It secondly draws out those techniques of affective pedagogy which were implied by the medicalisation of the knowing body and thirdly highlights the manner in which the body of sensibility was constructed as simultaneously particular and universal Finally it illustrates the centrifugal forces at play within the discourse and the anxiety which often accompanied them At the centre of eighteenth century thought was a very particular object the body of sensibility the Enlightenment's knowing body The persona of the knowledge seeker was constructed by drawing together mind and matter thought and feeling And so where the Enlightenment thinker is generally associated with reason truth telling and social and political reform the Enlightenment is also known for its valorisation of emotion During the period intellectual pursuits were envisioned as having a distinctly embodied and emotional aspect The body of sensibility encompassed these apparently disparate strands and was associated with terms including sentimental sentiment sense sensation and sympathy

Creating Romanticism S. Ruston, 2013-05-29 This book argues that the term Romanticism should be more culturally inclusive recognizing the importance of scientific and medical ideas that helped shape some of the key concepts of the period such as natural rights the creative imagination and the sublime

Rebellious Hearts Adriana Craciun, Kari E.

Lokke, 2001-05-24 This pathbreaking collection engages in the important new work of rediscovering the hundreds of British women writing during the Romantic period women who we now realize were central not marginal to the poetics and ideologies of Romanticism Yet no previous volume has focused on British women's responses to the French Revolution and the Napoleonic wars or on their participation in the social economic religious and poetic debates surrounding these political conflicts As the first book to represent the full spectrum of women's participation in the Revolutionary debates Rebellious Hearts uncovers a rich new field of literary and historical scholarship

Questioning History Greg Clingham, 1998-07 Traditional eighteenth century paradigms of reason truth and nature underlie modern concepts of self gender sex etc that are challenged today in the name of a more liberated and pluralistic problematics This book is the first of two volumes of essays that identify this postmodern challenge It examines the historiography of postmodern phenomena in relation to the eighteenth century texts that they ventriloquize More essays on the topic are contained in Making History Bucknell Review Vol 42 No 1

Translation and Culture Katherine M. Faull, 2004 How we view the foreign presented either in the interrelated forms of culture language or text determines to a large degree the way in which we translate This volume of essays examines the cultural politics of translation that have determined the production and dissemination of the foreign in domestic cultures as varied as contemporary North America Europe and Israel The essays address from a variety of theoretical perspectives the question posed almost two hundred years ago by the German philosopher Friedrich

Schleiermacher of whether the translator should foreignize the domestic or domesticate the foreign Joel Barlow's Columbiad Steven Blakemore, 2007 Steven Blakemore offers a close reading of The Columbiad within the context of contemporary national debates over the significance of America. In doing so he helps the reader understand the variety of national discourses that Barlow was promoting, challenging or subverting. Long neglected, The Columbiad fundamentally engages the core issues and strategies of national self definition and the creation of a vital republican culture. This book will appeal to all those interested in early American literature, the literature of the early Republic and American literary nationalism. Conversion and Reform in the British Novel in the 1790s A. Markley, 2008-12-22

Conversion and Reform analyzes the work of those British reformists writing in the 1790s who reshaped the conventions of fiction to reposition the novel as a progressive political tool. Includes new readings of key figures such as Mary Wollstonecraft and Thomas Holcroft.

The Castle of Otranto and The Mysterious Mother Horace Walpole, 2003-01-02 This Broadview edition pairs the first Gothic novel with the first Gothic drama, both by Horace Walpole. Published on Christmas Eve 1764 on Walpole's private press at Strawberry Hill, his Gothicized country house, The Castle of Otranto became an instant and immediate classic of the Gothic genre as well as the prototype for Gothic fiction for the next two hundred years. Walpole's brooding and intense drama The Mysterious Mother focuses on the protagonist's angst over an act of incest with his mother and includes the appearance of Father Benedict, Gothic literature's first evil monk. Appendices in this edition include selections from Walpole's letters, contemporary responses and writings illustrating the aesthetic and intellectual climate of the period. Also included is Sir Walter Scott's introduction to the 1811 edition of The Castle of Otranto. Rites of Passage in Ancient Greece Mark William Padilla, 1999

This volume reflects on liminality as it relates to initiatory themes in Greek literature and on literary works, especially tragedy, that represent heroes and heroines undergoing rites of passage. Featured works include Aeschylus's Prometheus Bound, Euripides' Ion and Iphigenia in Tauris, and Sophocles' Antigone and Women of Trachis. Lorca, Buñuel, Dalí Manuel Delgado, Alice Jan Poust, 2001 This volume of essays commemorates and celebrates the creative works of Federico Garcia Lorca, Salvador Dalí and Luis Buñuel, three contemporaries and friends. The essays suggest that the artistic creations of Lorca, Dalí and Buñuel feature theoretical ideas on their contemporary art in general as well as on the particular art form cultivated by each, ideas that help us to better understand their work as it relates to a wide range of aesthetic theories.

New Essays in Ecofeminist Literary Criticism Glynis Carr, 2000 The present volume gathers new essays in ecofeminist literary criticism and theory that extend this critical trajectory for ecocriticism in the context of social eco feminist theory and practice. BOOK JACKET Collecting Women Chantel M. Lavoie, 2009 This book addresses the place of women writers in anthologies and other literary collections in eighteenth century England. It explores and contextualizes the ways in which two different kinds of printed material, poetic miscellanies and biographical collections, complemented one another in defining expectations about the woman writer. Far more than the single authored text, it was the collection in one form or another that invested poems and their authors with authority By attending to this fascinating cultural context Chantel Lavoie explores how women poets were placed posthumously in the world of eighteenth century English letters Investigating the lives and works of four well known poets Katherine Philips Aphra Behn Anne Finch and Elizabeth Rowe Lavoie illuminates the way in which celebrated women were collected alongside their poetry the effect of collocation on individual reputations and the intersection between bibliography and biography as female poets themselves became curiosities In so doing Collecting Women contributes to the understanding of the intersection of cultural history canon formation and literary collecting in eighteenth century England Caribbean Cultural Identities Glyne A. Griffith, 2001 The eight essays in this edition analyze Caribbean culture less as commodity to be consumed than as ontological device and discursive tool weapon BOOK JACKET

Art and the Religious Impulse Eric Michael Mazur, 2002 This collection explores the relationship between religion and the arts and challenges presumptions held in society about these two fields Topics covered include church architecture folk art nineteenth century classical music contemporary fiction recent film performance art and the battles over public funding of the arts Representing and Interrogating Dueling, Caning, and Fencing during the British Romantic Period William D. Brewer, 2025-02-21 Representing and Interrogating Dueling, Caning and Fencing during the British Romantic Period examines Romantic era representations of physical interpersonal conflict and the ways in which they reflect challenge and subvert gender roles class hierarchies and racial and ethnic stereotypes Along with fictional depictions of one on one physical aggression by writers such as Mary Robinson William Godwin Walter Scott Lord Byron and Mary Shelley it considers historical accounts of honor violence While recent studies of honor disputes during the Romantic period have tended to focus on the codified formal duel this book considers other forms of physical aggression as well including unritualized duels assassinations canings public fencing bouts boxing matches and brawls William Brewer argues that many Romantic era Britons found the aristocratic chivalric code compatible with bourgeois commercial values Although the middle classes were on the ascendant during the decades before the Great Reform Bill British society continued to affirm the chivalric ideals of honor physical courage duty service loyalty and reverence toward women Romantic period representations and interrogations of physical conflict and toxic masculinity along with the affirmative portrayals in Mary Shelley's fiction of pacifistic and nurturing models of masculinity continue to resonate today and testify to the ongoing struggle to contend with and regulate interpersonal aggression
