addresses the technologies and systems that monitor changes in fisheries resources and marine ecosystems using two approaches fishery dependent and fishery independent data It also describes acoustic surveys and biological sampling as well as stock assessment methods Part III examines management models for effectively assessing the natural variability in fisheries resources The authors explore ways of determining the allowable catch in response to changes in stock abundance and how to incorporate ecological processes and monitoring procedures into management models This book offers readers a broad understanding of sustainable exploitation as well as insights into fisheries management for the next generation
