New Studies in Multimodality Ognyan Seizov, Janina Wildfeuer, 2017-07-27. Multimodality is one of the most popular and influential semiotic theories for analysing media. However, the application and conceptual anchoring of multimodality often remains geographically and disciplinarily grounded within local systems of thought. New Studies in Multimodality combines the expertise of multimodalists from around the globe, offering novel readings and applications of central concepts in multimodality and inviting innovative synergies between previously disparate schools. Combining perspectives from the most actively developing traditions of theory and research, this book progresses from classic concepts to more empirically and practice motivated contributions. Contributors engage in mutual dialogue to present new theoretical perspectives and compelling applications to a variety of old and new media. Expanding the basis and scope of multimodality, this volume shows awareness and experience of this field in many disciplines and illustrates how versatile, pervasive and relevant it is for studying today's communication phenomena. Islam and its Reflection in Contemporary British Literature. A Course Book Matthias Dickert, 2015-05-04 Scientific Essay from the year 2015 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Literature Comenius University in Bratislava language English abstract The key position of Muslim writers in the contemporary English speaking novel is undoubted Muslim writing itself is a logical consequence of postcolonial writing which has been marked by Caribbean African and Muslim authors at the same time Whereas Caribbean writers focus on concepts such as nation or nationalism Black writers seem to reflect a notion which is widely understood by cultural memory Muslim writing on its behalf centers on the catchphrase identity since it considers Islam as a perfect identity marker for the novel This Muslim otherness is rooted in a religion which has for too long been looked upon from Said s concept of otherness which is based on Foucault s notion of power and knowledge It is here where the dualistic concept of East and West is constructed which sees both sides as antagonistic spheres It also in this background where author and reader finally have to discuss this Muslim otherness apart from their minds It is therefore this religious otherness based on religion which makes it extremely difficult for Western readers to fully understand Muslim characters This is due to the fact that Islam is not only a religious idea of the world it is also a total concept of Muslim existence since it covers all spheres of Muslim existence the religious the social the legal and the political The intention of this essay therefore is to give a short survey of Muslim writing over the last 30 years

The aim is to shortly reflect the incorporation of Islam into the novel a development which has been marked by N nning N nning with the term cross fertilization thus refering to the close link between narration and religion The focus of the chosen novels hoowever lies on identity a term marked by the concept of modern man being a migrant or a nomad thus also reflecting the consequences of migration waves and the phenomenon of globalization The paper starts with a sociological and religious background before it shortly deals with The Satanic Verses The Black Album Brick Lane The Reluctant Fundamentalist and Guantanamo Boy The aim ist o give a short survey oft he question of Muslim identity during the last 30 years
