or shaped them in one or another way from classical Antiquity through the Middle Ages and the Renaissance to the present. The four essays it contains focusing on light water color and sound in architecture are written by an author who is a historian and critic of architecture as well as literary scholar who firmly believes in the value of discussing these issues from the perspective of the history of ideas. The author is conscious about the limits of any generalizations but he believes that architecture should be studied not only as an art in its own right but as something larger enveloping many layers of culture and reflecting the bonds between human thinking and the practice of the art of building.
