New Feminist Stories Of Child Sexual Abuse:

New Feminist Stories of Child Sexual Abuse Paula Reavey, Sam Warner, 2003 Child sexual abuse is a multifaceted event interpreted in many different ways in many different contexts In New Feminist Stories of Child Sexual Abuse contributors try to untangle some of the complex ways in which stories of child sexual abuse are translated through and into personal professional and social politics The first section of the book explores the cultural and political landscape of child sexual abuse in Western and non Western contexts It examines the ways in which radical aspects of feminism can be undermined in Western cultures and how Westernised ideologies of childhood sex and gender have been used to structure discussions about child sexual abuse across the world The second section traces the effects of these wider cultural and political narratives through the various contexts in which child sexual abuse is theorised and around which interventions in the lives of women are structured It provides insights into how traditional approaches to understanding harm can be challenged and reworked in practice using alternative therapeutic models based on feminist post structuralist agendas Reworking earlier feminist analyses New Feminist Stories of Child Sexual Abuse asks pertinent questions about how child sexual abuse is produced rather than merely represented in the ways we speak about it

The Madness of Women Jane Professor Ussher, Jane M. Ussher, 2011-03-28 Nominated for the 2012 Distinguished Publication Award of the Association for Women in Psychology Why are women more likely to be positioned or diagnosed as mad than men If madness is a social construction a gendered label as many feminist critics would argue how can we understand and explain women s prolonged misery and distress In turn can we prevent or treat women s distress in a non pathologising women centred way The Madness of Women addresses these questions through a rigorous exploration of the myths and realities of women s madness Drawing on academic and clinical experience including case studies and in depth interviews as well as on the now extensive critical literature in the field of mental health Jane Ussher presents a critical multifactorial analysis of women s madness that both addresses the notion that madness is a myth and yet acknowledges the reality and multiple causes of women s distress Topics include The genealogy of women s madness incarceration of difficult or deviant women Regulation through treatment Deconstructing depression PMS and borderline personality disorder Madness as a reasonable response to objectification and sexual violence Women s narratives of resistance This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of psychology gender studies sociology women s studies cultural studies counselling and nursing

Using Social Theory in Higher Education Remy Y.S. Low, Suzanne Egan, Amani Bell, 2023-10-13 This open access book offers a unique and refreshing view on working with social theory in higher education Using engaging first person accounts coupled with critical intellectual analysis the authors demonstrate how theory is grappled with as part of an ongoing practice rather than a momentary disembodied encounter In a structure that creates a space for relational dialogue each chapter is followed by a response from another author demonstrating the varied interpretive possibilities of social theory Collectively the authors invite the reader to engage with them in questioning the usefulness of social theory in higher education teaching and research in considering its possibilities and limits and in experiencing the opportunity it offers to understand ourselves and our work differently Written in a way that is scholarly yet accessible the contributors explore how social theories can be used to think through issues that are emerging as key social and political concerns in higher education and beyond The book will be of interest to advanced undergraduates postgraduates and early career academics as well as established scholars

Just Sex? Nicola Gavey, 2013-10-14 Winner of the Association for Women In Psychology 2006 Distinguished Publication Award The past two decades have witnessed a significant shift in how rape is understood in Western societies This shift in perception has revealed the startling frequency of occurrences of date rape obscuring the divide between rape and what was once just sex Just Sex combines an overview of the existing literature with an analysis of recent research to examine the psychological and cultural implications of this new epidemic. The result is the conclusion that feminist theory on sexual victimisation has gone both too far and not far enough. The reader is presented with a challenging and original perspective on the issues of rape, sex and the body incorporating subjects including rape as a social problem, the social constructionism of sex, subjectivity and the body, heterosexuality under the microscope. This book succeeds in making a valuable contribution to feminist and social constructionist work on rape that will be of interest to those studying psychology, gender studies, cultural studies and sociology. Just Sex: The Cultural Scaffolding of Rape was selected as a 2005 winner of AWP's Association for Women in Psychology distinguished publication award.

Memory Matters Janice Haaken, Paula Reavey, 2009-09-10 This book is grounded in the debates of the 1980s and 1990s that surrounded recollections of childhood sexual abuse, particularly those that emerged in the context of psychotherapy. When growing numbers of therapists claimed that they were recovering deeply repressed memories of early sexual violations in their female clients, a wave of alarmed critics countered that therapists were implanting the very memories they were discovering. In looking back at this volatile and heated controversy, Memory Matters takes up disturbing questions that linger concerning memory, sexuality and childhood. Beginning with a re-analysis of cases from the recovered memory era, the volume goes on to offer fresh perspectives on recollections of childhood sexual abuse. Informed by feminist and critical perspectives within psychology, contributing authors introduce examples from their own qualitative research on processes of remembering. They offer rich examples from a wide range of applied settings: from the courts, psychotherapy institutions for the disabled, to self-help groups and the media. A shared set of questions is addressed by each of the authors to create a dialogue with the reader on recurring motifs. Memory Matters is an ideal resource for advanced undergraduate and postgraduate students in the social sciences and legal studies, as well as practitioners in the fields of mental health, crisis services and the law. Scholarly and accessible in tone, the book also offers helpful insights for professionals working with childhood memory.

Hard Knocks Janice Haaken, 2010-06-10 This book draws on interviews carried out over a period of eight years, as well as novels, films and domestic violence literature, to explain the role of storytelling in the history of the battered women's movement. The author shows how cultural contexts shape how stories about domestic abuse get told and offers critical tools for bringing psychology into discussions of group dynamics in the domestic violence field. The book enlists psychoanalytic feminist theory to analyse storytelling practices and to re-visit four areas of tension in the movement where signs of battle fatigue have been most acute. These areas include the conflicts that emerge between the battered women's movement and the state, the complex relationship between domestic violence and other social problems, and the question of whether woman battering is a special case that differs from other forms of social violence The volume also looks at the tensions between groups of women within the movement and how to address differences based on race class or other dimensions of power Finally the book explores the contentious issue of how to acknowledge forms of female aggression while still preserving a gender analysis of intimate partner violence In attending to narrative dynamics in the history of domestic violence work Hard Knocks presents a radical re reading of the contribution of psychology to feminist interventions and activism The book is ideal reading for scholars activists advocates and policy planners involved in domestic violence and is suitable for students of psychology social work sociology and criminology

The Body and Consent in Psychology, Psychiatry, and Medicine Jemma Tosh, 2019-11-27 This groundbreaking text interrogates the constructed boundary between therapy and violence by examining therapeutic practice and discourse through the lens of a psychologist and a survivor of sexual abuse It asks what happens when those we approach for help cause further harm Can we identify coercive practices and stop sexual abuse in psychology psychiatry and medicine Tosh explores these questions and more to illustrate that many of the therapies considered fundamental to clinical practice are deeply problematic when issues of consent and sexual abuse are considered The book examines a range of situations where medical power and authority produces a context where the refusals and non consent of oppressed groups are denied dismissed or ignored arguing that key concepts and discourses have resulted in the production and standardisation of a therapeutic rape culture in the helping professions Tosh uses critical intersectionality theory and discourse analysis to expertly highlight the complex interrelationships between race class gender sexuality and disability in our understanding of abuse and how we define survivors Drawing on a wide range of comprehensive examples including experiences and perspectives from cisgender and transgender men and women as well as nonbinary and intersex people this is essential reading for students and researchers of critical and queer psychology gender studies as well as mental health practitioners and social workers
