Public Procurement Global Revolution:

Public Procurement Sue Arrowsmith, Keith Hartley, 2002 Public procurement is big business International organisations and governments at national regional state and city levels are major buyers of goods and services However public procurement is a relatively under researched and new discipline which uniquely brings together contributions from the fields of economics and law This two volume set presents some of the major contributions in the field It includes papers on outsourcing versus internal provision public procurement and the role of competition and transparency corruption public procurement as a tool of industrial social and environmental policy public procurement as a trade barrier and its regulation under international trade agreements and enforcing public procurement rules Public Procurement University of Nottingham. School of Law, George Washington University. Law School, 2006 "Public Procurement University of Wales. Public Procurement Research Group. Conference, 1997 Regulation Public Procurement - National and International Perspectives Sue Arrowsmith, John Linarelli, Don Wallace, 2000-04-17 Three international leaders in public procurement law fully explain how the procurement award process must be managed to achieve its goals in global market economy controversial and problematic instrumental uses of public procurement practices This work offers an innovative comparative approach discussing the ways in which the different international instruments namely the EU Procurement Directives the WTO Agreement on Government Procurement the UNCITRAL Model Law and the World Bank's Procurement Framework are able to implement labour and social purposes and at the same time ensure a regulatory balance with the principles of efficiency and non discrimination Scholarly rigorous and timely this will be important reading for international trade lawyers and procurement practitioners

An Architect's Guide to Public Procurement Fin Garvey, 2019-07-25 There is suspicion in the UK and across Europe that the upcoming introduction of new European Directives will encourage a regime of conservatism and legal risk aversion fostering the delivery of mediocre and banal building design This book dispels these myths and instead looks at the genuine impact of EU law on architectural practice Engaging in public sector work requires a broad understanding of this seemingly complex and constantly evolving subject and unlike other texts the book is designed to explore public procurement from the perspective of the architect An easy to follow guide through the complex legal and technical jargon involved in the procurement process the book provides practical tools which will assist architects in developing their own clear procurement strategy Although written with a UK audience in mind the advice will also be applicable to other European jurisdictions It is invaluable reading for existing practitioners wishing to expand their current involvement in the public procurement process as well as those encountering it for the first time

Buying into the Environment Christoph

Erdmenger,2017-09-08 Green purchasing or eco procurement by local and central governments has long been recommended in documents such as Agenda 21 to be a key although sometimes supplemental ingredient in the achievement of more environmentally responsible economies Certainly sustainable consumption cannot be considered a realistic goal without the full engagement of public authorities Many initiatives have been undertaken in OECD countries most successfully in Japan and Denmark where green public purchasing has been proven to be workable and highly effective while in other countries city municipalities have successfully pioneered the development of sophisticated public environmental purchasing policies However for the vast majority of countries and their major cities the potential for green public purchasing remains woefully untapped A key question is what would be the environmental impact if the majority of cities in Europe replicated the success stories of those leading the way Public procurement has after all been an important tool in achieving other public policy goals such as defence Why should it not be used as a tool to defend the environment The RELIEF project funded by the EU s City of Tomorrow and Cultural Heritage programme was established to answer exactly this question to define the true potential of eco procurement and to develop a strategy for change in Europe Buying into the Environment is the result of the research segment of the project which has now been completed A further stage to design a Europe wide action plan will follow in 2004 The book organised under the auspices of the International Council on Local Environmental Initiatives ICLEI analyses national approaches already tested and provides in depth surveys on the pioneer cities such as Hamburg Malmo and Zurich Serious attention is given to city specific hurdles which have been faced and overcome The most relevant product groups for eco procurement such as construction transport energy information technology furniture and food are also analysed Uniquely the book also provides calculations on the environmental benefits potentially achievable through greener purchasing Tools were developed and tested by the RELIEF researchers on the environmental assessment of products public buying power and on evaluations of market conditions in order to provide scenarios for the application of green purchasing at a European level The conclusions are that there is huge potential for both local and central governments to adapt their behaviour patterns and purchase in a more environmentally responsible way For example 18% of the EU s Kyoto Protocol commitment could be achieved if major cities in the European Union purchased green electricity The results are complemented by new ideas on how best to foster innovation in public contractual arrangements to encourage the development of products such as super energy efficient computers and fuel cells and how the legal system may require adaptation and reform The results presented in this book will provide an indispensable resource for municipalities governments researchers and business practitioners looking for answers on how public procurement can have a fundamental and manifestly positive effect on the environment

Social and Environmental Policies in EC Procurement Law Sue Arrowsmith,Peter Kunzlik,2009-02-19 In developing public procurement policy governments are often concerned not only with value for money but also with promoting their social and environmental objectives However imposing social and environmental requirements makes it harder for some suppliers to participate in public procurement EC law thus limits the ability of national governments to implement such policies But how should the balance be struck between these trade concerns and the desire of national governments to use procurement as a policy tool And should the EC even harness Member States procurement power to EC wide objectives such as green energy policy Despite the new provisions included in the EC s new 2004 procurement directives important issues remain unresolved This volume focusses on new issues in the field notably the innovative provisions in the new directives new academic thinking and areas neglected in the debate such as the impact of EC law on the CSR policies of private utilities

Procurement Reform and Governance in Africa S.N. Nyeck, 2016-06-29 This book presents an interdisciplinary exploration of the governance of public procurement reform in Africa Through a bottom up approach to case studies and comparative analyses scholars practitioners and social activists write about the organizational mechanisms and implementation gaps in public procurement governance in light of the general premises of national reform Reforming the ways in which government purchases works goods and services from the private sector is one of the most sweeping policy reform undertaken in Africa in the past decade Despite the transnational scope of policy change very little is known about the mechanisms of public procurement governance at the subnational level The argument in this volume is that policy reforms that mitigate contractual hazards along the three dimensional law politics business matrix are more likely to bring about meaningful institutional transformation and broader social accountability Key to substantive transformation of public procurement is the revitalization and professionalization of the public sector to meet the opportunities and challenges of development by contract targets and the African continent has as such been experiencing transformation particularly since the introduction of public private partnerships PPP as a measure of reform and method of procurement Unfortunately there is a mixed bag of successes and challenges through this implementation of PPPs causing a gap in infrastructure leaving more than 640 million Africans without access to energy Muhiya Tshombe Lukamba Thekiso Molokwane Alex Nduhura and Innocent Nuwagaba in Public Private Partnerships in Africa Exploring Africa's Growth Potential explore ways in which the government can collaborate with the private sector in order to close these gaps The chapters analyze the implementation of PPPs and provide case studies on the use of PPPs in different African countries and industry sectors This book unearths new findings on PPPs within Africa and provides solutions that are beneficial to scholars the government and the PPP industry through the theoretical underpinning of various contemporary issues

The WTO Regime on Government Procurement Sue Arrowsmith, Robert D. Anderson, 2011-04-28 Originally an important but relatively obscure plurilateral instrument the WTO Agreement on Government Procurement GPA is now becoming a pillar of the WTO system as a result of important developments since the Uruguay Round This collection examines the issues and challenges that this raises for the GPA as well as future prospects for addressing government procurement at a multilateral level Coverage includes issues relating to pending accessions to the GPA particularly those of developing countries with a large state sector such as China the revised provisionally agreed GPA text of 2006 including provisions on electronic procurement and Special and Differential Treatment for Developing Countries and procurement provisions in regional trade agreements and their significance for the multilateral system Attention is also given to emerging issues especially those concerning environmental social and SME policy competition law and the implications of the recent economic crisis

The Legality of Bailouts and Buy Nationals Kamala Dawar, 2017-09-21 This book offers a well argued and insightful critical assessment of the shortcomings of international trade and competition rules in tackling interventionist State measures in the context of an economic crisis Dawar offers an evidence rich account of the challenges that State protectionism creates for international trade liberalisation and for the protection of competition in international markets Her insights will be particularly interesting in the context of current events leading to another surge of State economic interventionism both for academics and for policy makers with an interest in international trade Dr Albert Sanchez Graells University of Bristol Law School This book bursts the bubble of the self congratulatory attitude that existing institutions which were set up to discipline governments from a race to the bottom on economic policy worked well after the financial crisis These institutions may have prevented tariff wars a big achievement compared to the time of the Great Depression But they went along with the subsidies and state aid that governments put in place after 2007 Such flexibility on economic policy is essential in turbulent times But these institutions are undermined if flexibility comes with a race to the bottom that shifts money away from policies for the more marginalized sections of society At a time when the left behinds are changing the political landscape of the world Kamala's book debunks the myth of the success of existing institutions in containing the economic fallout of the global financial crisis It gives a sobering warning of what might unfold when institutions deal with economic challenges by turning a blind eye to their own rules for checking unfair competition Dr Swati Dhingra Senior Lecturer at the Department of Economics London School of Economics An impressive contribution to our understanding of the financial crisis Dawar s reading of bailouts and buy national through the lens of competition law and government procurement law and policy is inspirational Professor Mary E Footer University of Nottingham School of Law The diplomatic fiction that during the crisis years regional and global trade rules ensured a level commercial playing field is skewered by Dawar s trenchant legal analysis Professor Simon Evenett University of St Gallen This book examines the international regulation of crises bailouts and buy national policies It undertakes this research with specific reference to the crisis years 2008 2012 The book includes a comparative analysis of the regulation of public procurement and subsidies aid at both multilateral and regional levels identifying the strengths and weakness in the WTO legal framework and selected regional trade agreements RTAs Ultimately the aim of this work is to provide options for improving the consistency of these laws and the regulation of these markets This is of immediate relevance for good economic governance as well as for managing future systemic financial crises in the interests of citizens as tax payers and consumers
