Race and Racism in Education Liz Jackson, Michael A. Peters, 2022-12-09 Racism has been endemic in the history of western societies while the nature of race as a social category of difference is controversial and rigorously contested from scholarly and everyday perspectives today This edited collection traces the history of considerations of the meaning and importance of race and racism in society and education through a deep dive into the contents of the archives of the journal Educational Philosophy and Theory Journal articles from the 1970s to today have been carefully selected throughout the text to showcase the trends and transformations in the field of educational philosophy over time While historically western analytic philosophy of education did not focus particularly on race and racism this changed in the 1990s with the emergence of critical conversations about social justice that moved beyond liberal models More recently historical and theoretical accounts have sought to understand the processes of racialization in depth as well as the intersectional nature of race privilege and discrimination across contemporary diverse societies worldwide Taken together the pieces in this book illustrates both the history of theorizing about race and racism in educational philosophy and theory as well as the breadth of present day concerns This collection provides a foundation for developing a historical understanding of the position of race and racism in philosophy of education while it also inspires new works in Critical Race Theory Black and African Studies critical pedagogy and related areas Additionally it will inspire educators and scholars across diverse fields to further consider the significance of race and racism in education and in research in the present age

The Broken Cisterns of African American Education M. Christopher Brown, RoSusan D. Bartee, 2008-12-01 The failure of American education to achieve racial diversity has resulted from the inability of educational researchers policy makers and judicial officials to disentangle the complex definitions that have emerged in a post segregated society More specifically the capricious aim of post segregated educational settings leads to the confusing and often conflicting interchangeable usage of terms desegregated integrated and diversity This ambiguity is further confounded by the imprecise definitions of equity equality and opportunity The proposed book will examine the role of language post Brown v Board of Education and the effects of that language on educational policy and practice He also examines how the fundamental implications of language within post Brown court cases in pre through post secondary education demonstrate the unspecified outcomes for desegregation and integration while concomitantly demand an educational continuum of equitable distribution The arguments will further interrogate how education policy and practices implicitly contain a scholarly roadmap to forge equal opportunity and access fifty years after Brown

Multiculturalism Still Matters in Education and Society Festus E. Obiakor, 2021-06-01 Today we live in changing times and how we respond to these changes creates some uneasiness in our daily lives Some of these changes reflect demographic shifts in power and paradigm in the United States while others reflect the reckless assumption that our problems are insurmountable Multiculturalism Still Matters in Education and Society Responding to Changing Times urges us to collaborate consult and cooperate for our common good It rightly emphasizes that multiculturalism will always matter in whatever we do in our complex world In addition it challenges us to continue to see differences as strengths that must be valued in dealing with our students educational professionals leaders and communities Finally this book inspires us to expand our discourses create avenues for hearty conversations look for ways to make invisible voices visible and help culturally and linguistically diverse CLD and vulnerable populations to maximize their fullest potential

Historically Black College Leadership & Social Transformation Vickie L. Suggs, 2014-01-01 Historically Black College Leadership Social Transformation Little research has been conducted to identify aspects of effective social transformation leadership in American college and university leadership The authors of this book argue that while much less has been done at predominantly White institutions to practically apply the processes of social transformation as a leadership model HBCUs have historically relied upon strategies of social transformation as they sought to build and sustain the distinct mission of their institutions that enhance college access inclusion and choice This publication is intended to serve as a departure from the examination of the typology of transformation leadership in the private sector and instead view this leadership model through the lens of higher education The authors intent is to focus on institutional leadership at historically Black colleges and universities HBCUs and provide a deeper understanding of the Social Change Model and how it can be successfully situated as a conduit for realizing and sustaining the mission of Black colleges from perspectives of the past present and future

Black Collegiate Athletes and the Neoliberal State Albert Y. Bimper Jr.,2020-07-24 This study analyzes sociocultural productions of power knowledge identity and resistance through the lens of race in collegiate athletics Drawing on research at multiple institutions the author examines the lived experiences of current black student athletes pursuing their education and competing for elite NCAA Division 1 athletic departments The author situates the experiences of black athletes within the complexities of the American dream arguing that neoliberal beliefs and practices have perpetuated racial inequality through the system of collegiate sport

An Introduction to Black Studies Eric R. Jackson,2023-01-31 For years the American public education system has neglected to fully examine and discuss the rich history of people of African descent who have played a pivotal role in the transformation of the United States The establishment of Black studies departments and programs represented a major victory for higher education and a vindication of Black scholars such as W E B Du Bois and Nathan Huggins This emerging field sought to address omissions from numerous disciplines as well as myriad distortions stereotypes and myths In An Introduction to Black Studies Eric R Jackson demonstrates the continuing need for Black studies also known as African American studies in university curricula Jackson connects the growth and impact of Black studies to the broader context of social justice movements emphasizing the historical and contemporary demand for the discipline This book features seventeen chapters that focus on the primary eight disciplines of Black studies history sociology psychology religion feminism education political science and the arts Each chapter includes a biographical vignette of an important figure in African American history such as Frederick Douglass Louis Armstrong and Madam C J Walker as well as student learning objectives that provide a starting point for educators This valuable work speaks to the strength and rigor of the field its importance to the formal educational process and its relevance to the United States and the world

Great Expectations Loyce Caruthers, Jennifer Friend, 2016-03-01 This book explores meaningful and effective use of student voice in urban school renewal efforts through strategies that include surveys interviews focus groups visual and video projects social media and student participation in governance Chapters provide a definition of student voice context for public schooling in the United States and introduce a framework for including student voice in school renewal processes Examples guide readers to implementation of the framework to include student voices in diverse educational settings Authentic voices of approximately 175 students interviewed by the authors express what it is that they really want from public schools and how pre K 12 educators can provide a structure for ongoing student participation in governance and the work of the school The existing literature explores student characteristics such as poverty cultural diversity and what the experts believe students need public schools to provide Within the research urban public schools and technical reform are often explored and examined separately from conversations about what students want from schools excluding opportunities for their voices and diverse perspectives to be heard Listening to students describe instances of bullying or teachers low academic expectations provides educators with opportunities to address issues that impede student learning The uniqueness of this framework for including student voice is that it provides multiple opportunities for students in any grade level to tell us what it is they want from public schools and to make meaningful and lasting contributions to school renewal efforts

Minority Status, Oppositional Culture, & Schooling John U. Ogbu, 2008-06-30 This book is the definitive and final presentation of John Ogbu's cultural ecological model and the many debates that his work has sparked during the past decade Organized as a dialogue between John Ogbu and the scholarly community Minority Status Oppositional Culture and Schooling is essential reading for anyone interested in the study of the academic achievement gap Critical Perspectives on the Denial of Caste in Educational Debate João M. Paraskeva, 2023-07-27 This volume represents the first exploration of caste in the field of curriculum studies challenging the ongoing silence around the issue of caste in education and curriculum theory Presenting comprehensive critical examination of caste as a category of domination and oppression in the colonial power matrix chapters confront Eurocentric educational epistemologies which deny the existence and influence of caste The book examines the impact of such silence in educational policy praxis and curriculum and draws from leading scholars to illustrate the fluidity of power and oppression in the caste system By challenging historical cultural and institutional origins of caste and foregrounding perspectives from outside Western epistemological frameworks the book pioneers a critical approach to integrating caste in educational debate to interrupt social and cognitive injustices In so doing so the volume advocates for an alternative non derivative curriculum reason through an itinerant curriculum theory as a path toward the emergence of a critical Dalit educational theory As such it makes a vital contribution for scholars and researchers looking to refine and enhance their knowledge of curriculum studies by highlighting the importance of theorizing caste in the role of education Art and Human Development Constance Milbrath, Cynthia Lightfoot, 2013-05-13 This interdisciplinary volume explores art its development and its role in the construction of knowledge Presenting theory and research on artistic development as a cultural and creative endeavor contributors examine the origins of human art during the Paleolithic cultural revolution as part of a modern cultural transformation in the growth of a creative artist and in developing children Target chapters expressing the disciplinary perspectives of psychology archaeology communications education and the performing arts are followed by commentaries from internationally acclaimed scholars of human development Part 1 explores how cultures harness and exploit the arts to give expression to values social practices and traditions This section traces the emergence of new art forms that arose during social unrest including the symbolization of spiritual beliefs expressed on the walls of Paleolithic caves and the racial identity and cultural values expressed in the media of the hip hop generation Part 2 examines the journeys of a composer and a group of students to highlight the process of becoming an artist and the role education plays in its development. The book concludes with a focus on the development of aesthetic appreciation and artistic activity in childhood and adolescence including for example how a child's developing theory of mind affects appreciation for the arts and how developing empathy and emotional regulation contribute to the cognitive and affective underpinnings of acting in adolescence. As a whole contributors explore the developmental sociocultural and evolutionary processes that make the creation and experience of art possible. Intended for researchers and advanced students in both human development and the arts this book will also serve as a textbook for advanced courses on psychology and the arts and or special topics courses in cognitive and or human development.

Black Education Joyce E. King, 2006-04-21 This volume presents the findings and recommendations of the American Educational Research Association's AERA Commission on Research in Black Education CORIBE and offers new directions for research and practice. By commissioning an independent group of scholars of diverse perspectives and voices to investigate major issues hindering the education of Black people in the U.S. and other Diaspora contexts and Africa the AERA sought to place issues of Black education and research practice in the forefront of the agenda of the scholarly community. An unprecedented critical challenge to orthodox thinking this book makes an epistemological break with mainstream scholarship. Contributors present research on proven solutions best practices that prepare Black students and others to achieve at high levels of academic excellence and to be agents of their own socioeconomic and cultural transformation. These analyses and empirical findings also link the crisis in Black education to embedded ideological biases in research and the system of thought that often justifies the abject state of Black education. Written for both a scholarly and a general audience this book demonstrates a transformative role for research and a positive role for culture in learning in the academy and in community and cross national contexts. Volume editor Joyce E. King is the Benjamin E. Mays Endowed Chair of Urban Teaching Learning and Leadership at Georgia State University and was chair of CORIBE. Additional Resources: Black Education CD ROM Research and Best Practices 1999-2001 Edited by Joyce E. King Georgia State University.
