Ethnic Diversity in Eastern Africa Kimani Njogu, Kabiri Ngeta, 2010-11-01 In most of Africa there is evidence of politicised inter ethnic rivalry and ethnic mobilisation to acquire maintain or monopolise power as competition for resources intensify This volume demonstrates how ethnic diversity can be managed at a number of levels in order to improve the lives of citizens As the contributors show ethnicity as an identity is fluid and malleable It can be deconstructed in order to reduce its saliency Evidently strong ethnic affiliation has also been viewed as a major barrier to human and economic development although ethnically bound welfare organisations do influence the economic and social life of citizens especially in the rural areas In most of Africa it is through ethnic identification that competition for influence in the state and in the allocation of resources becomes apparent Occasionally governments have sought to address this challenge through ethnic and regional balancing in political appointments But this does not always work Drawing on experiences from Eastern Africa and beyond the contributors discuss how ethnic diversity can be a resource for the region

Ethnicity, Democracy and Citizenship in Africa Samantha Balaton-Chrimes, 2016-03-09 As an ethnic minority the Nubians of Kenya are struggling for equal citizenship by asserting themselves as indigenous and autochthonous to Kibera one of Nairobi's most notorious slums Having settled there after being brought by the British colonial authorities from Sudan as soldiers this appears a peculiar claim to make It is a claim that illuminates the hierarchical nature of Kenya's ethnicised citizenship regime and the multi faceted nature of citizenship itself This book explores two kinds of citizenship deficits those experienced by the Nubians in Kenya and more centrally those which represent the limits of citizenship theories The author argues for an understanding of citizenship as made up of multiple component parts status rights and membership which are often disaggregated through time across geographic spaces and amongst different people This departure from a unitary language of citizenship allows a novel analysis of the central role of ethnicity in the recognition of political membership and distribution of political goods in Kenya Such an analysis generates important insights into the risks and possibilities of a relationship between ethnicity and democracy that is of broad global relevance

Ethnicity and Nationalism in Africa P. Yeros, 2016-07-27 Ethnicity and Nationalism in Africa features a series of constructivist contributions by leading scholars in the field of ethnicity and nationalism and explores the differences among those who have come to be known as constructivists The contributors reflect upon ongoing methodological debates in ethnography historiography and political theory They demonstrate the diversity of concepts and methods within constructivism and assess the political implications of the concepts themselves The debate between them is inter disciplinary critical and innovative and should be of value to anyone interested in the study of ethnicity and nationalism Changing Identifications and Alliances in North-east Africa Günther Schlee, Elizabeth E. Watson, 2009-10-01 Forms of group identity play a prominent role in everyday lives and politics in northeast Africa Case studies from Sudan Ethiopia Uganda and Kenya illustrate the way that identities are formed and change over time and how local national and international politics are interwoven Specific attention is paid to the impact of modern weaponry new technologies religious conversion food and land shortages international borders civil war and displacement on group identities Drawing on the expertise of anthropologists historians and geographers these volumes provide a significant account of a society profoundly shaped by identity politics and contribute to a better understanding of the nature of conflict and war and forms of alliance and peacemaking thus providing a comprehensive portrait of this troubled region A Century of Change in Eastern Africa William Arens, 2011-05-12 No detailed description available for A Century of Change in Eastern Africa Race, Ethnicity, and Violence in South Sudan Amir Idris, 2024-06-19 The purpose of this book is to understand how and why liberators of South Sudan have become perpetrators of ethnically driven violence How and why did violence happen immediately after independence in South Sudan South Sudan slid into civil war in December 2013 just two years after winning its hard won independence A great deal has been written about the conflict and violence of this period much of which emphasizes the notion that the root causes of the conflict can be traced to the ethnic division and hatred among the population or the lack of state capacity to manage ethnic diversity and hostilities However the existing literature exhibits important analytical gaps focusing primarily on the state of the violence and the immediate political history of South Sudan dating back to its political independence in 2011 but lacking critical analysis of historical and anthropological interpretations of state and society This book addresses these gaps in knowledge and understanding and in so doing seeks to explain how and why liberators become perpetrators of violence and how the intersection of the legacies of slavery colonialism and national liberation struggle contributed to violence in South Sudan Through a comprehensive exploration of identity and violence within the broader context of state formation the book sheds light on why those who sought sovereignty may turn against their own drawing parallels with colonial discourse It aspires to provide nuanced frameworks and empirical insight for scholars students practitioners and policymakers engaged in South Sudan politics development and peacebuilding Race, Ethnicity, and Gender Joseph F. Mngomezulu,2012-01-01 The main objective of this book is to establish the salient reasons why higher education was developed in East Africa and specifically why the Federal University of East Africa was constituted The book will identify the factors responsible for the collapse of this regional institution in June 1970 Another objective of this book is to demonstrate how the history of the University of East Africa sheds light on colonial and post colonial policies on education especially higher education as a contribution to educational planning in contemporary Africa Ethnic Diversity and Economic Instability in Africa Hiroyuki Hino, John Lonsdale, Gustav Ranis, Frances Stewart, 2012-07-19

There is growing consensus in the development economics literature that ethnic diversity is a very significant factor in explaining Africa's poor economic performance. Ethnic Diversity and Economic Instability in Africa challenges this conventional wisdom. Drawing on the insights of historians, anthropologists and political scientists as well as development economists, this book questions whether ethnicity is the most useful organising principle by which to examine the economic development of Africa, arguing that it is a more fluid and contingent concept than economic models allow. Instead, the authors explore the actual experience of ethnicity in Africa and propose new methods of measuring ethnic diversity and inequalities. Finally, some tentative conclusions are reached regarding appropriate policy reforms.
