British Broadcasting and the Public-Private Dichotomy Simon Dawes, 2017-07-10 This text offers a theoretical engagement with the ways in which private and public interests and how those interests have been understood have framed the changing rationale for broadcasting regulation using the first century of UK broadcasting as a starting point Unlike most books on broadcasting this text adopts an explicitly Foucauldian and genealogical perspective in its account of media history and power and unpicks how the meanings of terms such as public service and public interest as well as competition and choice have evolved over time In considering the appropriation by broadcasting scholars of concepts such as neoliberalism citizenship and the public sphere to a critical account of broadcasting history the book assesses their appropriateness and efficacy by engaging with interdisciplinary debates on each concept This work will be of particular significance to academics and students with an interest in media theory history policy and regulation as well as those disposed to understanding as well as critiquing the neoliberalization of public media

Inventing 'Easter Island' Beverley Haun, 2008-04-05 Easter Island or Rapa Nui as it is known to its inhabitants is located in the Pacific Ocean 3600 kilometres west of South America Annexed by Chile in 1888 the island has been a source of fascination for the world beyond the island since the first visit by Europeans in 1722 due to its intriguing statues and complex history Inventing Easter Island examines narrative strategies and visual conventions in the discursive construction of Easter Island as distinct from the native conception of Rapa Nui It looks at the geographic imaginary that pervaded the eighteenth century a period of overwhelming imperial expansion Beverley Haun begins with a discussion of forces that shaped the European version of island culture and goes on to consider the representation of that culture in the form of explorer texts and illustrations as well as more recent texts and images in comic books and kitsch from off the island Throughout Easter Island is used as a case study of the impact of imperialism on the view of a culture from outside The study hinges on three key points an inquiry into the formation of Easter Island as a subject an examination of how the constructed space and culture have been shaped reshaped and represented in discursive spaces and a discussion of cultural memory and how the constraints of foreign texts and images have shaped thought and action about Easter Island Richly illustrated and unique in its findings Inventing Easter Island will appeal to cultural theorists anthropologists educators and anyone interested in the history of the South Pacific

Disputing Citizenship

John Clarke, Kathleen Coll, Evelina Dagnino, Catherine Neveu, 2014-01-27 Available Open Access under CC BY NC licence Citizenship is always in dispute in practice as well as in theory but conventional perspectives do not address why the concept of citizenship is so contentious This unique book presents a new perspective on citizenship by treating it as a continuing focus of dispute The authors

dispute the way citizenship is normally conceived and analysed within the social sciences developing a view of citizenship as always emerging from struggle This view is advanced through an exploration of the entanglements of politics culture and power that are both embodied and contested in forms and practices of citizenship This compelling view of citizenship emerges from the international and interdisciplinary collaboration of the four authors drawing on the diverse disputes over citizenship in their countries of origin Brazil France the UK and the US The book is essential reading for anyone interested in the field of citizenship no matter what their geographical political or academic location this bridge we call home Gloria Anzaldúa, Ana Louise Keating, 2013-10-18 More than twenty years after the ground breaking anthology This Bridge Called My Back called upon feminists to envision new forms of communities and practices Gloria E Anzaldúa and Ana Louise Keating have painstakingly assembled a new collection of over eighty original writings that offers a bold new vision of women of color consciousness for the twenty first century Written by women and men both of color and white this bridge we call home will challenge readers to rethink existing categories and invent new individual and collective identities Handbook on Gender and Social Policy Sheila Shaver, 2018-09-28 Providing a state of the art overview this comprehensive Handbook is an essential introduction to the subject of Gender and Social Policy Bringing together original contributions and research from leading researchers it covers the theoretical perspectives of the field the central policy terrain of gender inequalities of income employment and care and family policy Examining gender and social policy at both the regional and national level the Handbook is an excellent resource for advanced students and scholars of sociology political science women's studies policy studies as well as practitioners seeking to understand how gender shapes the contours of social policy and politics

Civilising Subjects Catherine Hall, 2002-05 This volume argues that the empire was at the heart of 19th century Englishness It tells stories of a group of English men and women who constructed themselves as colonizers It then uses these studies as a means of exploring wider colonial issues Decolonizing and Feminizing Freedom Denise Noble, 2017-02-17 This book traces the powerful discourses and embodied practices through which Black Caribbean women have been imagined and produced as subjects of British liberal rule and modern freedom It argues that in seeking to escape liberalism's gendered and racialised governmentalities Black women's everyday self making practices construct decolonising and feminising epistemologies of freedom These in turn repeatedly interrogate the colonial logics of liberalism and Britishness Genealogically structured the book begins with the narratives of freedom and identity presented by Black British Caribbean women It then analyses critical moments of crisis in British racial rule at home and abroad in which gender and Caribbean women figure as points of concern Post war Caribbean immigration to the UK decolonisation of the British Caribbean and the post emancipation reconstruction of the British Caribbean loom large in these considerations In doing all of this the author unravels the colonial legacies that continue to underwrite contemporary British multicultural anxieties This thought provoking work will appeal to students and scholars of social and cultural history politics feminism race and postcoloniality
