Race And Clab In The American South Since 1890:

Roanoke, Virginia, 1882-1912 Rand Dotson, 2008 Tells the story of a city that for a brief period was widely hailed as a regional model for industrialization as well as the ultimate success symbol for the rehabilitation of the former Confederacy In a region where modernization seemed to move at a glacial pace those looking for signs of what they were triumphantly calling the New South pointed to Roanoke No southern city grew faster than Roanoke did during the 1880s A hardscrabble Appalachian tobacco depot originally known by the uninspiring name of Big Lick it became a veritable boomtown by the end of the decade as a steady stream of investment and skilled manpower flowed in from north of the Mason Dixon line The first scholarly treatment of Roanoke s early history the book explains how native businessmen convinced a northern investment company to make their small town a major railroad hub It then describes how that venture initially paid off as the influx of thousands of people from the North and the surrounding Virginia countryside helped make Roanoke presumptuously christened the Magic City by New South proponents the state s third largest city by the turn of the century Rand Dotson recounts what life was like for Roanoke s wealthy elites working poor and African American inhabitants He also explores the social conflicts that ultimately erupted as a result of well intended 3reforms4 initiated by city leaders Dotson illustrates how residents mediated the catastrophic Depression of 1893 and that year s infamous Roanoke Riot which exposed the fa de masking the city s racial tensions inadequate physical infrastructure and provincial mentality of the local populace Dotson then details the subsequent attempts of business boosters and progressive reformers to attract the additional investments needed to put their city back on track Ultimately Dotson explains Roanoke s early struggles stemmed from its business leaders unwavering belief that economic development would serve as the panacea for all of the town s problems Race Problems of the South Southern Society for the Promotion of the Study of Race Conditions and Problems in the South. A City for Children Marta Gutman,2014-09-19 American cities are constantly being built and rebuilt resulting in ever changing skylines and neighborhoods While the dynamic urban landscapes of New York Boston and Chicago have been widely studied there is much to be gleaned from west coast cities especially in California where the migration boom at the end of the nineteenth century permanently changed the urban fabric of these newly diverse plural metropolises In A City for Children Marta Gutman focuses on the use and adaptive reuse of everyday buildings in Oakland California to make the city a better place for children She introduces us to the women who were determined to mitigate the burdens placed on working class families by an indifferent industrial capitalist economy Often without the financial means to build from scratch women did not tend to conceive of urban land as a blank slate to be wiped clean for development Instead Gutman shows how over and over women turned private houses in Oakland into orphanages kindergartens settlement houses and day care centers and in the process built the charitable landscape a network of places that was critical for the betterment of children families and public life The industrial landscape of Oakland riddled with the effects of social inequalities and racial prejudices is not a neutral backdrop in Gutman's story but an active player Spanning one hundred years of history A City for Children provides a compelling model for building urban institutions and demonstrates that children women charity and incremental construction renovations alterations additions and repurposed structures are central to the understanding of modern cities The

Olsson,2020-11-03 In the 1930s and 1940s rural reformers in the United States and Mexico waged unprecedented campaigns to remake their countryside in the name of agrarian justice and agricultural productivity Agrarian Crossings tells the story of how these campaigns were conducted in dialogue with one another as reformers in each nation came to exchange models plans and strategies with their equivalents across the border Dismantling the artificial boundaries that can divide American and Latin American history Tore Olsson shows how the agrarian histories of both regions share far more than we realize He traces the connections between the US South and the plantation zones of Mexico places that suffered parallel problems of environmental decline rural poverty and gross inequities in land tenure Bringing this tumultuous era vividly to life he describes how Roosevelt's New Deal drew on Mexican revolutionary agrarianism to shape its program for the rural South Olsson also looks at how the US South served as the domestic laboratory for the

Rockefeller Foundation's green revolution in Mexico which would become the most important Third World development campaign of the twentieth century and how the Mexican government attempted to replicate the hydraulic development of the Tennessee Valley Authority after World War II Rather than a comparative history Agrarian Crossings is an innovative history of comparisons and the ways they affected policy moved people and reshaped the landscape Civil Rights Unionism
