The Races of Britain John Beddoe, 1885 The Races of Britain John Beddoe, 1971 The Races of Britain; A Contribution to the Anthropology of Western Europe Beddoe John 1826-1911, 2015-08-13 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work was reproduced from the original artifact and remains as true to the original work as possible Therefore you will see the original copyright references library stamps as most of these works have been housed in our most important libraries around the world and other notations in the work This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work As a reproduction of a historical artifact this work may contain missing or blurred pages poor pictures errant marks etc Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant The Races of Britain John Beddoe, 2014-02 This is a reproduction of a book published before 1923 This book may have occasional imperfections such as missing or blurred pages poor pictures errant marks etc that were either part of the original artifact or were introduced by the scanning process We believe this work is culturally important and despite the imperfections have elected to bring it back into print as part of our continuing commitment to the preservation of printed works worldwide We appreciate your understanding of the imperfections in the preservation process and hope you enjoy this valuable book The Races of Britain John Beddoe, 2018-10-08 John Beddoe 1826 1911 was Britain s foremost anthropologist who specialized in the study of race craniology and racial origins The Races of Britain A Contribution to the Anthropology of Western Europe was his first complete overview of the racial and sub racial makeup of the British Isles His primary means of measure was skull and hair eye colour combinations Through cross testing with the European continent he found that the original inhabitants of Britain had been dark haired and dark eyed and that the greater part of the blond population of modern Britain derive their ancestry from the Anglo Saxons and Scandinavians Furthermore he found the proportion of English and Scotch blood in the present inhabitants of Ireland is probably not much less than a third Beddoe also found that dark haired population was re occupying Britain by a reflux migration and that their numbers would steadily increase over time His conclusions have since been verified by DNA testing which serves as a testament to the thoroughness of his research This is a valuable work which serves as a testament to the original make up of the British people and will serve as beacon of the past pointing into the future as mass Third World immigration changes the racial make up of Britain in the present day Classic European anthropology at its best Races of Britain J. Beddoe, 1971 The Races of Europe Richard McMahon, 2016-11-15 This book explores a vital but neglected chapter in the histories of nationalism racism and science It is the first comprehensive study of the transnational scientific community that in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries attempted to classify Europe's biological races. Anthropological race classifiers produced parallel geographies, histories, and hierarchies of European peoples that were crucial to the creation of national identities and to the overtly political race discourses of eugenics and popular racist ideologues. They lent nationalism the invaluable prestige of natural science and traced the histories, conflicts, and relationships of national races back into prehistory. Racial national character stereotypes meanwhile supported competing political ideologies. The book examines the interplay between class, gender, and national identity narratives and the tensions and interactions between the scientific and political agendas of classifiers. Within the elaborate transnational networks of scientific communities, for example, they had to reconcile competing national narratives.

Anthropology and Race in Belgium and the Congo (1839-1922) Maarten Couttenier, 2023-11-03 This book examines the history of Belgian physical anthropology in the long nineteenth century and discusses how the notion of race structured Belgian pasts and presents as well as relations between metropole and empire. In a context of competing European nationalisms, Belgian anthropologists mainly used physical characters like skull form and the color of hair and eyes to delimitate races which were believed to be permanent and existent. Their belief in a supposed racial superiority was, however, above all, telling about their own origins and physical characters. Although it is often assumed that these ideas were subsequently transferred to the colony, the case of Belgian colonization in Congo shows that colonial administrators at least in theory were reluctant to use the idea of permanent races because they needed the possibility of evolution to legitimize their actions as part of a civilizing mission. In reality, however, colonization was based on military occupation and economic exploitation with devastating effects. This book analyzes how in this violent context, widespread racial prejudices in fact dehumanized Congolese. This not only allowed colonizers to act inhuman but also reduced Congolese or their body parts to objects that could be measured, photographed, casted, and collected. This volume will be of use to students and scholars alike interested in social and cultural history as well as imperial and colonial history.

The Races of Britain John Beddoe, 1971 Colonialism, World Literature, and the Making of the Modern Culture of Letters Baidik Bhattacharya, 2024-02-08 In a radical and ambitious reconceptualization of the field, this book argues that global literary culture since the eighteenth century was fundamentally shaped by colonial histories. It offers a comprehensive account of the colonial inception of the literary sovereign, how the realm of literature was thought to be separate from history and politics, and then follows that narrative through a wide array of different cultures, multilingual archives, and geographical locations. Providing close studies of colonial archives, German philosophy of aesthetics, French realist novels, and English literary history, this book shows how colonialism shaped and reshaped modern literary cultures in decisive ways. It breaks fresh ground across disciplines such as literary studies, anthropology, history, and philosophy and invites one to rethink the history of literature in a new light.
