The Spectre of Race Michael G. Hanchard, 2020-03-03 How racism and discrimination have been central to democracies from the classical period to today As right wing nationalism and authoritarian populism gain momentum across the world liberals and even some conservatives worry that democratic principles are under threat In The Spectre of Race Michael Hanchard argues that the current rise in xenophobia and racist rhetoric is nothing new and that exclusionary policies have always been central to democratic practices since their beginnings in classical times Contending that democracy has never been for all people Hanchard discusses how marginalization is reinforced in modern politics and why these contradictions need to be fully examined if the dynamics of democracy are to be truly understood Hanchard identifies continuities of discriminatory citizenship from classical Athens to the present and looks at how democratic institutions have promoted undemocratic ideas and practices The longest standing modern democracies France Britain and the United States profited from slave labor empire and colonialism much like their Athenian predecessor Hanchard follows these patterns through the Enlightenment and to the states and political thinkers of the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries and he examines how early political scientists including Woodrow Wilson and his contemporaries devised what Hanchard has characterized as racial regimes to maintain the political and economic privileges of dominant groups at the expense of subordinated ones Exploring how democracies reconcile political inequality and equality Hanchard debates the thorny question of the conditions under which democracies have created and maintained barriers to political membership Showing the ways that race gender nationality and other criteria have determined a person's status in political life The Spectre of Race offers important historical context for how democracy generates political difference and inequality

Mixed-Race in the US and UK Jennifer Patrice Sims, Chinelo L. Njaka, 2019-11-23 Contributing to the emerging literature on mixed race people in the United States and United Kingdom this book draws on racial formation theory and the performativity i.e. doing of race to explore the social construction of mixedness on both sides of the Atlantic Ocean

Whitewash John Gabriel, 2002-01-04 By putting the language used in television the radio the internet and press as well as that spoken by key leaders under the spotlight what is ultimately revealed is the existence of a white language both coded and overt Taking specific examples and presenting new factual evidence John Gabriel studies the racial politics that lie behind much of the communication in the public arena Case studies draw on contemporary political controversies and are used to explore the relationship between racialised forms of media discourse and political and economic change

The Race Illusion Adam Hochman, 2025-05-29 In The Race Illusion Adam Hochman argues that there are no human races only racialized groups groups mistakenly believed to be races He meticulously critiques all of the major defenses of the view that races exist beginning with biological accounts While there is some human biological diversity it is not distributed in a way that would justify racial classification Hochman shows how modern attempts to revive race as a biological category either trivialize the category or change the topic entirely Many now believe race to be a social construct a phrase Hochman criticizes for its ambiguity The idea of race is a social invention racial classification is determined by social factors and racism is a social phenomenon However that does not mean that race itself is social Hochman argues that for social races to exist they would need to be definable in terms of social properties yet scholars have been unable to identify the social properties that plausibly make a group a race After examining ten biological and seven social accounts of race Hochman develops and defends the view in The Race Illusion that there are no races only racialized groups He argues that rejecting race as a category of analysis and replacing it with racialized group is not only the most theoretically sound approach but also the one best suited to fighting racism Golden Gulag Ruth Wilson Gilmore, 2007-01-08 Since 1980 the number of people in U S prisons has increased more than 450% Despite a crime rate that has been falling steadily for decades California has led the way in this explosion with what a state analyst called the biggest prison building project in the history of the world Golden Gulag provides the first detailed explanation for that buildup by looking at how political and economic forces ranging from global to local conjoined to produce the prison boom In an informed and impassioned account Ruth Wilson Gilmore examines this issue through statewide rural and urban perspectives to explain how the expansion developed from surpluses of finance capital labor land and state capacity Detailing crises that hit California s economy with particular ferocity she argues that defeats of radical struggles weakening of labor and shifting patterns of capital investment have been key conditions for prison growth The results a vast and expensive prison system a huge number of incarcerated young people of color and the increase in punitive justice such as the three strikes law pose profound and troubling questions for the future of California the United States and the world Golden Gulag provides a rich context for this complex dilemma and at the same time challenges many cherished assumptions about who benefits and who suffers from the state s commitment to prison expansion

Prejudice, Discrimination and Racism against Africans and Siddhis in India Ibrahima Diallo, 2020-04-03 Africa and India have a long history of people to people contact as well as cultural educational and economic exchanges based on mutual interests They also share imperial and post imperial experiences The longstanding relations between the two continents experienced a new twist and a giant leap forward following the Africa India summit in 2008 However recently a series of violent incidents against the growing sub Saharan African communities in India has taken centre stage and made global news headlines the Indian and international media have portrayed violent and deadly assaults on sub Saharan Africans in India as prejudice discrimination and racism This book provides a collection of studies that examine prejudice discrimination and racism towards Blackness in India with a special focus on the lived experiences of sub Saharan Africans and Siddhis Afro Indians In addition the topics in this volume cover ideological cultural and linguistic affinities between Africa and India The volume is divided into four parts of two chapters each the first two chapters introduce the focus of the book on sub Saharan Africans living in India These are followed by two contributions that examine prejudice discrimination and racism towards Africans and Siddhis Two further essays theorise prejudice and racism in India and the ways they are experienced by sub Saharan Africans and Siddhis The final two chapters of the book explore ideological linguistic and cultural affinities between India and Africa The volume also features contributions by two prominent Africanists The Foreword is written by Professor Souleymane Bachir Diagne the Director of the Institute of African Studies at Columbia University Professor Diagne was awarded the Edouard Glissant Prize for his work in 2011 and the Frantz Fanon Lifetime Achievement Award in 2018 The Afterword is authored by Professor Aparajita Biswas the former Director of the Centre for African Studies at the University of Mumbai and the current President of the African Studies Association of India Professor

Biswas is one of India's most respected Africanists with an extensive publication record on African topics and numerous teaching research and fellowship positions in universities across the world Sport Matters Eric Dunning, 2013-04-03 1999 North American Society for the Sociology of Sport Annual Book Award Sport Matters offers a comprehensive introduction to the study of modern sport from a sociological perspective It covers such topics as the history of sport the development of ideas of fair play sport and the emotions the professionalization of sport race relations and sport and sport and gender Unique in its cross cultural analysis it uses examples from around the globe including sports spectator violence in North America the growth of international soccer and the role of sport in the European identity Racism, Policy and Politics Karim Murji, 2017-12-06 This book analyses and bridges the gap between critical social research on race and politics by reviewing the academic field of race theorising and scholarship covering changes in race and racism debates in recent decades and assessing the extent scope and limits of academic engagements with and impact on policy and politics

Racialization Karim Murji, John Solomos, 2005 Racialization has become one of the central concepts in the study of race and racism It is widely used in both theoretical and empirical studies of racial situations There has been a proliferation of texts that use this notion in quite diverse ways It is used broadly to refer to ways of thinking about race as well as to institutional processes that give expression to forms of ethno racial categorization An important issue in the work of writers such as Robert Miles for example concerns the ways in which the construction of race is shaped historically and how the usage of that idea forms a basis for exclusionary practices The concept therefore refers both to cultural or political processes or situations where race is invoked as an explanation as well as to specific ideological practices in which race is deployed It is evident however that despite the increasing popularity of the concept of racialization there has been relatively little critical analysis exploring its theoretical and empirical usages It is with this underlying concern in mind that Racialization Studies in Theory and Practice brings together leading international scholars in the field of race and ethnicity in order to explore both the utility of the concept and its limitations Theories of Race and Racism Les Back, John Solomos, 2022-05-17 Theories of Race and Racism A Reader provides an overview of historical and contemporary debates in this vital and ever evolving field of scholarship and research Combining contributions from seminal thinkers leading scholars and emergent voices this reader provides a critical reflection on key trends and developments in the field The contributions to this reader provide an overview of key areas of scholarship and research on questions of race and racism It provides a novel perspective by bringing together readings on the key theoretical and historical processes in this area the development of diverse theoretical viewpoints the analysis of antisemitism the role of colonialism and postcolonialism feminist perspectives on race and the articulation of new accounts of the contemporary conjuncture The contributions to this reader include classic works by the likes of W E B DuBois Stuart Hall and Frantz Fanon as well as timely pieces by contemporary scholars including Orlando Patterson Patricia Hill Collins and Paul Gilroy By bringing together a broad range of diverse accounts Theories of Race and Racism A Reader
