Beech, 2021-06-23

Originally published in 1985 Learning to Read presents a balanced view of contemporary research into the reading process and theories accounting for reading and poor reading. The book focuses in particular on children who experience considerable difficulty in acquiring necessary reading skills. It considers how reading ability is assessed and the problematic subject of dyslexia. It also adopts a comprehensive approach to the cognitive factors behind poor reading as well as possible developmental and environmental factors. Learning to Read will appeal to those with an interest in how children learn to read and the development of research on this subject.

Thinking Tools for Young Readers and Writers Carol Booth Olson, Angie Balius, Emily McCourtney, Mary Widtmann, 2018. In her new book bestselling author and professional developer Carol Booth Olson and colleagues show teachers how to help young readers and writers construct meaning from and with texts. This practical resource offers a rich array of research based teaching strategies activities and extended lessons focused on the thinking tools employed by experienced readers and writers. It shows teachers how to draw on the natural connections between reading and writing and how cognitive strategies can be embedded into the teaching of narrative informational and argumentative texts. Including artifacts and written work produced by students across the grade levels the authors connect the cognitive and affective domains for full student engagement. This book seamlessly bridges the gap from research to everyday practice. You get an extremely well organized set of overarching instructional principles that are right for our era and brought to life through well explained instructional guides and classroom activities. From the Foreword by Judith Langer University at Albany SUNY I have always admired Carol Booth Olson's work with secondary students and teachers. She now applies those essential principles and practices to elementary and middle school students. Bravo P David Pearson professor emeritus University of California Berkeley.

Literacy David Wray, 2004. This four volume collection reprints key debates about exactly what it means to be literate and how literacy can best be taught. Rather than centering on the emotional reaction of mass media debates this set focuses on research findings into processes and pedagogy. The themes covered include Literacy its nature and its teaching. Reading processes and teaching. Writing processes and teaching and New Literacies the impact of technologies.

Literacy, Libraries and Learning Ray Doiron, Marlene Asselin, 2005. The school library has changed dramatically. Today it is a portal to a world of learning that includes traditional books digital resources and online environments. As the importance of information and communication technologies grows teachers and teacher librarians hold the key to creating powerful learning opportunities that help students function more effectively. This comprehensive guide discusses the changing responsibilities of classroom teachers and teacher librarians in helping students become better readers writers and researchers. It offers suggestions for re-inventing the school library by offering a better and more current selection of resources instilling students with the reading habit and supporting them in these key areas promoting reading for learning and pleasure improving critical literacy skills when using information from many sources encouraging research methods that respect copyright and lead to original work designing information tasks to help students work effectively with data developing better informational text structures that increase comprehension encouraging the integration of emerging technologies and traditional resources Literacy Libraries and Learning argues that using diverse learning resources can improve literacy achievement It shows teachers and teacher librarians how to turn their schools into first rate learning environments and their students into lifelong learners

Different Psychological Perspectives on Cognitive Processes Rossana Actis-Grosso, Alessandra Galmonte, 2015-02-27 This book highlights some of the main lines of research in cognitive psychology in the Alps Adria region which being geographically located in the centre of the European continent encompasses eleven regions from six different countries namely Austria Croatia Hungary Italy Serbia and Slovenia The reason for bringing together authors from different geographical areas and with different approaches to the broad discipline defined as Cognitive Science is detailed in the first section of this book which outlines a brief history of psychology in each country in the region and provides an overview of the spirit that characterizes the Alps Adria working community The Alps Adria Rector Conference believes that harmonious coexistence and efficient collaboration of the peoples and communities of the different regions constitute the characteristics and specificities of the present cultural landscape of the Alps Adria region in Europe It is in this spirit that this book has been edited underscoring the concept of unity in diversity that has characterized the Alps Adriatic community Furthermore such unity is now a necessary attribute for science where interdisciplinarity is both highly encouraged and increasingly accepted The second and third sections of the book are devoted to situating this interdisciplinarity in the framework of cognitive science As such this book will serve as a basis for fruitful exchange not only inside the community but also beyond both geographical and theoretical borders
