Holding down the Fort Aaron Bielejewski, 2022-11-26 This Open Access book questions the relationship between institutionalized images and understandings of policing the monolithic ideas common to most if not all Western law enforcement agencies and contextual situative and local interactions where the human representatives of policing street level officers come into contact with residents The political and theoretical association of specific forms of Western policing with democratic society can be illustrated in the case of German integration narratives of reform and essentially forging new democratic police agencies in the new German states stand at odds with much of the experience and statements of officers who continued to serve following Re Unification Officers who present their works primarily in terms of their local responsibilities expectations and more specifically to their unique and individual relationship and connection to their communities downplay the relevance of high level policing policy Based on a two year ethnographic study of policing in a rural county in the German state of Brandenburg this book explores the local nature of policing both in terms of how police officers imagine their communities to be and with reference to broader societal expectations and assumptions of what police essentially are can effectively do and should effectively do

How Real Is Reality TV? David S. Escoffery, 2014-12-03 American viewers are attracted to what they see as the non scripted unpredictable freshness of reality television But although the episodes may not be scripted the shows are constructed within a deliberately designed framework reflecting societal values The political economic and personal issues of reality TV are in many ways simply an exaggerated version of everyday life allowing us to identify perhaps more closely than we care to admit with the characters onscreen With 16 essays from scholars around the world this volume discusses the notion of representation in reality television It explores how both audiences and producers negotiate the gulf between representations and truth in reality shows such as Survivor The Apprentice Big Brother The Nanny American Idol Extreme Makeover Joe Millionaire and The Amazing Race Various identity categories and character types found in these shows are discussed and the accuracy of their television portrayal examined

Dealing with the concept of reality audience reception gender roles minority portrayal and power issues the book provides an in depth look at what we see or think we see in reality TV Instructors considering this book for use in a course may request an examination copy here

State Violence and Human Rights Steffen Jensen, Andrew Jefferson, 2009-02-13 Addressing how state representatives have to negotiate the tensions between international legal imperatives the expectations of donors the demands of institutions as well as their own interests State Violence and Human Rights addresses how legal practices rooted in global human rights discourse or local demands take hold in societies where issues of state violence remain to be resolved
