Real People Working In Health Care:

Surviving Work in Healthcare Elizabeth Cotton, 2017-03-08 The book takes as its starting point the crisis of healthcare in the UK impossible health targets managed through command and control management and a stomach churning rise in racism whistleblowing and victimisation in the NHS The use of nationally set productivity targets combined with austerity cuts have increasingly put clinical best practice into direct conflict with funding Health targets have become politically controlled and performance has become a cynical exercise in ticking boxes cascaded within trusts and bulldozed through frontline services This has led directly to a precarious system of employment relations subject to the continual restructuring of services rather than the goal of creating functioning interdisciplinary teams that stand a chance of capturing clinical excellence This book is written for workers and managers who are on the frontline of the battle for decent healthcare The content of this book is based on the ordinary expertise of the people who are actually surviving it and helpful ideas about making the best out of a bad lot Surviving Work in Healthcare will be of interest to healthcare professionals and anyone working on the frontline of healthcare as well as students of management human resources and psychology Real People Working in Health Care Blythe Camenson, 1997 Details the skills needed for a successful career in health care and provides an overview of employment opportunities salary and related careers International Perspectives on Social Work in Health Care Gail K. The Philosophy of Person-Centred Healthcare Derek Mitchell,Michael Loughlin,2022-11-22 This book sets out a philosophical basis for person centred healthcare primarily using work by Heidegger and Gadamer but drawing on ideas derived from Aristotle and process philosophy in order to show how practice can be improved and how examples of person centred practice can be transferred between individuals and institutions involved in the commissioning and provision of healthcare By providing an underlying architectonic this work will help to enable practitioners to understand the benefits of person centred healthcare practice in promoting autonomy in those who are suffering from chronic and other illnesses The text takes a phenomenological approach to healthcare because it offers a rich and subtle way of thinking about how we know what we know and this applies to our knowledge and understanding of how healthcare works just as much as it does to all other kinds of knowledge For those in clinical practice this book provides a guide to the thinking behind person centred healthcare

Participatory Approaches to Attacking Extreme Poverty Xavier Godinot,Quentin Wodon,2006-01-01 Relying on contributions from the International Movement ATD Fourth World this book deals with questions such as What does it mean to live in poverty and especially in extreme poverty How can very poor people be reached through development projects How can we assess whether projects succeed in changing the lives of the poorest individuals In answering these questions the emphasis is on exploring what type of knowledge is needed to fight extreme poverty A key argument is that apart from academic knowledge a concerted effort is needed to listen to the knowledge of poor people themselves as well as to the knowledge of practitioners who are engaged with them on a daily basis to fight poverty After the introductory chapter the text of a speech by Joseph Wresinski founder of the International Movement ATD Fourth World at a congress of social scientists held at UNESCO is reproduced The next contribution is based on comments by the International Movement ATD Fourth World on the World Bank s World Development Report 2004 Making Services Work for Poor People Thereafter case studies are provided on participatory approaches to attacking extreme poverty in both developing countries Madagascar and Tanzania as well as Bolivia Guatemala and Peru and developed countries the United States and Belgium
