Shi, 2008-11-12 NATIONAL BESTSELLER From the author of the Pulitzer Prize winning Arab and Jew an intimate portrait unfolds of working American families struggling against insurmountable odds to escape poverty This is clearly one of those seminal books that every American should read and read now The New York Times Book Review As David K Shipler makes clear in this powerful humane study the invisible poor are engaged in the activity most respected in American ideology hard honest work But their version of the American Dream is a nightmare low paying dead end jobs the profound failure of government to improve upon decaying housing health care and education the failure of families to break the patterns of child abuse and substance abuse Shipler exposes the interlocking problems by taking us into the sorrowful infuriating courageous lives of the poor white and black Asian and Latino citizens and immigrants We encounter them every day for they do jobs essential to the American economy This impassioned book not only dissects the problems but makes pointed informed recommendations for change It is a book that stands to make a difference

Making Public Transport Work P.M. Bunting, 2004-03-04 People have always traveled but over the last century there has been an unprecedented increase in mobility Hundreds of millions commute daily between home and work relying more and more on cars and less on urban and intercity public transport Faced with environmental concerns and the negative cultural and social effects of urban sprawl governments and other agencies have attempted to reverse the decline in public transport use In Making Public Transportation Work P M Bunting examines why problems have arisen and how they might be corrected Bunting shows that transportation providers have failed to identify target customers and have not organized these services efficiently He demonstrates that public transport providers must address organizational issues and define customer needs and preferences arguing that customer needs can best be served by private rather than public carriers offering door to door rather than station to station transportation In contrast public agencies can best support public transportation by addressing not direct delivery of services but such matters as equitable safety and environmental regulation and effective fair management of roads
