

WHAT IS REALISM?

Realism is an artistic and literary movement that emerged in the 19th century. It sought to represent reality truthfully and accurately, focusing on everyday life and ordinary people.

Realism rejected idealized depictions of the world and emphasized observation and direct experience. The movement aimed to portray society and human experience without romanticism or exaggeration, and often dealt with themes such as social injustice, poverty, and working-class life.

Realism had a significant impact on literature, painting, and other art forms, and remains an influential approach to storytelling and representation today.

Realism In Literature And Art :

Renaissance Realism Alastair Fowler, 2003 This book questions the assumption of a single realism the continuous realism of novels Many suppose that narrative before the novel either looked forward to it or was medieval and allegorical and compare the introduction of single point perspective with the rise of the novel But continuous realism did not arise as soon as perspective was discovered In actuality a distinctive sort of Renaissance realism with its own conventions was practised from the late Middle Ages to the seventeenth century Renaissance Realism surveys the history of perspective showing that it only gradually came to dominate the western imagination and to become the default assumption for portrayal in the visual arts Looked at in this way correlates between literature and art emerge in the depiction of objects and events Treatment of spatial arrangement and time sequences for example closely parallel simultaneous narration in the visual arts

Bodies of Art Marie Lathers, 2001-01-01 To the time honored myth of the artist creating works of genius in isolation with nothing but inspiration to guide him art historians have added the mitigating influences of critics dealers and the public Bodies of Art completes the picture by adding the model This lively look at atelier politics through the lens of literature focuses in particular on the female model with special attention to her race ethnicity and class The result is a suggestive account of the rise and fall of the female model in nineteenth century realism with a final emphasis on the passage of the model into photography at the turn of the century This history of the model begins in nineteenth century Paris where the artist model dynamic was regularly debated by writers and where the most important categories of models appear to be Jewish Italian and Parisian women Bodies of Art traces an evolution in the representation of this model in realist and naturalist literary works from her birth in Balzac to her death in Maupassant in the process revealing how she played a key role in theories of representation advanced by writers Throughout the book Marie Lathers connects the artist's work to the social realities and actual bodies that surround and inhabit the atelier Her work shows how much the status of the model can tell us about artistic practices during the century of the birth of modernity

Realism after Modernism Devin Fore, 2015-01-30 The paradox at the heart of the return to realism in the interwar years as seen in work by Moholy Nagy Brecht and others The human figure made a spectacular return in visual art and literature in the 1920s Following modernism's withdrawal nonobjective painting gave way to realistic depictions of the body and experimental literary techniques were abandoned for novels with powerfully individuated characters But the celebrated return of the human in the interwar years was not as straightforward as it may seem In Realism after Modernism Devin Fore challenges the widely accepted view that this period represented a return to traditional realist representation and its humanist postulates Interwar realism he argues did not reinstate its nineteenth century predecessor but invoked realism as a strategy of mimicry that anticipates postmodernist pastiche Through close readings of a series of works by German artists and writers of the period Fore investigates five artistic devices that were central to interwar realism He analyzes Bauhaus polymath L szl Moholy Nagy's use of linear perspective three industrial novels riven by the conflict between the temporality of capital and that of labor Brecht's socialist realist plays which explore new dramaturgical principles for depicting a collective subject a memoir by Carl Einstein that oscillates between recollection and self erasure and the idiom of physiognomy in the photomontages of John Heartfield Fore's readings reveal that each of these rehumanized works in fact calls into question the very categories of the human upon which realist figuration is based Paradoxically even as the human seemed to make a triumphal return in the culture of the interwar period the definition of the human and the integrity of the body were becoming more tenuous than ever before Interwar realism did not hearken back to earlier artistic modes but posited new and unfamiliar syntaxes of aesthetic encounter revealing the emergence of a human subject quite unlike anything that had come before

Art in Literature, Literature in Art in 19th Century France Emilie Sitzia, 2011-12-08 The traditional relationship between painting and literature underwent a profound change in nineteenth century France Painting progressively asserted its independence from literature as it liberated itself from narrative obligations whilst interrogating the concept of subject matter itself Simultaneously the influence of art on the writing styles of authors increased and the character of the artist established itself as a recurring motif in French literature This book offers a panoramic review of the relationship between art and literature in nineteenth century France By means of a series of case studies chosen from key moments throughout the nineteenth century the aim of this study is to provide a focused analysis of specific examples of this relationship revealing both its multifaceted nature as well as offering a panorama of the development of this on going and increasingly complex cultural relationship From Jacques Louis David s irreverence for classical texts to Victor Hugo s graphic works from Edouard Manet s illustrations to Vincent Van Gogh s paintings of books from Honor de Balzac s Unknown Masterpiece to Joris Karl Huysmans s A Rebours this interdisciplinary investigation of the links between literature and art in France throws new light on both fields of creative endeavour during a critical phase of France s cultural history

Realism, Representation, and the Arts in Nineteenth-Century Literature Alison Byerly, 1997 This book confronts a significant paradox in the development of literary realism the very novels that present themselves as purveyors and celebrants of direct ordinary human experience also manifest an obsession with art that threatens to sabotage their Realist claims Unlike previous studies of the role of visual art or music or theatre in Victorian literature Realism Representation and the Arts in Nineteenth Century Literature examines the juxtaposition of all of these arts in the works of Charlotte Bront William Thackeray George Eliot Thomas Hardy and others Alison Byerly combines close textual analysis with discussion of relevant ancillary topics to illuminate the place of different arts within nineteenth century British culture Her book which also contains sixteen illustrations represents an effort to bridge the growing gap between aesthetics and cultural studies
