Novel Approaches to Lesbian History Linda Garber,2022-01-01 Novel Approaches to Lesbian History tells a tale about history and community in our allegedly post identity era examining contemporary novels that depict lesbian characters in recognizable historical situations These imaginative stories provide a politically vital speculative past in the face of a sketchy problematic archive Among the memorable characters in some 200 novels are pirates cowgirls and famous artists ghosts and time travellers immigrants and lovers The best lesbian historical novels are conscientious and buoyant as they engage critical historiographical questions but Novel Approaches also discusses the class and race biases that weigh on the genre Some lesbian historical novels are based on archival evidence others on conjecture or fantasy but all

Richardson,C. Willis,2019-06-12 A cultural icon of the fin de si cle the New Woman was not one figure but several In the guise of a bicycling cigarette smoking Amazon the New Woman romped through the pages of Punch and popular fiction as a neurasthenic victim of social oppression she suffered in the pages of New Woman novels such as Sarah Grand's hugely successful The Heavenly Twins. The New Woman in Fiction and Fact marks a radically new departure in nineteenth century scholarship to explore the polyvocal nature of the late Victorian debates around gender motherhood class race and imperialism which converged in the name of the New Woman. New Woman Strategies Ann

Heilman, 2004-09-04 Recent years have seen a renaissance of scholarly interest in the fin de siècle fiction of the New Woman. New Woman Strategies offers a new approach to the subject by focusing on the discursive strategies and revisionist aesthetics of the genre in the writings of three of its key exponents Sarah Grand 1854-1943 Olive Schreiner 1855-1920 and Mona Caird 1854-1932. The study explores how each writer drew on mimicked feminized and ultimately transformed traditional literary and cultural tropes and paradigms femininity allegory and mythology. The Genesis of Fiction Terry R.

Wright, 2016-03-09 This book considers a range of twentieth century novelists who practise a creative mode of reading the Bible exploring aspects of the Book of Genesis which more conventional biblical criticism sometimes ignores. Each chapter considers some of the interpretive challenges of the relevant story in Genesis especially those noted by rabbinic midrash which serves as a model for such creative rewriting of the biblical text. All the novelists considered from Mark Twain John Steinbeck and Thomas Mann to Jeanette Winterson Anita Diamant and Jenny Diski are shown to have been aware of the midrashic tradition and in some cases to have incorporated significant elements from it into their own writing. The questions these modern and postmodern writers ask of the Bible however go beyond those permitted by the rabbis and by other believing interpretive communities. Each chapter therefore attempts to chart intertextually where the writers are coming from what principles govern their mode of reading and rewriting Genesis and what conclusions can be drawn about the ways in which it remains possible to relate to the Bible. The Science of Character S. Pearl Brilmyer, 2022-01-11

The Science of Character makes a bold new claim for the power of the literary by showing how Victorian novelists used fiction to theorize how character forms. In 1843 the Victorian philosopher John Stuart Mill called for the establishment of a new science the science of the formation of character. Although Mill's proposal failed as scientific practice S. Pearl Brilmyer maintains that it found its true home in realist fiction of the period which employed the literary figure of character to investigate the nature of embodied experience. Bringing to life Mill's unrealized dream of a science of character novelists such as George Eliot Thomas Hardy and Olive Schreiner turned to narrative to explore how traits and behaviors in organisms emerge and develop and how aesthetic features shapes colors and gestures come to take on cultural meaning through certain categories such as race and sex. Engaged with materialist science and philosophy these authors transformed character from the liberal notion of the inner truth of an individual into a materially determined figuration produced through shifts in the boundaries between the body's inside and outside. In their hands Brilmyer argues literature became a science not in the sense that its claims were falsifiable or even systematically articulated but in its commitment to uncovering through a fictional staging of realistic events the laws governing physical and affective life The Science of Character redraws late Victorian literary history to show how women and feminist novelists pushed realism to its aesthetic and philosophical limits in the crucial span between 1870 and 1920 A
