Domesticating Empire Karen Stolley, 2021-04-30 Why has the work of writers in eighteenth century Latin America been forgotten During the eighteenth century enlightened thinkers in Spanish territories in the Americas engaged in lively exchanges with their counterparts in Europe and Anglo America about a wide range of topics of mutual interest responding in the context of increasing racial and economic diversification Yet despite recent efforts to broaden our understanding of the global Enlightenment the Ibero American eighteenth century has often been overlooked Through the work of five authors Jose de Oviedo y Banos Juan Ignacio Molina Felix de Azara Catalina de Jesus Herrera and Jose Martin Felix de Arrate Domesticating Empire explores the Ibero American Enlightenment as a project that reflects both key Enlightenment concerns and the particular preoccupations of Bourbon Spain and its territories in the Americas At a crucial moment in Spain s imperial trajectory these authors domesticate topics central to empire conquest Indians nature God and gold by making them familiar and utilitarian As a result their works later proved resistant to overarching schemes of Latin American literary history and have been largely forgotten Nevertheless eighteenth century Ibero American writing complicates narratives about both the Enlightenment and Latin American cultural identity

Brides of Christ Asunción Lavrin, 2008-05-13 Brides of Christ invites the modern reader to follow the histories of colonial Mexican nuns inside the cloisters where they pursued a religious vocation or sought shelter from the world. Lavrin provides a complete overview of conventual life including the early signs of vocation the decision to enter a convent profession spiritual guidelines and devotional practices governance ceremonials relations with male authorities and confessors living arrangements servants sickness and death rituals. Individual chapters deal with issues such as sexuality and the challenges to chastity in the cloisters and the little known subject of the nuns' own writings as expressions of their spirituality. To Sin No More David Rex Galindo, 2018-02-27 For 300 years Franciscans were at the forefront of the spread of Catholicism in the New World. In the late seventeenth century Franciscans developed a far reaching systematic missionary program in Spain and the Americas. After founding the first college of propaganda fide in the Mexican city of Querétaro the Franciscan Order established six additional colleges in New Spain ten in South America and twelve in Spain. From these colleges Franciscans proselytized Indians in frontier territories as well as Catholics in rural and urban areas in eighteenth century Spain and Spanish America. To Sin No More is the first book to study these colleges their missionaries and their multifaceted sweeping missionary programs. By focusing on the recruitment of non Catholics to Catholicism as well as the deepening of religious fervor among Catholics David Rex Galindo shows how the Franciscan colleges expanded and shaped popular Catholicism in the eighteenth century Spanish Atlantic world. This book explores the motivations driving Franciscan friars their lives inside the colleges their training and their ministry among Catholics an often overlooked duty that paralleled missionary deployments. Rex Galindo argues that Franciscan missionaries aimed to reform or reawaken Catholic parishioners just as much as they sought to convert non Christian Indians.

Indigenous Writings from the Convent Mónica Díaz, 2017-12-01 Sometime in the 1740s Sor Mar a Magdalena an indigenous noblewoman living in one of only three convents in New Spain that allowed Indians to profess as nuns sent a letter to Father Juan de Altamirano to ask for his help in getting church prelates to exclude Creole and

Spanish women from convents intended for indigenous nuns only Drawing on this and other such letters as well as biographies sermons and other texts Mónica D'Az argues that the survival of indigenous ethnic identity was effectively served by this class of noble indigenous nuns While colonial sources that refer to indigenous women are not scant documents in which women emerge as agents who actively participate in shaping their own identity are rare Looking at this minority agency or subaltern voice in various religious discourses exposes some central themes It shows that an indigenous identity recast in Catholic terms was able to be effectively recorded and that the religious participation of these women at a time when indigenous parishes were increasingly secularized lent cohesion to that identity Indigenous Writings from the Convent examines ways in which indigenous women participated in one of the most prominent institutions in colonial times the Catholic Church and what they made of their experience with convent life This book will appeal to scholars of literary criticism women's studies and colonial history and to anyone interested in the ways that class race and gender intersected in the colonial world

Women of the Iberian Atlantic Sarah E. Owens, Jane E. Mangan, 2012-12-07 The ten essays in this interdisciplinary collection explore the lives places and stories of women in the Iberian Atlantic between 1500 and 1800 Contributors utilize the complexities of gender to understand issues of race class family health and religious practices in the Atlantic basin Unlike previous scholarship which has focused primarily on upper class and noble women this book examines the lives of those on the periphery including free and enslaved Africans colonized indigenous mothers and poor Spanish women
