Haserah,2023-08-09 This book provides a scientific and academic contribution to the scholarly exploration of the complex relationship between the East and the West in American literature The study focuses on four novels Mornings in Jenin Falling Man The Reluctant Fundamentalist and Riyadh Al Janna The Wind of Paradise to discuss how the literature reflects on Middle Eastern themes in relation to the situations and conditions of the New East It treats the Orient as a moving body and takes Edward Said s Orientalism into account also showing Post Orientalism or the New East as a literary phenomenon in the 21st century specializing in politics militarism and post colonial ideology The book explains and divides the Middle East into two parts the Arab Islamic Middle East and the non Arab Islamic Middle East It highlights the similarities and differences between these two parts as depicted in various novels presenting the East as a land of desolation and destruction due to the political regional and religious changes that have shaken it The Cambridge Companion to American Novelists Timothy Parrish,2012-11-12 This Companion examines the full range and vigor of the American novel From the American exceptionalism of James Fenimore Cooper to the apocalyptic post Americanism of Cormac McCarthy these newly commissioned essays from leading scholars and critics chronicle the major aesthetic innovations that have shaped the American novel over the past two centuries The essays evaluate the work life and legacy of influential American novelists including Melville Twain James Wharton Cather Faulkner Ellison Pynchon and Morrison while situating them within the context of their literary predecessors and successors The volume also highlights less familiar though equally significant writers such as Theodore Dreiser and Djuna Barnes providing a balanced and wide ranging survey of use to students teachers and general readers of American literature Wisconsin Library Bulletin ,1927 The United States Catalog Mary Burnham,Carol Hurd,1928 New York State Library Bulletin New York State Library,1922 Encyclopedia of Modern Jewish Culture Glenda Abramson,2004-03 The Companion to Jewish Culture From the Eighteenth Century to the Present was first published in 1989 It is a single volume encyclopedia containing biographical and topic entries ranging from 200 to 1000 word each Contemporary Spanish American Novels by Women Susan Carvalho,2007 A reading of contemporary women s fiction in Spanish America in which space rather than time is seen as the driver of the narrative Space is critical to imaginative writing As English novelist Elizabeth Bowen has observed nothing can happen nowhere This book offers an interdisciplinary framework for reading novels and in particular women s fiction in Spanish America with a focus on geotopon space rather than time as the narrative engine Following the work of Lefebvre and Friedman the author examines recent works by Spanish America s most visible women novelists Angeles Mastretta Mexico Isabel Allende Chile Rosario Ferr Puerto Rico Sara Sefchovich Mexico and Laura Restrepo Colombia and the ways in which their female protagonists challenge the spatial barriers erected by capitalist hegemony Margins borders liminal spaces the chora space and the body are emphasized as potential sites of transgression The analysis identifies spatial negotiation as a mechanism both for cementing and for undermining authority thus exposing the strategies through which literature constructs and represents power SUSAN CARVALHO is Associate Professor of Hispanic Studies at the University of Kentucky and Director of the Middlebury College Spanish School Modern urology in original contributions by American authors. v. 1 Hugh Cabot,1918 James M. Cain and the American Authors' Authority Richard Fine,2014-01-30 The 1940s offered ever increasing outlets for writers in book publishing magazines radio film and the nascent television industry but the standard rights arrangements often prevented writers from collecting a fair share of the profits made from their work To remedy this situation novelist and screenwriter James M Cain The Postman Always Rings Twice Double Indemnity Mildred Pierce proposed that all professional writers including novelists playwrights poets and screenwriters should organize into a single cartel that would secure a fairer return on their work from publishers and producers This organization conceived and rejected within one turbulent year 1946 was the American Authors Authority AAA In this groundbreaking work Richard Fine traces the history of the AAA within the cultural context of the 1940s After discussing the profession of authorship as it had developed in England and the United States Fine describes how the AAA which was to be a central copyright repository was designed to improve the bargaining position of writers in the literary marketplace keep track of all rights and royalty arrangements protect writers interests in the courts and lobby for more favorable copyright and tax legislation Although simple enough in its design the AAA proposal ignited a firestorm of controversy and a major part of Fine s study explores its impact in literary and political circles Among writers the AAA exacerbated a split between East and West Coast writers who disagreed over whether writing should be treated as a money making business or as an artistic and poorly paid calling Among politicians a move to unite all writers into a single organization smacked of communism and sowed seeds of distrust that later flowered in the Hollywood blacklists of the McCarthy era Drawing insights from the fields of American studies literature and Cold War history Fine s book offers a comprehensive picture of the development of the modern American literary marketplace from the professional writer s perspective It uncovers the effect of national politics on the affairs of writers thus illuminating the cultural context in which literature is produced and the institutional forces that affect its production The Republic of Letters in America Thomas Daniel Young,John J. Hindle,2014-07-15 The correspondence of John Peale Bishop and Allen Tate extending from 1929 to the time of Bishop s death in 1944 embraces the period of the Great Depression and the coming of World War II In that richly eventful period in the development of American literature these two men of letters were continually exchanging news and comment about the activities opinions successes and misadventures of poets novelists critics publishers and editors about expatriate Americans in Europe and the quickening intellectual life of New York and about the Agrarian movement and what was later to be called the Southern Renaissance Archibald MacLeish Ernest Hemingway Robert Penn Warren John Crowe Ransom Katherine Anne Porter Maxwell Perkins Hart Crane Malcolm Cowley Scott Fitzgerald all are subjects of comment both personal and artistic The respect and affection of both writers for Edmund Wilson survived their vehement political differences with him and their exchange of literary criticism advice and encouragement with Wilson continued unabated The letters record a warm and steady friendship as well as a literary relationship in which Tate though the younger man is clearly the mentor The freedom with which Tate and Bishop discuss their work in progress and the care and candor with which they comment on one another s poems and stories offer the reader of this carefully edited correspondence revealing glimpses of the creative process and the reality of the American republic of letters in their time A.L.A. Catalog, 1926 Isabella Mitchell Cooper, Marion Horton, 1926 The Routledge Companion to American Literary Journalism William Dow, Roberta Maguire, 2019-11-13 Taking a thematic approach this new companion provides an interdisciplinary cross cultural and international study of American literary journalism From the work of Frederick Douglass and Walt Whitman to that of Joan Didion and Dorothy Parker literary journalism is a genre that both reveals and shapes American history and identity This volume not only calls attention to literary journalism as a distinctive genre but also provides a critical foundation for future scholarship It brings together cutting edge research from literary journalism scholars examining historical perspectives themes venues and genres across time theoretical approaches and disciplinary intersections and new directions for scholarly inquiry Provoking reconsideration and inquiry while providing new historical interpretations this companion recognizes interacts with and honors the tradition and legacies of American literary journalism scholarship Engaging the work of disciplines such as sociology anthropology African American studies gender studies visual studies media studies and American studies in addition to journalism and literary studies this book is perfect for students and scholars of those disciplines
