Macdonald, Anne McWhir, 2010-03-04 The selections from 132 authors in this anthology represent gender social class and racial and national origin as inclusively as possible providing both greater context for canonical works and a sense of the era's richness and diversity. In terms of genre poetry non fiction prose philosophy educational writing and prose fiction are included. Geographically America Canada Australia India and Africa are represented along with Britain emphasizing Romantic literature as a world literature. Biographical headnotes explanatory footnotes and an extensive bibliography clarify and illuminate the texts for readers. Handbook of British Romanticism Ralf Haekel, 2017-09-11 The Handbook of British Romanticism is a state of the art investigation of Romantic literature and theory a field that probably changed more quickly and more fundamentally than any other traditional era in literary studies. Since the early 1980s Romantic studies has widened its scope significantly. The canon has been expanded hitherto ignored genres have been investigated and new topics of research explored. After these profound changes intensified by the general crisis of literary theory since the turn of the millennium traditional concepts such as subjectivity imagination and the creative genius have lost their status as paradigms defining Romanticism. The handbook will feature discussions of key concepts such as history class gender science and the use of media as well as a thorough account of the most central literary genres around the turn of the 19th century. The focus of the book however will lie on a discussion of key literary texts in the light of the most recent theoretical developments. Thus the Handbook of British Romanticism will provide students with an introduction to

Romantic literature in general and literary scholars with a discussion of innovative and groundbreaking theoretical developments

Women against cruelty Diana Donald, 2021-06-01 Women against cruelty is the first book to explore women's leading role in animal protection in nineteenth century Britain drawing on rich archival sources Women founded bodies such as the Battersea Dogs Home the Royal Society for the Protection of Birds and various groups that opposed vivisection They energetically promoted better treatment of animals both through practical action and through their writings such as Anna Sewell's Black Beauty Yet their efforts were frequently belittled by opponents or decried as typifying female sentimentality and hysteria Only the development of feminism in the later Victorian period enabled women to show that spontaneous fellow feeling with animals was a civilising force Women's own experience of oppressive patriarchy bonded them with animals who equally suffered from the dominance of masculine values in society and from an assumption that all powerful humans were entitled to exploit animals at will

Women's Gothic E. J. Clery, 2004 Female writers of the Gothic were hell raisers in more than one sense not only did they specialize in evoking scenes of horror cruelty and supernaturalism but in doing so they exploded the literary conventions of the day and laid claim to realms of the imagination hitherto reserved for men They were rewarded with popular success large profits and even critical adulation E J Clery's acclaimed study tells the strange but true story of women's gothic She identifies contemporary fascination with the operation of the passions and the example of the great tragic actress Sarah Siddons as enabling factors and then examines in depth the careers of two pioneers of the genre Clara Reeve and Sophie Lee its reigning queen Ann Radcliffe and the daring experimentalists Joanna Baillie and Charlotte Dacre The account culminates with Mary Shelley whose Frankenstein 1818 has attained mythical status Students and scholars as well as general readers will find Women's Gothic a stimulating introduction
