Shot Countershot Film Tradition And Womens Cinema:

Shot/Countershot Lucy Fischer, Women's Cinema Alison Butler, 2019-07-25 Women's Cinema provides an introduction to critical debates around women's filmmaking and relates those debates to a variety of cinematic practices. Taking her cue from the groundbreaking theories of Claire Johnston, Alison Butler argues that women's cinema is a minor cinema that exists inside other cinemas, inflecting and contesting the codes and systems of the major cinematic traditions from within. Using canonical directors and less established names ranging from Chantal Akerman to Moufida Tlatli as examples, Butler argues that women's cinema is unified in spite of its diversity by the ways in which it reworks cinematic conventions. Women and Turkish Cinema Eylem Atakav, 2013 Since 2000 there has been a considerable effort in Turkish cinema to come to terms with the military's intervention in politics and subsequent national trauma. It has resulted in an outpouring of cinematic texts. This book focuses on women and Turkish cinema in the context of gender politics, cultural identity, and representation. The central proposition of this book is that enforced depoliticisation introduced after the coup is responsible for uniting feminism and film in 1980s Turkey. The feminist movement was able to flourish precisely because it was not perceived as political or politically significant. In a parallel move in the films of the 1980s there was an increased tendency to focus on the individual on women's issues and lives in order to avoid the overtly political. Women and Turkish Cinema provides a comprehensive view of cinema's approach to women in a country which straddles European and Middle Eastern cultural conceptions, identities, and religious values and will be an invaluable resource for students and scholars of Film Studies, Gender Studies, and Middle East Studies amongst others. Vision/re-vision Barbara Tupa Lupack, 1996 Essays analyze ten popular films adapted from contemporary American fiction by women, addressing the ways in which the writers' feminist messages are reinterpreted and examining the extent to which filmmakers adapt, retain, or erase the feminist content of the original fiction. Films examined include Ordinary People, The Women of Brewster Place, and Interview with the Vampire. Contains bandw photos. Paper edition, unseen. 24 95. No index. The Zero Hour Andrew Horton, Michael Brashinsky, 2021-03-09 Now faced with the zero hour created by a new freedom of expression and the dramatic breakup of the Soviet Union, Soviet cinema has recently become one of the most interesting in the world, aesthetically as well as politically. How have Soviet filmmakers responded to the challenges of glasnost? To answer this question, the American film scholar Andrew Horton and the Soviet critic Michael Brashinsky offer the first book-length study of the rapid changes in Soviet cinema that have been taking place since 1985. What emerges from their collaborative dialogue is not only a valuable work of film criticism but also a fascinating study of contemporary Soviet culture in general. Horton and Brashinsky examine a wide variety of films from BOMZH initials standing for homeless drifter through Taxi Blues and the glasnost blockbuster Little Vera to the Latvian documentary Is It Easy to Be Young and the new wave productions of the Wild Kazakh boys. The authors argue that the medium that once served the Party became a major catalyst for the deconstruction of socialism especially through documentary filmmaking Special attention is paid to how filmmakers from 1985 through 1990 represent the newly discovered past of the pre glasnost era and how they depict troubled youth and conflicts over the role of women in society The book also emphasizes the evolving uses of comedy and satire and the incorporation of genre film techniques into a new popular cinema An intriguing discussion of films of Georgia Estonia Latvia Lithuania and Kazakhstan ends the work Westerns Lee Clark Mitchell,1998-05-08 Ranging from the novels of James Fenimore Cooper to Louis L Amour and from classic films such as STAGECOACH to spaghetti Westerns like A FISTFUL OF DOLLARS culture scholar Lee Clark Mitchell shows how Westerns as a genre helped assuage a series of crises in American culture by responding to fears and obsessions of its audience particularly what it means to be a man 30 photos 5 line drawings The Women Who Knew Too Much Tania Modleski,2012-11-12 First published in 1988 The Women Who Knew Too Much remains a classic work in film theory and criticism The book consists of a theoretical introduction and analyses of seven important films by Alfred Hitchcock each of which provides a basis for an analysis of the female spectator as well as of the male spectator Modleski considers the emotional and psychic investments of men and women in female characters whose stories often undermine the mastery of the cinematic Master of Suspense This new edition features a new chapter which considers the last 15 years of Hitchcock criticism as it relates to the ideas in this landmark book Chick Flicks Suzanne Ferriss,Mallory Young,2008-03-03 With 11 original essays this edited volume examines chick flicks within the larger context of chick culture as well as women s cinema The essays consider chick flicks from a variety of angles touching on issues of film history female sexuality femininity age race ethnicity and consumerism The Palgrave Handbook of Image Studies Krešimir Purgar,2021-10-01 This handbook brings together the most current and hotly debated topics in studies about images today In the first part the book gives readers an historical overview and basic diachronical explanation of the term image including the ways it has been used in different periods throughout history In the second part the fundamental concepts that have to be mastered should one wish to enter into the emerging field of Image Studies are explained In the third part readers will find analysis of the most common subjects and topics pertaining to images In the fourth part the book explains how existing disciplines relate to Image Studies and how this new scholarly field may be constructed using both old and new approaches and insights The fifth chapter is dedicated to contemporary thinkers and is the first time that theses of the most prominent scholars of Image Studies are critically analyzed and presented in one place British Genres Marcia Landy,2014-07-14 In this unprecedented survey of British cinema from the 1930s to the New Wave of the 1960s Marcia Landy explores how cinematic representation and social history converge Landy focuses on the genre film a product of British mass culture often dismissed by critics as unrealistic showing that in England such cinema subtly dramatized unresolved cultural conflicts and was in fact more popular than critics have claimed Her discussion covers hundreds of works including historical films films of empire war films melodrama comedy science fiction horror and social problem films and reveals their relation to changing attitudes toward class race national identity sexuality and gender Landy begins by describing the status and value of genre theory then provides a history of British film production that illuminates the politics and personalities connected with the major studios In vivid accounts of the films within each genre she analyzes styles codes and conventions to show how the films negotiate history fantasy and lived experience Throughout Landy creates a dynamic sense of genre and of how the genres shape not merely reflect cultural conflicts Originally published in 1991 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

A Lure of Knowledge Judith Roof, 1991 Lesbianism in literature has been dealt with rather indirectly in the past Editors have led readers to the artistry of a work containing lesbianism emphasizing instead the literary history and historical context of the work rather than the representations of lesbianism The editor for Colette's The Pure and the Impure for instance affirms that Colette has a knowledge of a strange sisterhood but assures readers she has never strayed from the normal In the groundbreaking A Lure of Knowledge Judith Roof demonstrates that representations of lesbian sexuality occupy specific locations or positions in the arguments subject matter and rhetoric of Western European and American literary criticism She examines the political context of representations how lesbian sexuality is used as a signifier and why it appears when and where it does Roof argues that attempts to depict or explain lesbian sexuality spur anxieties about knowledge and identity In reaction to and denial of these anxieties lesbian sexuality is represented in film literature theory and criticism as foreplay as simulated heterosexuality as erotic excess as joking inauthenticity as artful compromise or as masculine mask in a specific repertoire of neutralization and evasion Challenging the heterosexism of film theory and feminist theory this book analyzes the rhetorical use of lesbian sexuality Roof explores a range of discourses from the works of such authors as Anaïs Nin Olga Broumas Julia Kristeva Jane Rule Luce Irigaray and Sigmund Freud to films such as Emmanuelle Desert Hearts Entre Nous and I've Heard the Mermaids Singing to professional tennis
