G. Richard Scott,Joel D. Irish,2013-02-21 Researchers have long had an interest in dental morphology as a genetic proxy to reconstruct population history Much interest was fostered by the use of standard plaques and associated descriptions that comprise the Arizona State University Dental Anthropology System developed by Christy G Turner II and students This system has served as the foundation for hundreds of anthropological studies for over 30 years In recognition of that success this volume brings together some of the world s leading dental morphologists to expand upon the concepts and methods presented in the popular The Anthropology of Modern Human Teeth Cambridge 1997 leading the reader from method to applied research After a preparatory section on the current knowledge of heritability and gene expression a series of case studies demonstrate the utility of dental morphological study in both fossil and more recent populations and individuals from local to global scales Human Tooth Crown and Root Morphology G. Richard Scott,Joel D. Irish,2017-03-16 This guide to scoring crown and root traits in human dentitions substantially builds on a seminal 1991 work by Turner Nichol and Scott It provides detailed descriptions and multiple illustrations of each crown and root trait to help guide researchers to make consistent observations on trait expression greatly reducing observer error The book also reflects exciting new developments driven by technology that have significant ramifications for dental anthropology particularly the recent development of a web based application that computes the probability that an individual belongs to a particular genogeographic grouping based on combinations of crown and root traits as such the utility of these variables is expanded to forensic anthropology This book is ideal for researchers and graduate students in the fields of dental physical and forensic anthropology and will serve as a methodological guide for many years to come Atlas of Human Cranial Macromorphoscopic Traits Joseph T.
