Engineering Ceramics '96: Higher Reliability through Processing G.N. Babini, Miroslav Haviar, Pavol Sajgalík, 2012-12-06 Despite the significant progress which has been made in developing of ceramic materials desired for engineering applications their mass production is still not on expected level Among the key factors hindering higher exploitation of these materials the problems in processing were identified The processing comprises powder production mixing techniques forming and sintering All of them are equally important and all of them can introduce defects into the material Besides improvement in processing the properties of ceramic materials can be considerably improved by the creation of composites Composites formed at micro or macro level are able to form more flaw tolerant material Considerable research activities working on above mentioned phenomena are in progress at industrial laboratories as well as other research centres This volume presents the contributions to the Advanced Research Workshop Engineering Ceramics 96 with 65 participants from 21 countries held on 12th 15th May 1996 at Smolenice Castle Slovakia the conference site of Slovak Academy of Sciences The book covers research activities on engineering ceramic materials and gives an overview with respect to recent developments Hot Isostatic Pressing— Theory and Applications M. Koizumi, 2012-12-06 The HIP process was originally devised for diffusion bonding of nuclear fuel elements at Battelle Memorial Institute in the United States in the mid 1950s This innovative technique has been a subject of global research and development and was applied to the cemented carbide industry at the end of the 1960s by ASEA Sandvik Since then this process has been applied to many kinds of industrial materials including tool steel superalloys and electronic and ceramic materials In very recent years HIPing technology has been applied even to R D of high temperature superconducting materials and of a composite process with self combustion reaction On this occasion we should recognize that the 3rd HIP Conference was held in the midst of such progress of HIP technology and that it was the first international conference which was held in Asia in the field of HIP and CIP technologies The conference was very successful with about 250 participants from 13 countries including Japan About 90 presentations including nine invited lecturers 44 oral and 35 poster presentations were offered and all contributions were at a high level and contained valuable results which had been attained in recent years Proceedings of the XII All Russian Scientific Conference on Current Issues of Continuum Mechanics and Celestial Mechanics Maxim Yu. Orlov, P. M.
Visakh, 2024-03-31 This book presents peer reviewed articles from The XII All Russian Scientific Conference on Current issues of Continuum Mechanics and Celestial Mechanics XII CICMCM held on 15 17 November 2023 at Toms in Russia It summarizes the latest studies on shock and explosive loading of promising materials including functionally graded materials porous materials multilayer ceramic structures advanced materials and etc It provides a platform for researchers and professionals to exchange ideas and present the latest findings in these important and growing areas of applied physics and engineering
