Sierra Leones Settler Women Traders:

Sierra Leone's Settler Women Traders E. Frances White, 2025-10-01 The early part of the nineteenth century saw the establishment of West Africa's Sierra Leone settlement as an important center for the expanding trade economy. A surprising number of Sierra Leonean traders were Krio women whose crosscultural background helped them to mediate the contact between European and African markets. In Sierra Leone's Settler Women Traders E. Frances White has unearthed the fascinating social and economic history of these women traders from the late eighteenth to the mid twentieth century. Using a lively mixture of newspaper accounts, contemporary observations, colonial documents and oral histories, this book tells the story of former slaves and captives from Jamaica, North America and other areas of West Africa who became successful traders linking their regional trade networks with the international economy. The study traces the eventual decline of the Sierra Leone traders' influence under the extension of colonial rule and documents the gradual shift of Krio women into professional and semiprofessional occupations. Sierra Leone's Settler Women Traders rescues these women from the invisibility that often befalls colonial subcultures and sheds new light on the role of women as cultural brokers across ethnic boundaries, resulting in a study that makes a significant contribution to the ongoing debate over the impact of colonial rule on women in Africa.

A Companion to Gender History Teresa A. Meade, Merry E. Wiesner-Hanks, 2008-04-15 A Companion to Gender History surveys the history of women around the world, studies their interaction with men in gendered societies, and looks at the role of gender in shaping human behavior over thousands of years. An extensive survey of the history of women around the world, their interaction with men, and the role of gender in shaping human behavior over thousands of years. Discusses family history, the history of the body and sexuality, and cultural history alongside women's history and gender history. Considers the importance of class, region, ethnicity, race, and religion to the formation of gendered societies. Contains both thematic essays and chronological geographic essays. Gives due weight to pre history and the pre modern era as well as to the modern era. Written by scholars from across the English speaking world and scholars for whom English is not their first language.

Ethnographic Collecting and African Agency in Early Colonial West Africa Zachary Kingdon, 2019-02-21 The early collections from Africa in Liverpool's World Museum reflect the city's longstanding shipping and commercial links with Africa's Atlantic coast. A principal component of these collections is an assemblage of several thousand artefacts from western Africa that were transported to institutions in northwest England between 1894 and 1916 by the Liverpool steam ship engineer Arnold Ridyard. While Ridyard's collecting efforts can be seen to have been shaped by the steamers' dynamic capacity to connect widely separated people and places, his Methodist credentials were fundamental in determining the profile of his African networks because they meant that he was not part of official colonial authority in West Africa. Kingdon's study uncovers the identities of many of Ridyard's numerous West African collaborators and discusses their interests and predicaments under the colonial dispensation Against this background account their agendas are examined with reference to surviving narratives that accompanied their donations and within the context of broader processes of trans imperial exchange through which they forged new identities and statuses for themselves and attempted to counter expressions of British cultural imperialism in the region The study concludes with a discussion of the competing meanings assigned to the Ridyard assemblage by the Liverpool Museum and examines the ways in which its re contextualization in museum contexts helped to efface signs of the energies and narratives behind its creation Integrating Strangers Anaïs Ménard,2023-04-14 Drawing on an ethnography of Sherbro coastal communities in Sierra Leone this book analyses the politics and practice of identity through the lens of the reciprocal relations that exist between socio ethnic groups Anaïs Ménard examines the implications of the social arrangement that binds landlords and strangers in a frontier region the Freetown Peninsula characterized by high degrees of individual mobility and social interactions She showcases the processes by which Sherbro identity emerged as a flexible category of practice allowing individuals the possibility to claim multiple origins and perform ethnic crossovers while remaining Sherbro

Africa held on the Urbana Champaign campus of the University of Illinois in the spring of 1979 The organizing committee for that program sought first to update the field of economic studies of women in Africa and second to provide a forum for the exchange and stimulation of ideas among scholars and professionals concerned for women in Africa The publication here of the majority of the symposium papers represents a logical final step in the fulfillment of the objectives of the symposium program committee A Transformed Colony, Sierra Leone, as it Was, and as it is Thomas Joshua Alldridge,1910

Abolition and Empire in Sierra Leone and Liberia B. Everill,2012-12-15 Bronwen Everill offers a new perspective on African global history applying a comparative approach to freed slave settlers in Sierra Leone and Liberia to understand their role in the anti slavery colonization movements of Britain and America Crime, Law and Society in Nigeria Rufus Akinyele,Ton Dietz,2019-05-15 This volume in honour of Stephen Ellis is a follow up to the public presentation of his book on the history of organised crime in Nigeria This Present Darkness Hurst 2016 at the University of Lagos Nigeria on 28 October 2016 In addition to four papers and a book review presented at this colloquium other contributions about crime in Nigeria have been added written by Nigerian authors In July 2015 Stephen died and he has worked on This Present Darkness almost to his last moments as a senior researcher of the African Studies Centre in Leiden This book also contains a tribute to his life and work written by his wife and scholar Gerrie ter Haar Contributors include A E Akintayo Jackson Aluede Franca Attoh Ayodele Atsenuwa Edmund Chilaka Samson Folarin Gerrie ter Haar Ayodeji Olukoju Abiodun Oluwadare Paul Osifodunrin and Leo Enahoro Otoide Human Security Mary Kaldor,2007-10-22 There is a real security gap in the world today Millions of people in regions like the Middle East or East and Central Africa or Central Asia where new wars are taking place live in daily fear of violence Moreover new wars are increasingly intertwined with other global risks the spread of disease vulnerability to natural disasters poverty and homelessness Yet our security conceptions drawn from the dominant experience of World War II and based on the use of conventional military force do not reduce that insecurity rather they make it worse This book is an exploration of this security gap It makes the case for a new approach to security based on a global conversation a public debate among civil society groups and individuals as well as states and international institutions The chapters follow on from Kaldors path breaking analysis of the character of new wars in places like the Balkans or Africa during the 1990s The first four chapters provide a context they cover the experience of humanitarian intervention the nature of American power the new nationalist and religious movements that are associated with globalization and how these various aspects of current security dilemmas have played out in the Balkans The last three chapters are more normative dealing with the evolution of the idea of global civil society the relevance of just war theory in a global era and the concept of human security and what it might mean to implement such a concept This book will appeal to all those interested in issues of peace and conflict in particular to students of politics and international relations The Paradox of Protection Trina Leah Hogg,2025-11-01 The Paradox of Protection The Making of Indirect Rule in Southern Sierra Leone 1850 1915 charts the history of protection to tell a new story about indirect rule in West Africa Protection emerged as one of the central concepts through which Africans and Britons negotiated over law and economy in decades spanning informal and formal rule Hogg shows how British protection schemes an assemblage of written and unwritten legal strategies to safeguard British subjects and trade routes created an unexpected legacy of insecurity by limiting and criminalizing traditional security measures Tracing the history of the politics of protection reveals how African leaders who sought British alliances in their own long standing disputes became increasingly vulnerable to physical and juridical violence In the Protectorate new forums like chieftaincy elections and criminal courts common features of indirect rule became spaces for Africans to assert claims to land and construct legitimacy This book reveals how long standing negotiations over protection shaped an unstable framework of colonial law and rule well into the twentieth century

The Oxford Encyclopedia of Women in World History Bonnie G. Smith, 2008 The Encyclopedia of Women in World History captures the experiences of women throughout world history in a comprehensive 4 volume work Although there has been extensive research on women in history by region no text or reference work has comprehensively covered the role women have played throughout world history The past thirty years have seen an explosion of research and effort to present the experiences and contributions of women not only in the Western world but across the globe Historians have investigated womens daily lives in virtually every region and have researched the leadership roles women have filled across time and region They have found and demonstrated that there is virtually no historical social or demographic change in which women have not been involved and by which their lives have not been affected The Oxford Encyclopedia of Women in World History benefits greatly from these efforts and experiences and illuminates how women worldwide have influenced and been influenced by these historical social and demographic changes The Encyclopedia contains over 1 250 signed articles arranged in an A Z format for ease of use The entries cover six main areas biographies geography and history comparative culture and society including adoption abortion performing arts organizations and movements such as the Egyptian Uprising and the Paris Commune womens and gender studies and topics in world history that include slave trade globalization and disease With its rich and insightful entries by leading scholars and experts this reference work is sure to be a valued go to resource for scholars college and high school students and general readers alike
