The Paradigmatic Structure of Person Marking Michael Cysouw, 2009-01-29 This book explores person markers the linguistic elements that provide points of reference to speech act participants Michael Cysouw develops a new framework for the typology of person marking based on the rejection of the notion of plurality for its analysis When a mother says Mummy is going to say goodnight now Mummy is the person marker in a way that in English is confined to motherese but which is used more commonly in some other languages and may also be characteristic of much earlier forms Dr Cysouw divides the person markers of 400 languages into paradigms He considers how the structure of these person paradigms relates to their function His investigation provides a clear account of how person markers work syntactically pragmatically and semantically as well as giving fresh insights into aspects of linguistic change language

relatedness and the interfaces between discourse syntax and semantics The combination of a typological and a comparative approach results in the first outline of a cognitive map of the paradigmatic structure of person marking The

Transformational-Generative Paradigm and Modern Linguistic Theory E.F.K. Koerner,1975-01-01 This volume reflects the fact that the possibilities in theory construction allow for a much wider spectrum than students of linguistics have perhaps been led to believe It consists of articles by scholars of differing generations and widely varying academic persuasions some have received their initiation to the trade within the framework of transformational generative grammar some in one or the other structuralist mould yet others in the philology and linguistics of particular languages and language families They all share however some doubts concerning characteristic attitudes and procedures of present day mainstream linguistics All want not a uniformity of ideological stance but a union of individualists working towards the advancement of theory and empirical accountability Pronouns □ Grammar and Representation Horst J. Simon,Heike Wiese,2002-09-27

The contributions of this thematic collection center around the typology of pronominal paradigms the generation of syntactic and semantic representations for constructions containing pronouns and the neurological underpinnings for linguistic distinctions that are relevant for the production and interpretation of these constructions They come from different theoretical approaches and methodological backgrounds and take into account data from a wide range of Indo-European and non Indo-European languages Bringing together a cross section of recent research on the grammar and representation of pronouns the volume offers a kaleidoscope of studies united by the common topic of pronouns as a domain of language that exemplarily shows the interaction of different components responsible for computational syntactic and semantic lexical and discourse pragmatic processes A Survey of Word Accentual Patterns in the Languages of the World Harry van der

Hulst,Rob Goedemans,Ellen van Zanten,2010 This volume contains a wealth of information on the word accentual metrical stress phenomena that we encounter in natural languages Two types of information will be supplied language profiles in tabular form and survey articles Of the total of 10 chapters in Part I 3 are general in nature while the other 7 describe and analyze word accentual systems in all continents The volume's point of departure is a database called StressTyp StressTyp developed into a database on word prosodic systems of the languages of the world The over 500 languages representing a wide geographical distribution taken from the StressTyp database will be represented in this volume For all these languages information regarding identity sources and stress location s will be included accompanied by some examples in nearly all cases These language data packages will be organized by language family This information constitutes Part II of the volume
