

Speeding time to insight: The Dell PowerEdge C6620 with Dell PERC 12 RAID controller for Apache Cassandra big data workloads

The new PowerEdge C6620 delivered better performance—both higher throughput and lower latency—than a previous-generation PowerEdge C6520 with PERC 11

Overview

Every day, individuals and organizations generate massive quantities of data, from text messages to location data to information from sensors on factory floors and beyond. This rapid proliferation of data offers enormous opportunities: If businesses can extract insights from that data, they can use it to improve their operations, grow their customer base, and provide a better experience to those customers.

That task is not simple, however. Much of this data is unstructured, meaning that it comes in many formats that traditional data models, such as SQL databases, cannot process. Processing and analyzing unstructured data may require different methods, such as utilizing a NoSQL database like Apache® Cassandra®. Organizations can use NoSQL databases to store, mine, and analyze unstructured data in its many forms and gain actionable information.

To efficiently analyze such large quantities of data, however, they need a powerful computing solution running the database system. Investing in newer server solutions with updated processing, storage, and networking components can offer greater performance and enable companies to get to those vital insights faster. To highlight the advantages of moving from an older server solution to a new one for big data workloads, we tested Apache Cassandra performance on a new Dell™ PowerEdge™ C6620 with a Broadcom®-based Dell PowerEdge RAID Controller (PERC) 12 and an older Dell PowerEdge C6520 with Dell PERC 11. On multiple performance metrics, the newer Dell PowerEdge C6620 with PERC 12 delivered stronger performance than its predecessor, offering businesses the chance to increase the value of their data and realize its benefits more quickly.
